Cruiser Burns Off Nanaimo

Quartet Cheats Death

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Four persons leaped into Georgia Strait when a 32-foot cabin cruiser exploded on a trip between here and Vancouver, Monday.

They were brought to Nanaimo by a CPR ferry.

* * *

Marie Turgeon, 201 Laval Street, New Westminster, said "We worked on the Blue Reef all summer. We just got it finished. There was no insurance."

Al Obrecht, 42, from New Westminster, the boat owner, suffered burns.

Rolph Steenbergen, 22, 11830 93rd Street, Edmonton, suffered burns and a cut artery.

His young wife Florence suffered cuts and shock.

* * *

The boat burst into flames when Mr. Steenbergen and Mr. Obrecht tried to repair a faulty carburetor.

Mr. Steenbergen, who was close to the engine, ran forward into the cabin with his shirt aflame.

Mr. Obrecht followed, trying to rip the shirt off.

Mr. Obrecht's clothing caught fire and he jumped from the Blue Reef to douse himself, but could not get back aboard.

Out off now by the flames, the two Steenbergens broke windows to escape, while Miss Turgeon climbed a ladder on the wheelhouse to throw a life ring to Mr. Obrecht, and burned her hand on a hot rung.

* * *

Mrs. Steenbergen threw a coffee mug through the glass of one of the small cabin windows and crawled through, cutting her hand, grabbed the life ring, threw it and jumped.

Mr. Steenbergen put his first

Loggers Protest Conditions

FIRE PAY BURNS IWA

The Sproat Lake fire is hot, but the men fighting it are hotter.

International Woodworkers of America has demanded a meeting with MacMillan Bloedel lumber officials to protest long shifts, poor feeding arrangements, and poor pay.

The IWA said it will battle a company suggestion that loggers called out to fight the 6,000-acre blaze will be paid only forestry firefighter rates.

Sunday night the Alberni-Tofino highway was opened from the Port Alberni end between midnight and 4 a.m., and from the Tofino end between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The same opening hours prevailed Monday night, but only those with essential business were encouraged to make the trip.

Welcome Roar

Both Martin Mars bombers were on the job throughout the day Sunday.

Residents found their throaty roar a welcome sound as the huge waterbirds plodded back and forth with their loads, completing 46 drops before calling it a day.

The bombers were not in operation Monday, and forestry officials said the fire around Taylor Arm, which at one time was in danger of spreading to the well-populated areas of Sproat Lake, was now "pretty well tied up."

Crews had also managed to keep the blaze from spreading down over the ridge of the Taylor River valley in to Great Central Valley.

This ridge, on the northeast side of the fire is the greatest

U.S. Loses Four

Two Planes Go Down In China

SAIGON (UPI) — Four American jets were shot down on raids against North Vietnam Monday, two of them when they strayed over nearby China.

(See also Page 6.)

The Peking People's Daily, quoted by Radio Peking and monitored in Hong Kong, called Monday's violation of its air space "open war" on the Chinese people. It said the Chinese people are ready for combat.

* * *

An American military spokesman said two A-6 Intruders were downed when they accidentally entered Chinese air space. He listed all four crewmen as missing, but Chinese radio broadcast said one of them had been captured.

The spokesman said two F-105 Thunderchiefs were downed over North Vietnam. He said both pilots were missing from these planes.

The planes were shot down as American jets raided three railroad yards around Hanoi.

* * *

The defence department said the two planes from the aircraft carrier Constellation accidentally strayed into Chinese air space to avoid anti-aircraft missiles and MiG jets over North Vietnam. The New China News Agency said the Chinese air force shot them down, but did not make it clear whether they did so with planes, guns or missiles. The Pentagon said it was probably MiGs.

Victoria, Mainland

Mail Will Move Despite Strike

The mail will go through in Victoria despite a one-day strike by eastern Canadian postal clerks starting Friday at midnight. However, Port Alberni letter carriers said they would honor picket lines if set up.

Gerald Kenny, president of the Victoria local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, said Victoria postal clerks, in common with most western locals, had voted against the strike and would not participate.

SENIOR OFFICIAL

A senior official of the CUPW in Vancouver said there were indications many other western locals—including the big ones in Vancouver and New Westminster—would not join the strike.

(See also Page 28.)

The CUPW field officer for B.C. and the Yukon, Al McLay, said there are indications the other 38 locals in B.C., and the locals in Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary may stay on the pob.

DOMINION DAY

The strike was proposed following the recent Dominion Day holiday which fell on Monday and caused about 2,500 workers (whose day off was Monday) to lose the benefit of an extra day off.

The CUPW covers postal clerks and other inside workers, not the letter carriers.

LBJ Slipping Say Pollsters

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson is pictured in two U.S. public opinion polls as being at a substantially low level of national popularity and running behind or, at best, just holding his own in two mythical presidential races.

In the first Gallup Poll taken since the recent outbreak of riots in urban centres, the president ran behind Michigan Governor George Romney by eight percentage points. It was Romney 49, Johnson 41 and the remaining 10 per cent undecided. In a mid-June survey Romney trailed the president by five points.

In the current issue of Newsweek, pollster Louis Harris reported that his latest survey shows a Democratic ticket headed by the president running even with a Republican ticket of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Governor Ronald Reagan of California.

The American Institute of Public Opinion in Princeton, N.J., which conducts the Gallup Poll, said Monday the proportion of the public that now approves of the way the president is conducting his office has dropped to 39 per cent, the lowest level for Johnson to date and the lowest for a president since 1952. A mid-June Gallup survey indicated 52 per cent approval for Johnson.

Fire Crew Escapes

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Four men were trapped Monday in the path of a fire near Peck, Idaho, but escaped from the inferno aboard a bulldozer. The four were among thousands of firefighters battling forest blazes.

As the forest war continued around hundreds of small fires in Idaho and Montana, officials in Oregon predicted closure of all national forests in the state.

Mental Tests First For Killing Suspect

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—Victor Ernest Hoffman, 21, was remanded for mental examination Monday when he appeared before Magistrate J. M. Policha on a charge of capital murder in the Aug. 15 shooting death of James Peterson, 47, a Shell Lake district farmer.

Eight other members of the Peterson family also were slain.

Hoffman, employed on his father's farm near Leask, Sask., where he was arrested Saturday, showed little emotion during the 10-minute court appearance. He was remanded for 30 days to the mental hospi-

Father Faces Charge

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—A rural St. Cloud man, who police said has admitted responsibility in the death of his wife and four small children, was arraigned Monday on a charge of aggravated arson.

David Hoskins, 30, demanded preliminary hearing and Judge Wendall Y. Henning set it for Sept. 7. Henning also set bail at $50,000. Hoskins was remanded to jail in lieu of bail.

Sherriff Peter Lahr told reporters Saturday that Hoskins had admitted shooting Mrs. Hoskins, 29, then shooting himself with a .22-calibre rifle, setting fire to the farmhouse and a barn, and tying himself to the clothesline pipe.

HONG KONG (UPI) — A bomb exploded this morning in an elevator of the 25-storey Hong Kong Hilton hotel, which is usually heavily booked with tourists. No injuries were reported. (See also Page 3.)

Fairbanks' 'Underground Hurricane'

Spring Sunshine May Bring Disaster

FAIRBANKS (UPI) — Engineers warned Monday Fairbanks' record flood could trigger an "underground hurricane" buckling streets and building foundations during Alaska's next spring thaw.

* * *

The engineers told state officials there was virtually no chance that ground saturated by flood waters could drain enough to avoid some damage from freeze-up and the thaw. Interior Alaska's deepfreeze winter begins in about six weeks.

"It will be like an underground hurricane," said Larry Montgomery, an aide to Gov. Walter J. Hickel.

* * *

"We know by next summer the foundations in many houses and buildings simply are going to be crushed. Streets and foundations will be buckling."

The warning came as several homes were inspected by Montgomery. He said they were "a sickening sight."

Meantime, the known death toll was set at five with the discovery of two more bodies. Damage for the Fairbanks area was estimated at $300,000,000.

The body of a man was found in a Fairbanks building inundated by the Chena River, while a woman was found in the Tanana River at Nenana, a village 50 miles southwest of the city. Neither was immediately identified.

* * *

Three other deaths were counted previously in Fairbanks, but state police said two men who drowned when their swamp buggy overturned at Tok Junction, 200 miles southeast of the city, were not classified as flood fatalities.

"There's hardly a furnace in town that won't need a thorough overhaul. No doubt many will have to be replaced. And there's no place in the world that needs good furnaces more than Fairbanks," Montgomery said.

Although the Chena was virtually back in its banks early Monday, the flood left many pools large and small around the city.

* * *

Only automobiles that had been left with their engines and gas tanks above the flood level were able to operate. A tour of the city showed hundreds of cars with their hoods up and men peering in hoping to find a way to get their engines running.

The city's bankers had not yet had a chance to inspect their vaults. Many depositors were beginning to worry about how they fared through the flood.

* * *

The city's daily newspaper, the Fairbanks News-Miner, hoped finally to be able to report Fairbanks' story of the century by today. The flood knocked out the paper's electrical system but reporters and photographers continued to roam the city, compiling copy and pictures.

'Pirate' Tower Gone in Puff

FELIXSTOWE, England (UPI)—A wartime anti-aircraft tower reincarnated recently as a "pirate" radio station supply base was blown up Monday so it could never again be used by anyone but the British defence ministry.

The tower, in the North Sea 11 miles off Felixstowe, disappeared in a flash of orange flame and grey smoke as armed forces demolition experts set off explosives attached to the superstructure.

The demolition was ordered to make the tower unusable "to interests other than the ministry." The gun platforms could be rebuilt in an emergency.

tal in this city 125 miles northwest of Saskatoon.

When told he had been committed for psychiatric examination, he asked the magistrate:

"Does this mean I will get shock treatment?"

The magistrate replied: "I do not really know, but I believe there will be a preliminary examination by doctors."

Hoffman was under heavy RCMP escort during the one-mile drive to the courtroom from his cell. Two RCMP officers took him to the prisoner's box where he sat staring at the floor and stroking a bandage on his right thumb.

DAUGHTER THERE

He arose immediately when his name was called by the magistrate and walked to stand directly in front of him. The charge was read and the magistrate did not ask for a plea.

Among 50 spectators who crowded the second-floor courtroom in the city police station were Mrs. Lee (Kathy) Hill, 19, of Chetwynd, B.C., oldest surviving Peterson. With her were her husband, brother-in-law and father-in-law.

Hoffman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman, were not in court.

NO INCIDENTS

There were no incidents in the courtroom or among a crowd of about 200 outside.

Hoffman was handcuffed to one constable when he was brought into court and again when he was returned to the RCMP cruiser for his return to RCMP cells to await transportation to the mental hospital. He was not handcuffed in court.

He wore a soiled white and blue striped shirt open at the neck, grey work trousers without a belt and work boots. Of slight build, he wore his hair in a crew-cut.

An intensive police investigation involving up to 75 RCMP members culminated in the peaceable arrest of Hoffman, described by Leask district residents as a loner, on his father's farm.

The slain were Mr. Peterson, his wife Evelyn, 42; and their children, Jean, 17; Mary, 13; Dorothy, 11; Pearl, 9; William, 5; Colin, 2, and Larry, 1.

Another daughter at home, four-year-old Phyllis was unharmed as she slept under the bedclothes between two of her sisters Mrs. Hill was at her home in Chetwynd at the time of the shooting.

Each of the victims had been shot at least twice with a .22-calibre weapon, often at close range. Six of the children's bodies were in bed. The body of the youngest, Larry, was found with his mother's body in the yard. Mr. Peterson's body, clad only in undershorts, lay facing the kitchen door.

POLICE PRAISED

Police said 28 shots were fired and one missed. They have recovered a rifle and performed tests at the RCMP ballistics laboratory in Regina.

RCMP Inspector Brian Sawyer, in charge of the investigation, paid tribute to RCMP men who had worked on the case:

"This investigation was a first-rate example of steady, persistent police work. The young constables especially could get no better lesson on what can happen with long, hard, plodding investigative work."

About 1,500 persons attended Saturday's 17-minute Anglican burial service at Shell Lake, a small farming community 65 miles northeast of North Battleford.

Try Canada Arabs Urged

CAIRO (UPI) — Israel is pressuring 285,000 arabs in occupied territories to emigrate to Canada, the semi-official Middle East News Agency reported from Amman Monday night.

Mena said Israel has started to enforce the plan to send the Arabs to Canada "with the objective of getting rid of them." It said the plan was "exposed" by the Arab League in a note to the Jordanian foreign ministry.

source of worry at the present time, and great effort is being made to retain control in that area.

Despite winds Sunday that promised rain but only fanned the flames, power lines to the west side of the Island remained intact over the weekend.

Meanwhile, heavy rainfall on the west coast of the Island the last few days has prompted the B.C. Forest Service to lift the forest closure there and also on the mainland as far south as Bute Inlet.

Other regions on Vancouver Island still are under the closure laws.

Walter Allen, president of Local 1-85, says the meeting will be held as soon as top personnel of the firm can be released from fire chores.

Complaints include shifts of 16 hours at a stretch.

Others are complaining that their efforts to volunteer have been refused, while those who have been phoned to report for fire duty say they are not allowed to refuse.

★ ★ ★

Company employees, called by the company to fight the fire on company property, were told they will be paid at the regular forestry department rate of $1.25 an hour.

"The union realizes the seriousness of the fire situation, and knows that the fire must be contained," Mr. Allen said.

"There appears to be no reason in the method of call-out, however. There are certainly enough here who could have been called that there was no need for the company to bring in people from outside the valley.

"We also intend to dispute the inference that the men called up for fire-fighting are to be paid only $1.25 an hour."

As soon as the glass shattered, the flames from the engine room amidships, flowed forward into the cabin.

Miss Turgeon said "The kids (the Steenbergers) were still in there when the windows were cracking."

Mr. Obrecht said "When we were all in the water, the whole boat was a mass of smoke and flame.

"I don't think it could have been saved."

The four clung to the life ring for 15 minutes, when a tug from Point Grey Towing sped to the scene and drew them out to safety.

Mr. Obrecht said "A sailor got excited too, but we were sure glad to see them."

Miss Turgeon said "Both the fellows on the tug and the people aboard the Princess of Vancouver did all they could."

"Princess of Vancouver saw the whole thing, and turned around to get us."

The ship radioed ahead to Nanaimo, asking for an ambulance to stand by.

Two doctors who were passengers gave immediate treatment to the four.

The shock of the accident hit Mr. Steenbergen aboard the ferry, and he fainted.

Dr. John Routley, Nanaimo, worked on the four for three hours.

He said Mr. Steenbergen, who suffered the worst burns, would be able to leave hospital by Wednesday.

The New Westminster couple had taken the boat out fishing only an hour before to show the Steenbergens a good time on their holiday, which started last Friday.

British Receive Visas For Suez Substitutes

LONDON (UPI)—The U.A.E. government Monday issued visas for 92 seamen to replace crewmen stranded on four British ships in the Suez Canal since the Arab-Israeli war.

The British chamber of shipping said all was well on board the four ships and supplies of food and water adequate. "But with the uncertainty and boredom, things cannot have been easy," a spokesman added.

The British ships, along with 13 others, have been at anchor since June 5, when the canal was blocked.

New Haven

Fires, Looting For Third Night

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Police reported incidents of looting, vandalism and arson Monday night for the third straight night of disturbances by gangs of youths, mostly Negroes.

About 200 state police joined the city's 430 policemen seeking to enforce an 8 p.m. curfew in Negro neighborhoods. In general, the city appeared calm under the curfew but 33 fires and incidents of looting and vandalism were reported since 7 p.m.

BOTTLES FLY

Nearly 150 police moved in to the Fair Haven section where two youths were hurling pop bottles at police from a rooftop of the Farnum Court housing project.

A massive crowd lined the street, jeering and taunting the officers. Police used tear gas to disperse the crowd and then flushed the bottle-tossing youths off the roof and arrested them.

MORE THAN EVER

There were more fires Monday night than in the last two days combined, officials said.

By late Monday night, police had arrested 105 persons, bringing the three-day total to 335. Most of Monday night's arrests were on breach of peace charges. At least seven were charged with violating the curfew.

One police officer said the crowds appeared to be "getting bolder" in the four predominantly Negro areas.

JACKSON, Mich. (UPI) — Roving bands of arsonists set at least 16 fires in this central Michigan city Monday night, in the third straight night of violence.

Gun Trio Sought In U.K.

LONDON (Reuters)—Police checked the premises of extremist political organizations Monday in search of three men who raked the United States Embassy here with machine-gun fire in a gangland-style raid Sunday night.

Detectives with intimate knowledge of persons active in protests against U.S. handling of the Vietnam war and racial problems entered the investigations.

Three men were seen racing by car from the big, ultra-modern embassy building in Grosvenor Square in London's elegant Mayfair district after bullets shattered huge plate glass windows and doors of the consular section.

Painful Heel Good Reason To See Doctor Immediately

Your Good Health

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner, Whenever I put my weight on my heel it hurts and sometimes the pain even runs up to my hip. There is nothing to see or feel on my heel, only pain.

I hate to go to a doctor unless there is "something to worry about" but will do as you advise.—MRS. C.S.

Since when don't people go to doctors unless there is "something to worry about?" A heel that hurts like yours would be a good enough reason for me.

From your description, your doctor's first guess probably will be a heel spur — an old injury which has left a little lump of calcium, or a "spur" which is painful when you put yor weight on it. An X-ray will probably be needed to show whether that is an accurate guess.

Dear Dr. Molner, You mentioned "hiatus hernia" and a university nurse corrected me and said it was "hiatal hernia."

I was in nursing school 45 years ago and learned nothing about this. Recently I hear about it quite frequently. Wonder why nothing was in our books at that time.—M.M.

Forty-odd years ago it was more important to attack contagious diseases. Smallpox, typhoid, diphtheria were still common. Tuberculosis was more difficult to combat. (It is still far too prevalent even today.) The struggle was to prevent, if we could, the diseases that cut people down in the prime of life.

Hiatal hernia is uncomfortable but seldom a matter of life and death. Thus, it wasn't as important as those other threats. Besides, we've learned a great deal more about diagnosing it, and we certainly know a lot more about treating it.

Your university nurse evidently didn't know that either hiatal or hiatus is correct. She also called diaphragmatic hernia and "upsidedown stomach." All mean the same thing.

★ ★ ★

Dear Dr. Molner, Is skim milk, as good for you as homogenized milk? Which should a 13-year-old girl drink? How many calories should a girl almost 14 have?—MRS. R.T.

The difference between skim milk and regular or homogenized is merely that the skim milk has had much of the fat removed.

Generally, growing youngsters need the calories which the fat represents. The exception is the child who is overweight, and needs the minerals and protein in the milk but will be better off drinking skim milk, which will help with the weight problem.

It is pointless to try to say how many calories a growing girl needs. We need to know more about her than her age. But if she is fat, by all means use skim milk.

★ ★ ★

Dear Dr. Molner, A speaker at a downtown hotel said that pyorrhea is a phase of, or closely akin to leprosy. Is this true?—T.W.

I don't know what he was talking about and don't think he knew either. What was he selling?

Bomb Hunt Top Priority

HONG KONG (AP) — British officials Monday ignored a Chinese ultimatum expiring tonight at midnight and pressed a search for Communist terrorists who have been planting high-powered bombs.

In a note rejected by Donald Hopson, British charge d'affaires in Peking, China demanded that three pro-Communist newspapers be allowed to resume publishing and 53 newspaper men and staff members be released.

THEIR RESPONSIBILITY

It said: "Otherwise, the British government must be held responsible for all the consequences."

British officials said the papers can not publish until five executives have been tried on charges of sedition and printing false and inflammatory reports.

This colony on China's doorstep was backed by the foreign office in London, where Shen Ping, Chinese charge d'affaires, was called in and given a veiled warning against further action against British diplomats and correspondents in Peking.

HELPING AGITATORS

British officials believed the Peking threat was only part of China's attempt to stiffen the morale of Communist agitators and terrorists in Hong Kong.

British authorities in Hong Kong were far more concerned about the bombing menace than about any ultimatum from Peking. The terrorists got about 400 sticks of high-powered gelignite and about 274 detonators when they broke into an explosives magazine Saturday.

LOW POWER

Up to now, most bombs planted or thrown by terrorists have been made of rather low-power powder taken from fireworks.

But agitators planted a gelignite bomb that killed two children Sunday in a playground. And police found 11 more bombs Monday, two of them in playgrounds, described as far more powerful and far more lethal than home-made bombs.

Chinese Using Spears

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Foes and supporters of Mao Tse-tung are fighting a pitched battle on the main streets of Kunming, capital of southwest China's Yunnan province, Burmese students reported Monday.

Returning from China by plane, they said both sides were using spears, clubs and bricks while thousands watched.

The 14 students, who had been studying paper mill techniques at Shanghai, said that in Kunming Monday morning they had to take a circuitous route to the airport to avoid the conflict.

STRONG FORCES

They gave no estimates of casualties, but said strong forces were in revolt against Mao.

Yunnan province, like others in the west, has been reported previously to be rallying to President Liu Shao-chi in his power struggle with Mao.

Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources in Taipei, Formosa, said Monday anti-Maoists had made further gains in fighting in Chungking, the wartime capital in Szechwan province, north of Yunnan.

GUNBOAT OPERATIONS

These sources said the anti-Maoists had captured several gunboats and were operating them in the Kialing River, which flows from the north into the Yangtze at Chungking.

Russia Monday all but threatened to break trade agreements with China unless Peking stops harassing Soviet ships.

A foreign ministry note, the fourth to China in nine days, stopped short of actually threatening a break in trade ties.

But it warned that Chinese interference with Soviet ships at the port of Dairen "placed in question the implementation of the agreements on trade and shipping between the U.S.S.R. and the P.R.C. (Chinese Peoples Republic)."

Biafrans Claim Strategic Town

LAGOS (CP) — Troops from secessionist Biafra, backed by 20-ton armored vehicles, broke into Nigeria's Western Region Monday and said they have captured the strategic crossroads town of Ore, 135 miles northeast of Lagos.

* * *

Radio Biafra, heard here, said the town, on the junction of two main roads leading to the Western Region capital of Ibadan, was captured Monday afternoon.

But Nigerian federal military sources in Lagos could not confirm the claim. They said the embattled town was still in federal hands Monday morning.

Ore, about 17 miles from the Mid-western Region which the Eastern Region Biafrans captured 12 days ago, was heavily fortified to protect the road to the federal capital at Lagos.

* * *

Meanwhile Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, leader of secessionist Biafra, offered to take part in peace talks to end the civil war, but only if his republic's sovereignty is recognized.

Radio Biafra, heard here, quoted the 33-year-old Enugu leader as saying he is willing to go to the conference table "provided certain basic guarantees are satisfied."

The first was that "the sovereignty of Biafra is irrevocable and cannot be a subject of negotiation."

The federal government of Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon has said the prime pre-condition for any peace talks with its former Eastern Region is that its declaration of independence is unconditionally revoked.

In Washington the U.S. state department expressed regret Monday over Soviet shipments of arms to Nigeria and said this might lead to big-power involvement in the struggle.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Mobutu Answers With Plane Talk

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP)—President Mobutu used planes Sunday to reject the deadline of midnight that day laid down by mercenary leader Col. Jean Schramm for talks with Mobutu on The Congo's future.

The president sent light fighter aircraft of the national Congolese army to bombard mercenary positions in Bukavu. There was no word on the effectiveness of the attack.

Peter Bebeau helps get people down to the sea by telephone

He's a specialist in communications, a member of the B.C. Telephone Company's marketing department.

Peter Bebeau is a Prairie native who sometimes goes to sea to fish.

He's never sailed an ocean liner. Nor has he ever installed a telephone.

But he knows how much telephone service is needed to take thousands of people each year down to the sea from Vancouver in the big ships of P. & O.

He knows this because it is his business to know it. And it is his business to know it because he is a telephone man—a specialist in prescribing total communications.

Peter Bebeau is a member of the B.C. Telephone Company's marketing department.

He's also a man who enjoys fishing when there's time. He claims a 14 handicap as a weekend golfer (though some who've played against him say that figure's too high). And he's an ex-RCAF aero-mechanic who grew up in Edmonton where he was born and came to Vancouver in 1945 after Second World War service.

He Knows What's New

He's been a B.C. Telephone man for 22 years, the last 12 in marketing where he is one of more than 65 communications specialists who call on business customers throughout British Columbia to help them solve their communications problems.

Others among B.C. Telephone's more than 7,200 employees serve residential customers and still others handle the installation and maintenance of facilities.

Those in marketing keep business customers advised about new services, analyze customer communications requirements and prescribe the exact services and equipment to meet those requirements best.

Peter Bebeau has been doing this for ten years for P & O in Vancouver, which is just one of the many customers to whom he provides service.

The P & O communications requirements in Vancouver are substantial, as would be expected in the major Canadian office of a world-wide shipping operation which must have means for swift exchange of information among dozens of locations to keep its big ships busy carrying passengers.

Just Ask Peter

Peter Bebeau has helped P & O in Vancouver to determine which types of telephone service will meet the requirements most efficiently and most effectively.

He studies the requirements, then recommends the services and equipment best suited for the particular function involved.

For instance, a combination of "Zenith" service for incoming long distance calls and automatic call-directing equipment was chosen to enable selected travel agents in major centres from Winnipeg west to dial directly to P & O Vancouver reservations desk to place passenger bookings.

Wide Area Telephone Service (or WATS), which provides a flat-rate basis covering any number of long distance calls within a prescribed time and area was chosen to enable P & O to reduce costs and increase speed on the heavy volume of telephone traffic to points in Alberta and British Columbia.

Teletype service was selected to link P & O offices in England, Australia, New Zealand, the United States and Canada, with the nerve centre for the system established in Vancouver.

Peter Bebeau has been able to help P & O find the best equipment from local telephone services, too, including ship-to-shore connections when the ships are in port.

He is able to do this for P & O—and for his other customers—because he, like all of those in B.C. Telephone's marketing department, is equipped with detailed knowledge of what each type of communications service will do.

This knowledge is available to customers without charge, just one more of many services B.C. Telephone offers in its effort to provide British Columbians with the best in total communications.

WHAT IS TOTAL COMMUNICATION?

The wartime marriage of telephony and electronics brought a new concept to communications, extending far beyond traditional telephone service as it was understood for nearly 75 years.

Telephone men like Peter Bebeau speak of the new concept as "total communications." By this they mean the ability to get the right information to the right place at the right time, whether by voice, image or data services.

It's a concept with application in every business. Find out how it can serve you best. Call your B.C. Telephone Company marketing office today.

President's Dilemma

THE PRESSURE OF DECISIONS continues to mount for President Lyndon Johnson. Under a new wave of criticism at home he is faced with a dangerous choice of direction in the Vietnam dilemma, either of which is politically dangerous for him personally and for the nation. He must either find a way out of the Vietnam quicksand or a more convincing argument for a continued United States presence there.

Two things have contributed to the growing public concern, imposition of a 10 per surcharge on income tax to pay for the war's continually climbing cost and the assignment of another 45,000 troops for the campaign—and in that order. The tax boost hits everyone, whereas the commitment of more fighting men concerns only those directly affected.

The president has every reason to feel deep distress that opinion polls for the first time report a majority disapproving his handling of the war.

The polls show, too: that 56 per cent believe the United States is either stalemated or losing the war in Vietnam; and 41 per cent of the poll hold the United States was wrong to have sent troops there in the first place.

Moreover, there is a drift of support in the Senate towards a more flexible attitude on peace terms.

And there is an increasing uncertainty that the United States can afford such nuge overseas commitments and still face up to the domestic responsibilities in spite of the president's insistence that it can.

For the obvious ills, the president is prescribing "the mixture as before." He continues to argue that the economy is rich enough "to meet our responsibilities at home without neglecting our responsibilities abroad."

To please the hawks he has extended the target area for U.S. bombers in North Vietnam and for the sake of the doves he has hinted at new attempts at peace negotiations.

At home, he has been forced to curtail expenditure for improvement of The Great Society. And Congress in the face of recent and continuing riots has called for repression rather than reform.

For a man facing a presidential election next year the situation calls for desperate measures—even as desperate as a complete cessation of bombing in North Vietnam, some people believe. Such a move would be undertaken reluctantly, no doubt, but it could be interpreted in two ways: as a retreat towards disengagement or a gallant and sincere attempt to bring about a peace parley. It just might work.

Ill Becoming

SENATOR HAZEN ARGUE'S criticism of conditions in American cities and what he describes as "indifference" on the part of U.S. authorities can be equated with President de Gaulle's interference into Canadian affairs.

The Saskatchewan senator waited until he got home from a visit across the line before he voiced his unsolicited views, but these represent equally an injection into another country's domestic problems. It ill becomes a member of the Canadian Parliament to condemn the policies of its counterpart, the U.S. Congress, in relation to what is essentially the latter's own business.

Presumably he would not take kindly to gratuitous censure in reverse.

It may be that the Negro housing situation in some major U.S. centres is "appalling," as he says, and because of propinquity Canadians take an interest in and are able to follow fairly closely American affairs, but this does not give licence to outside criticism on matters that present American authorities with extremely grave intimate problems.

Sympathy for the Negro cause there will be in this country, but the propriety of intrusion into what is the responsibility of the U.S. Congress should have given Senator Argue pause.

His remarks might invite retaliation, a visit by an American senator who would voice dissent about how the Canadian Parliament handles its domestic issues.

Much smaller in extent but no less so in principle, there is the growing restiveness of Canada's Indians with respect to their current lot to be taken into account. An outsider might remind Senator Argue that his own house was not free from glass—and in fact ask what he as a member of his country's governing body is personally doing about it.

Alcohol and Speed

A STUDY made in Vancouver for the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association indicates that (if the Vancouver situation is typical) about three out of five B.C. drivers involved in accidents have been drinking. This gives local credibility to the results of studies made elsewhere. In California for instance a year-long survey found that the same proportion of fatally injured drivers responsible for accidents had been drinking, and in one-car accidents the proportion approached two out of three.

These figures lend support to the belief of Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi that alcohol is the leading contributor to accidents, so much so that he has urged an all-out campaign against drinking drivers on the highways of the province.

Without suggesting that Mr. Gaglardi should be any less concerned than he is about this aspect of road safety, however, one could wish that finding agreement here on one of his beliefs he would re-examine another —this being that speed is harmless.

The 1967 edition of Accident Facts published by the U.S. National Safety Council gives equal attention on facing pages to alcohol and to driving too fast as leading factors in fatal accidents. Drinking, it says, may be a factor in at least half of the fatal accidents. And about one-third of those that happened in 1966 in 22 reporting states involved vehicles which were being driven too fast for conditions.

"Even on the turnpikes," the publication says, "speed too fast is a factor in about one-fourth of the accidents. This percentage may seem high since such roads are designed for fast driving, but in addition to driving cars faster than they can be handled, speed too fast includes failure to accommodate speed to changing conditions of weather, road conditions, traffic and environment such as ramps and toll facilities."

It is difficult to see how Mr. Gaglardi can hug one set of statistics to his manly chest and disregard the other.

Could Tread on Toes

Poland Bracing for de Gaulle

By THOMAS NUZUM from Paris

AFTER rocking the Canadian boat President Charles de Gaulle is stepping into an even more touchy situation. He plans an official visit to Poland Sept. 6-12.

De Gaulle will have to walk warily to avoid annoying the West Germans, his closest allies. Conceivably, he also could tread on the toes of the Polish Communists and the Russians.

Polish leaders are said to be apprehensive that the general might be as outspoken as he was in Quebec.

His ambition for more than 20 years had been to "desatellize" countries in both spheres of influence and break up the two armed camps facing each other across the Iron Curtain. In 1963, he charged that the satellites in Central Europe gave Russia the world's biggest colonial empire.

★ ★ ★

When he toured South America in 1964, he urged his audiences to be less dependent on the United States. If he ever got the chance to speak directly to Central Europeans, he would urge them to be more independent of Russia, it was predicted at that time.

Poland will give him that chance. But diplomatic observers in Paris now doubt that he will stir up trouble for the Communist regime. Recently he has thrown diplomatic support to Russia, reportedly to keep the balance of power between the United States and Russia less uneven.

The United States, with assistance from little Israel, has pushed Russia to the wall diplomatically, increasing the danger of a new world war, the French claim. They contend that Poland has been truly independent since 1956 when it kicked Russians out of the top echelons in its arms and government.

Trying to set one Communist country against another might make them stick all the closer together, in the French view.

De Gaulle is most likely to be tempted to preach non-dependence on Russia when he speaks before students at the University of Cracow Sept. 8. Students there gave a hero's welcome to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in 1964. He symbolized Western freedom to them. France also symbolizes freedom. It has been a refuge for Polish political exiles for two centuries.

The general will address the Polish parliament Sept. 11 and speak to the nation on television that evening. But if he says too much, he would be unwelcome in Czechoslovakia and Romania, where he has been invited to go next year.

★ ★ ★

His Polish tour will be grist for the mill of opposition newspapers in France that accuse him of switching alliances. But French officials assure that he merely intends to ease East-West tension like the German, Italian and Belgian foreign ministers, who have been visiting Central European capitals recently.

The general will intercede with the Poles on behalf of West Germany, urging friendlier relations. That would be a step toward the still remote reunification of East and West Germany, and lifting the Iron Curtain completely between Communist and Western Europe.

French officials doubt that he can pry Polish arms open very far for West Germany at this time. A fifth of the 30 million Poles then within the country's present boundaries were allegedly killed in the Second World War, mostly in German concentration camps. The Western third of Poland's present territory was taken from defeated Germans.

To forestall danger of eventual German claims on this territory, one cornerstone of Polish foreign policy is to weaken West Germany by keeping it from absorbing Communist East Germany. Another cornerstone is to retain Russian backing to be safe from Germany.

★ ★ ★

To justify anti-German feelings, and possibly to drive a wedge between France and Germany, the Poles will guide de Gaulle through Auschwitz prison camp near Cracow. There, the Germans reportedly exterminated 4.5 million people from 29 countries. Relics of the massacre are preserved religiously by the Communists.

Relics to be seen by de Gaulle include tons of battered toys taken from children herded to the gas chambers, and a pile of human hair 70 feet long, 15 feet wide and five feet deep.

De Gaulle's visit will tend to bolster the prestige of Communist leaders, especially since he is not scheduled to meet their arch-rival, Cardinal Wyszynski. There is speculation that de Gaulle agreed to boycott the cardinal, when his hosts dropped plans to have him visit their former German territory.

A side trip into Western Poland would have amounted to tacit recognition of the border change, and miffed some Germans.

Yet de Gaulle will visit Gdansk, the former Free City of Danzig, which was German until 1919, and was Germany's pretext to attack Poland in the Second World War. He will be there Sunday, Sept. 10, and is expected to attend mass as usual.

His worship might embarrass the regime. The atheistic Polish Communists even confiscated two English detective novels at the Poznan book fair last May because their hero was called "the Saint."

Important Difference

From The Globe and Mail

Prime Minister Lester Pearson's sudden decision to expand his federal-provincial conference on making the Bill of Rights a part of the Constitution to include other constitutional issues looks suspiciously like a ploy to downgrade—or perhaps to obliterate—Premier John Robarts' Confederation of Tomorrow conference.

There is, however, one essential difference between the two conferences. Mr. Robarts is inviting some extra guests—the people. Mr. Pearson's conference will be held as all federal-provincial conferences are held—behind closed doors.

The prime minister does not seem to share Mr. Robarts' willingness to trust Canadians with a discussion of their own future.

For the Refugees

Fears of Winter

By M. S. WILDE from Geneva

BEFORE the summer heat has waned, winter haunts the thoughts of those whose concern is the refugees of the Arab-Israeli war, living in tented camps in the Middle East.

It is a main anxiety for Mr. Raymond Courvoisier, director of the Geneva office of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees, upon his return from a mission to find out what the agency needs to cope with the new refugees and displaced people after the recent fighting, whose number he now estimates to be about 340,000.

★ ★ ★

Most outside attention has been focused on the plight of refugees on the East bank of the Jordan, but the situation is most desperate in Syria for more than 100,000, of whom 15,000 are without any shelter at all.

Most of the 100,000 are crowded into UNRWA-UNESCO school buildings with up to 56 people to one classroom.

At Deraa, Mr. Courvoisier says he found them sleeping on the bare cement floor. They were, he says, "clean, polite, poor — very poor — they have lost everything. They are quiet, patient people and without reaction, but in a destressing condition, especially the children."

At Muzeirib he saw 2,000 refugees who have been living under trees for weeks, and badly in need of blankets and bedding mats. "From this place one sees Mount Hermon with some snow on the summit" — a reminder of what winter will being. Some 3,500 tents are needed in Syria for the Palestinians alone.

On the West bank of the Jordan, now under Israeli occupation, Mr. Courvoisier reports that he found 17,000 people entirely without shelter.

The Gaza Strip, where UNRWA cared for 315,000 registered Palestinian refugees before the recent war, now has a population of about 500,000 (including both registered and unregistered refugees). Fewer than 3,000 people, mostly fishermen, left the Strip in their boats and are now presumably in Egypt. (Incidentally, UNRWA may have to extend its services to Egypt to help the estimated 40,000 to 50,000 mostly Bedouin refugees from Sinai).

The most touching scene in Gaza is the reunion of families separated for 19 years. This came about because the Israeli authorities allowed Arabs living in Israel before the fighting began (some 300,000) to visit the Gaza Strip where many have refugee relatives.

These Arabs from Israel, Mr. Courvoisier noted, came in buses and even in their own cars, and their general air of prosperity brought home to the adult Gaza refugees what they had lost in the 19 wasted years. But the dominant reaction was a rekindling of hope — "of returning to the towns and villages where they had lived before 1948," when Israel fought its war of independence.

If some of the refugees from overcrowded Gaza were moved to the West bank of the Jordan they could inhabit deserted camps, including that at Jericho. But in this desolating human conditon, this would depend on what happened to those refugees who left camps to seek shelter and safety from warfare on the East bank of the Jordan, and have thus become homeless for the second time in 19 years. Jordan has made no secret of its wish that most of them will return to the West bank.

"Passing through the refugee camps," says Mr. Courvoisier, "one is shaking hands with people whose existence the world has forgotten for nearly 20 years."

★ ★ ★

About 60,000 "new" refugees have been accommodated in six UNRWA tented camps, four organized by the Jordanian government with help by Britain, and one by Iranians. The Belgians and Americans have given tents to shelter 26,000 in three camps about 30 miles from Amman, and UNRWA cooks rations for them twice daily, including 11 tons of bread. Milk is distributed to all women and children up to the age of 15.

But as Mr. Courvoisier points out, all the temporary tented camps will have to be replaced by more permanent shelter before the onset of winter, which can become bitterly cold on the Jordanian hillsides. Minimum need is for prefabricated houses for families of seven to 10 people, domestic utensils, milk powder, tinned meats, furniture and transport. But above all, clothing for the children — "and," urges Mr. Courvoisier, "before October."

Washington Calling

The Old Humphrey Fight

By MARQUIS CHILDS

BLOODY but unbowed comes closest to describing the condition of Hubert Horatio Humphrey in this the summer of discontent. Taking his lumps again and again he nevertheless comes up with the old Humphrey fight.

Fight talk, his critics would say. But with the vice-president it is more than talk. He has been pushing, pulling, prodding, prying to get action easing pressure in the ghettos. As a kind of one-man riot abatement squad Humphrey has done many things, both large and small, that add up to a considerable plus.

His dilemma, of course, is that of vice-presidents since time immemorial. If he tries harder because he is No. 2 he is likely to offend, if not alienate. No. 1.

★ ★ ★

No one can forget what Dwight D. Eisenhower said toward the end of his second term when his vice-president, Richard M. Nixon, was preparing to run for president. Asked at a press conference what acts during his eight years in the vice-presidency commended Nixon for the No. 1 job Eisenhower told reporters that if they gave him a week he would think of something.

Humphrey has been working hard. The Job Corps is one of the projects he constantly pushes. While there have been misadventures the Job Corps has taken a number of the unskilled jobless off the streets for training and discipline.

Camp Kilmer in New Jersey is one the vice-president keeps his eye on. As of a recent date 86 per cent of the graduates of the latest three-to-six-months course have been placed. Of the total, 1,724 got jobs and 376 enlisted in the military. Most of the latter could not have met enlistment standards prior to Job Corps training.

One of Humphrey's concerns is exploiting facilities that are used only part time. He has his staff prodding in various quarters to open up National Gaurd camps for city youths who have never had camping experience. Unused army facilities are also under the jealous Humphrey eye. Room was found at Camp Roberts in California for 2,400 children out of Watts for a two-week camp. In the District of Columbia, where he concentrates a great deal of energy, the vice-president got private and public backing to keep Camp Roosevelt, a Boy Scout camp about to be closed down, open to children from the ghetto.

Addressing the convention of the National Education Association, Humphrey made an impassioned plea to keep the public schools open on a 12-month-a-year basis. This would check, if not halt, the disastrous rise in the rate of school vandalism in most big cities, he argued, besides providing facilities for poverty programs such as Head Start. Humphrey made his plea even though the NEA convention had just passed a resolution opposing a 12-month year.

Flying to every corner of the country Humphrey also spends a lot of time on the long-distance phone. Getting an alert on tension here or a lagging program there, he is on long distance with top officials. In both Louisville and Houston background prodding from the vice-president's office helped to spur the summer job program.

No one knows better than Humphrey how marginal these efforts are. The latest weekly survey to cross his desk shows that although 350,000 more 16-to-21-year-olds were employed in July of this year than in the same month a year ago, 500,000 more than in 1966 in that age group are looking for work this summer. Among 16-to-21-year-olds the unemployment rate declined from 11.6 per cent to 10.7. But unemployment among Negroes in that critical age bracket fell almost imperceptibly from 23.1 per cent to 22.8.

Praising Mayor John Linfisay of New York for going into the streets to open communication with the people in the ghetto, Humphrey is aware that this is a stop-gap performance, as are the piecemeal measures being taken today. This awareness was behind his speech to the National League of Cities in Boston that made headlines on a call for a Marshall Plan to rebuild decaying urban centres. The president, who had rejected the pleas of a half-dozen state governors for a dramatic large-scale program, was angered.

No. 2 was plainly trying too hard. The alternative for a vice-president is to try to enjoy it. Given Humphrey's temperament, that is impossible. And so, even though most of his liberal admirers have abandoned him as a hopeless Johnson loyalist, he goes on working to the last ounce of his formidable energy.

Race Law and Race Prejudice

Cruel Price of a Dark Skin

By STANLEY UYS from Cape Town

SANDRA LAING, an 11-year-old girl who fell afoul of South Africa's race laws, expects to be attending a white school again next year. By then she will have lost two years' schooling.

Sandra grew up as a white girl, was declared colored (of mixed race) by the authorities last year, and has now been classified as white again under an amending race law. With Sandra's white identity certificate finally in their possession, Mr. and Mrs. Laing have now started to look for a new school for their daughter, and they are finding that fighting prejudice is as difficult as fighting officialdom.

To protect Sandra — who is admittedly dark-skinned, whereas her parents are both obviously white — they have decided to enrol her in a private school rather than in a government school where racial prejudice runs deeper. But even a Roman Catholic convent near Johannesburg refused the girl entry. The Mother Superior explained:

"We have Chinese and white pupils at the convent, and we do not want to discriminate. If I could have had it my way I would have admitted the girl, but we depend on public goodwill, and as I see it we would only have trouble if we admitted her. There was a lot of publicity over the case, and there would surely be repercussions if the child were allowed to come to school here. We have to consider the feelings of our parents and children."

Other convents in Johannesburg have said they will admit Sandra — but some have added the proviso that they are full at present. Another Mother Superior put it this way:

"What we have to take into consideration is whether the child will be happy. If we thought she would be, there would be no objection."

Mrs. Laing has decided, though, that Sandra should not start school again until next year. She has been out of school now for 17 months, and she is used to waiting. Every weekday for months, Sandra has dressed herself in her school-clothes, although there has been no school for her to go to.

The Laings live in the Transvaal, where Mr. Laing has two rural trading stores, and Mrs. Laing is a village postmistress. They are both obviously white, and their official identity cards classify them as such. Sandra is much darker-skinned, but naturally she has been brought up in the family as a white child and sent to a white boarding school.

Seventeen months ago, Sandra was suddenly sent home from boarding school when she was classified as colored. She was vaguely aware of the anxiety and despair that haunted her parents as they took her case to court to fight against the classification which made her alone in a white family of five a "colored" child.

The Laings spent more than £750 fighting the case. They lost because the law allowed the court no choice.

Then a few months ago the South African parliament changed the law to read that children of white parents should be classified automatically as white. Mr. and Mrs. Laing swore affidavits that they were Sandra's natural parents and now, finally, the child has been reclassified as white. When the letter from the department of the interior arrived, Sandra saw her parents laugh and cry as they told her that she could now go back to school again.

But Sandra and her parents have overcome only one hurdle — the Population Register Act, which is the sickest of the apartheid laws, and the statute under which race classifications are carried out and the South African "human stud book" compiled. Now, as a girl whose name has been in the headlines for the past 17 months, she must prepare to face all the other hurdles of apartheid among her fellow pupils.

An example of what young white boys and girls and their parents can do to darker-skinned schoolmates has just been provided by the pupils at the Woodland Primary School in the Knysna District of Cape Province. Here 45 children are being kept away from school because their parents maintained that two children who had been admitted are colored. In vain the school authorities have protested that the parents of the two youngsters have official white identity cards.

The youngsters are the brothers Anthony and George Dickson, the sons of a woodcutter. Because they have darker skins the entire school walked out on them. Even threats of prosecution have failed to persude the parents to send their children back. One family has sent its children back to school, but only until another school can be found for them.

And so Anthony and George may soon have the school to themselves again. Each day, neatly attired and with their school books clutched under their arms, these two wide-eyed youngsters walk to school bewildered by the social stigma they do not even share with their parents.

A Question For Quebec

From The Edmonton Journal

It would appear that Premier Daniel Johnson has finally decided to lay it on the line.

In a Paris interview on the state-owned television network, he is reported to have said Quebec will get out of the Confederation unless it gets the constitutional changes he wants.

That, no matter how you slice it, is endorsement of separatism —"either-or" but separatism nevertheless.

Now all that remains is for Premier Johnson to make the same statement to the people of Quebec—that his party is a separatist party—and give the people of Quebec a clear chance to vote yes or no.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

The International Red Cross was founded at Geneva one year after an international conference was held in that city to set up the world body 103 years ago today—in 1864. The organization for the relief of suffering owes its inception to the Swiss banker, Jean Henri Dunant, who was so moved by suffering at the Battle of Solferino in 1859 that he urged the formation of voluntary aid societies to help the wounded in time of war. Since its establishment, the Red Cross has expanded to aid the afflicted in peace as well as war.

1642—Civil war began in England.

1942—Brazil declared war on Germany and Italy after losing five ships to Axis submarines.

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1917—a Zeppelin raided the Yorkshire coast but was brought down off Jutland by British naval attack. Planes bombed southeast England and caused 37 casualties.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—the British admiralty announced seizure of 14 Danish fishing vessels and removal to British ports. Four Fighter Command planes were lost on low-level attacks on French and Belgian targets.

Union Nationale Organizers Whipping Up Support

Johnson Machine Working for Roblin

By DAVE BAZAY
From Quebec

The powerful political machine of Premier Daniel Johnson appears revved up for the Conservative leadership campaign of Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba.

Although Johnson has insisted he is staying out of the Conservative race, evidence is piling up that the Union Nationale is backing Roblin.

★ ★ ★

One interpretation is that Johnson is supporting the Conservatives in a fight to finish off the federal Liberals, whose big power base is in Quebec.

The theory is that Johnson has given up the possibility of negotiating constitutional change with the Liberals who, the Quebec premier feels, are defending the status quo.

The last time the Union Nationale supported the Conservatives was in the 1958 general election when the Tories took 50 Quebec seats in the Commons, their biggest Quebec victory.

★ ★ ★

Traces of the Union Nationale organization have been evident in the Roblin ranks ever since the Manitoban launched his Quebec campaign at Trois-Rivieres Aug. 18.

Before he left on holidays last week, Johnson said he was not supporting any Conservative candidate and that he had no wish to mix in federal politics.

But behind the scenes the signs are strong that Duff Roblin is the Quebec premier's pick of the nine-man pack of Tory leadership candidates.

★ ★ ★

Roblin's aides, who admit the Manitoba premier needs strong Quebec support to win the race, say Roblin would welcome Johnson's support.

The Quebec premier returns from his holidays Sept. 1, the day when Premier Roblin is scheduled to visit the Quebec capital. The two politicians are to meet then.

While some Union Nationale backroom boys are associated with other candidates, no one except Roblin has attracted a flock of Union Nationale organizers.

★ ★ ★

Nowhere was the presence of the Union Nationale more evident than in Chicoutimi, Que., during the weekend when Roblin was given a rousing reception.

Seventy Tories, including 17 of the region's 20 delegates to the Toronto leadership convention Sept. 5-8, showed up Saturday in the biggest reception for any candidate there.

This outshone receptions for Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia and other contenders — George Hees, Davie Fulton and Donald Fleming.

★ ★ ★

BACKGROUND

The Roblin reception was whipped up by the Union Nationale's top organizer in the region, Jean Laflamme, 35-y ear-old clothing manufacturer.

Laflamme said in an interview he organized the Roblin reception as a favor for Marcel Gagnon, a Montreal public relations man who is helping to run Roblin's Quebec campaign. Gagnon has long been associated with the Union Nationale.

★ ★ ★

Similar Union Nationale presence was evident in Roblin's tour through the Eastern Townships and at Montreal, where he spoke at the Union Nationale's Renaissance Club Friday.

Such support could have great influence on Quebec's 535 convention delegates, many of whom are Conservatives federally and Union Nationale supporters provincially.

Mayor Paul O. Trepanier of

Roblin

Granby, president of the Quebec Conservative Association, predicts Roblin may sweep as many as 80 per cent of Quebec's vote.

★ ★ ★

Roblin's Manitoba aides say the premier is counting on strong Quebec and Manitoba support to build up a power base comparable to Stanfield's Maritime support.

The Manitoba premier, perhaps the most fluently French of all the candidates, has campaigned in Quebec for constitutional change to take greater account of what he has called the province's particular status.

★ ★ ★

He appears to have taken a more flexible position than the federal Liberals, although he has not yet outlined in detail the sort of power-sharing he would like to see.

Roblin also has going for him here the recent amendment to the Manitoba Public Schools' Act restoring the right to teach in French in the public schools of his province.

De Gaulle Visit Storm Still Rages

Canada Hot Topic in France

By CY FOX
from Paris

The names of personalities ranging from Voltaire to Prime Minister Pearson are being drawn into a continuing controversy resulting from the Canadian visit of President de Gaulle of France.

Canada is a hot topic on which professors, politicians and newspaper commentators want to speak their piece.

★ ★ ★

Even the issue of conscription in Canada during the two world wars has cropped up as part of the wider discussion.

A correspondent for Le Figaro of Paris writes that Pearson is called "Monsieur Personne" — French for Mr. Nobody — by some French-Canadians.

The correspondent, Nicolas Chatelain, was given an entire page of Le Figaro's Monday issue to tell French readers about "Quebec after the storm."

★ ★ ★

One photograph accompanying the Chatelain story shows de Gaulle with Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec during the general's July visit.

The caption under the photo in Le Figaro's Paris edition

Mitterrand

refers to Johnson as "President of Quebec."

This is not repeated in references to Johnson in the body of the story, which credits Quebec with packing "all the ideological political and, without doubt, artistic dynamism" in Canada today.

Quebec separatism is considered "a game" by Chatelain. He reports that residents of the Prairie provinces consider French Quebec "a curious anomaly and a source of embarrassment."

Francois Mitterrand, leader of the French opposition Federation of the Left, has definite ideas on Canada's future.

A breakdown of the Canadian Confederation, he says, would be to the advantage of the United States, ending what balance of power now exists in North America.

★ ★ ★

Mitterrand harks back to past centuries in contending that all Canadians are different from Europeans. They "are a society born of an emigration," he says.

History, and especially Voltaire, is the field chosen by Professor Charles - Andre Julien for a lengthy consideration of Canada.

A professor in the faculty of letters at the University of Paris, Julien writes in a series of articles now being published in Le Monde that the 18th-century philosopher spoke for his age in deriding Canada as "a few acres of snow."

France was losing interest in Canada, as French and British troops fought for the North American possession. Canada was deemed by many Frenchmen unprofitable in terms of commerce.

Its loss to France after 1759 "did not cause emotion" in the home country and may have averted a subsequent declaration of independence from the motherland on the part of French-Canadians.

★ ★ ★

Letters to the editor published by Le Monde, France's leading newspaper, bristle with pronouncements on Canada.

One letter contended that French-Canadians played virtually no role in the military effort mounted by Canada in the two world wars.

Madeleine Bachaud, writing to Le Monde from Montreal, disputes this statement, recommending that its author "go and look at the names on the Canadian war graves in France."

The Hon. John Gilbey is welcomed aboard ship.

The Hon. John Gilbey—International Quality Controller

Embarking on one of his frequent voyages overseas, the Hon. John Gilbey talks about his unique job as Gilbey's International Quality Controller—and why it takes him to every corner of the earth:

"My gin has been the best gin in the world for no less than 110 years," says the Hon. John Gilbey. "It is my job to make sure that Gilbey's London Dry matches the original English standard no matter where it is made." So he travels to the 39 countries where Gilbey's London Dry is famous, and he samples the gin that carries his name.

"Wherever I taste Gilbey's London Dry," he explains, "I expect to find the subtle flavour that people call . . . the perfect balance for mixed drinks."

Next time you see Gilbey's famous frosty bottle, remember the Hon. John Gilbey and his job as Gilbey's International Quality Controller. And as you taste the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks, bear in mind his proud words: "This is my gin! For no less than 110 years it has carried my family's name. Gilbey's London Dry is the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks. And I shall make sure it stays that way."

Svetlana's Memoirs in Political Ring

Intrigue Plagues Book

By HOWARD Tyner, from London

Successfully publishing the memoirs of Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, in the West may turn out to be as difficult as solving the cold war.

International politics come into play on the publication of the much-discussed book, Letters to a Friend, scheduled to go to press in Britain and America in October.

When the book finally does reach bookstores it still may not mean the end of the largest publishing incident since the storm over William Manchester's Death of a President last spring.

★ ★ ★

The intrigue involved in securing rights to a personal glimpse at the life and death of Josef Stalin has been complicated by Mrs. Svetlana Stalina Alliluyeva's decision to defect to the West in 1967 — the year of the 50th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

So Moscow, eager to discredit her revelations, apparently has embarked upon a propaganda barrage and a publishing subterfuge to take the sting out of the book.

Mrs. Alliluyeva sold the book-publishing rights to her memoirs to a Liechtenstein-based firm for a reported price of $1,500,000 at a time when only one manuscript was known to exist.

However, it came to light in July that she had left two copies of the manuscript — including the original — with friends in the Soviet Union prior to her January defection.

★ ★ ★

Pirate copies of the manuscript were reported in several European cities the end of July with more than one publisher preparing for release.

About $3,000,000 had been invested in the world rights of authorized versions of the text by British, American and foreign press and publishers. The possibility of an early pirate edition sent shudders through the firms involved.

A legal loophole developed whereby a pirate edition might be distributed prior to Aug. 2, when Hutchinson's of London —one of the original purchasers—planned a limited Russian-language release to establish copyright for Mrs. Alliluyeva.

Lawyers said Svetlana, despite her defection to the United States, remained a Soviet citizen, and that she had written the book in Russia, a country not a party to international copyright conventions. By that argument, not until the October formal publication date would the copyright come into effect.

Hutchinson's temporary escape route was a "breach of confidence" law, which claimed — successfully — the pre-publication of the work would do irreparable harm to the persons involved.

Thus a British court on Aug. 1, ordered Flegon Press, which had planned the early Russian-language edition, to withhold publication, pending an Aug. 18 hearing.

Alex Flegon, the publisher, claimed that since the manuscript he had obtained was written in Russia, the copyright laws did not apply.

★ ★ ★

A second unauthorized copy of the memoirs appeared a few days later when the German magazine Der Stern began publishing excerpts from the work.

But Der Stern, which earlier this year backed down from a fight with Jacqueline Kennedy over the Manchester book, was forced to withhold continuation of its version when it lost a court fight to a sister publication, Der Spiegel.

An injunction banning serialization was granted in German courts after Der Spiegel argued Der Stern was guilty of "unfair competition" in publishing any part of the memoirs, since Der Spiegel had already paid $125,000 for exclusive German rights.

Yet another suit was started when Svetlana discovered that copies of the banned Der Stern edition were being distributed in Switzerland. A Swiss court on Aug. 10 said the issue could not be sold pending further action.

★ ★ ★

The pirate editions and photographs of Svetlana, most of them unflattering, were peddled in Europe by Soviet journalist Victor Louis. He is believed by Western observers in Moscow to be a Soviet government agent and has handled sensitive jobs for the Soviet Union before. He accompanied dissident poet Valery Tarsis to London when the Soviets allowed Tarsis to defect.

The editions appeared within a week after the Soviet press had levelled a propaganda blast at Mrs. Alliluyeva's character.

A statement on June 25 by Premier Alexei Kosygin that Svetlana was "a morally unstable person" signalled the official attack on her.

Apparently trying to counteract widespread release of her work, the government released a June 21 interview with a high Russian orthodox church official, who described Svetlana as "A Judas Iscariot who had sold out everything for the dollar."

★ ★ ★

The same day, Svetlana's son, Josef, a medical student attributed her defection to an "instability of character."

Young Stalin, 22, said he feared his mother might still be in a state of shock from the death of her last husband in 1966.

The Russians could still publish their own English-language version of Letters to a Friend with hopes of discrediting the October version, but that is not likely.

For like Death of a President, the controversy alone has virtually guaranteed the success of publication.

Buddhist Bid Fails In Vietnam

By LAT, Reuters, UPI

SAIGON—This city's militant Buddhists failed in a bid to get the leading civilian presidential candidates to agree on a single entry to beat the military ticket, it was learned Monday.

Vietnamese sources said the meeting took place last Friday at the An Quang pagoda, base of Thich Tri Quang, who led the 1966 fight against the military government.

It failed when the civilians were unable to rally behind a single candidate.

THROUGH POLLS

The meeting was called by Thich Thien Minh, spokesman for Tri Quang and the militant buddhists. Tri Quang, according to informed sources, is planning to avenge himself via the polls for the defeat he suffered in his political showdown last year with Chief of State Thieu and Premier Ky.

Six civilian presidential candidates attended the conference, including leading contestants Tran Van Huong and Phan Khac Suu.

MILITARY TICKET

Thich Thien Minh argued that, under the present circumstances, it was impossible to defeat the military ticket unless the civilians rallied behind a "join front" which would support only one civilian candidate.

Minh said the two candidates who had the best chance of defeating the Thieu-Ky combination were ex-premier Huong and former chief of state Suu.

CIVILIAN MAN

Political informants, say Thieu suggested Huong and Suu decide among themselves which one should be the "civilian" candidate the other would then withdraw.

But neither Suu nor Huong was willing to step down, and the meeting broke up.

COUNTRY VOTES

The country votes Sept. 3 for president, vice-president and Senate, and Thieu issued a decree Monday setting Oct. 22 as the date for the second half of the election. It will choose 137 members to the House of Representatives.

As he did so, the government organizing the votes ordered local officials to keep a tight check on voter registration.

JAIL THREAT

The order noted Vietnamese who vote twice can be sentenced to a year in prison and a $300 fine, with penalties doubled for civil servants and military men.

Ky went on TV and radio Monday night to defend his government against charges of political trickery in the campaign.

He said the government is ready to give the civilian candidates all the help possible but some "irregularities" beyond its control would inevitably occur in a wartime situation.

PEACE ASKED

He appealed to all candidates not to attack or denounce each other because such behavior would lower the "prestige" of the leaders with the people.

"We are free to criticize the policy of the government, but not to attack or denounce each other."

NEW FIREWORKS

Even as he spoke the charges were renewed. One of the civilian presidential candidates charged Ky's police raided a meeting of his supporters, jailed 19 of them and tore up his political party's flat.

And at an election rally attended by the civilian candidates in Ban Me Thuot, police scuffled with a hospital official and threw him out when he criticized Ky and Thieu for not appearing with other candidates to answer questions from voters.

Constitution Enough

U.S. Congress can do little to influence course of Vietnam war, short of denying needed money, Attorney-General Nicholas Katzenbach said Monday. He told Senate foreign relations committee President Johnson has full authority under U.S. constitution for his Vietnam policy, even without 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, under which Congress approved any steps he saw fit to repel aggression in Southeast Asia.

Nine Dead

Gas Inferno Devours Motorists

MARTELANGE, Belgium (UPI)—Liquid gas from a damaged tank trailer exploded in a river of flame in the main street of this Belgian town Monday, trapping motorists in red-hot cars and pedestrians on blazing pavements.

The official death toll was nine, with 34 victims of burns, some of them in critical condition.

The second truck of a four-tanker convoy carrying natural gas from Holland to France swayed out of line as it was crossing a bridge in Martelange.

BRIDGE PARAPET

The bridge parapet gashed open the tank trailer, loosing the liquid cargo on pedestrians, parked cars and houses.

The tanker exploded almost immediately, setting the gas alight. The truck cab was blasted 35 yards down the street from the bridge. The driver's body was found in the cab. Pieces of the trailer slammed into a building 30 yards on the other side of the bridge.

CLOTHES AFLAME

Pedestrians, their clothes aflame, rushed blindly for shelter. Inhabitants of houses along the street ran out screaming as the buildings burst into flame.

The tide of flame destroyed 25 cars and six houses, damaging another 10 dwellings. The other trucks in the convoy escaped because of the distance between the vehicles.

Only minutes before the trucks rolled into the town with their deadly cargo a religious procession along the main street had dispersed.

Victoria's Sunday night sprinkling managed to wet windshields—but that's about all it did.

The scant .02 inch shower did nothing to solve the area's water problems and explosive forest situation.

View on Eve of Anglican Synod

Church Trying to Adjust To Modern-Day Trends

OTTAWA (CP) — The world is increasingly more skeptical about the Christian Church but the church is trying hard to adjust to the demands of modern times.

This was the view expressed Monday at a news conference on the eve of the 10-day general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada, in effect the national church's parliament.

"Every church feels we're all shook up," said Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada.

The church had fallen behind the rapid developments in the world because it "hasn't been concerned with first things." It had had a "pretty facade over life."

But despite its apparent slowness to deal with modern problems the church is "making a tremendous effort to adjust to the 20th century," said Rt. Rev. G. P. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, who with Bishop H. R. Hunt of Toronto, joined the primate at the conference.

YOUNG PEOPLE

Young people, the primate said, have "never been so serious" and were "much more interested in the basic questions of life" than were his generation.

"The world is increasingly skeptical of churches," Archbishop Clark said. "But I have never seen so many young people concerned for . . . the value of life."

Bishop Gower said he thinks the Christian religion has been a "whipping boy" but "I think the tide is turning."

The primate said he expects it will be at least 10 years before union of Anglicans with the United Church of Canada becomes a reality.

He said there have been misgivings in his church about union and that there is the possibility that some Anglicans will want to join the Roman Catholic Church rather than worship under a union church.

The union question is expected to be the subject of lively debate at the synod sessions starting formally today.

UVic Professors:

Communication Aids Learning

By BILL STAVDAL

Better learning depends on better communications — that's the message of two University of Victoria summer school professors of education.

Trite? Yes. But the fact is, say Dr. Virgil Logan and Dr. Lillian Logan, children aren't learning to listen and speak and read as well as they might.

Speech training is the answer, they believe.

'NO BETTER'

"A child will read no better than he speaks," said Dr. Lillian Logan.

"You can't speak well without thinking, and so speech training puts pressure on a child to think."

Her husband added:

"A good speaker can spot thin thinking and spurious reasoning."

The Doctors Logan between them have half a century of experience in education. Dr. Virgil holds degrees in theatre and speech correction, and Dr. Lillian's training is in education and music.

Now faculty members at the new Brandon University in Manitoba, they have taught in elementary schools, high schools and universities, mostly in the U.S.

Their third education textbook, A Dynamic Approach to Language Arts, was published this summer. It summarizes their belief that oral ability sets the pattern for written expression and language development.

Children in elementary schools now are called on to give impromptu talks via the "show-and-tell" system, they noted.

"But if the teacher has no speech training herself, she can't help her pupils," said Dr. Lillian.

Victorian, Companions Safe with Helicopter

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — A helicopter that disappeared 200 miles northeast of here early Monday was located later in the day. None of the three men aboard was reported injured.

A search aircraft spotted the helicopter on a mountain where it was forced to land because of engine trouble.

The aircraft, owned by Klondike Helicopters of Whitehorse, was piloted by Glen Tatterson of Montreal. Passengers were listed as a Mr. Speed of Victoria and Dick Wright, who were conducting a topographical survey of the area for Foothills Aviation of Calgary.

Bank of B.C. Losing Chief

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Frank Trebell made up his mind Monday he is not going to become a full-time banker.

The president and chief executive officer of the new Bank of British Columbia informed the board he will not continue in office after Oct. 1, and will return to his former post as president of Yorkshire Financial Corp.

In a phone interview at his home in Vancouver Monday night Mr. Terbell said, "I never said I intended to make banking my permanent job, nor did I say that I would not continue to hold the post under certain circumstances."

MAIN JOB

Mr. Trebell decided his main job for the bank had been completed with the raising of the capital and he had contractual ties with Yorkshire "which were very strong."

"I shall remain head of the bank until Oct. 1, by which time we expect the bank's certification to go into business will be ratified and the permanent officials will be appointed," he said.

NO RIFT

Mr. Trebell said that, in making the decision, there had been no rift with the bank and he was still as strong a supporter of the new organization as ever he had been.

"I believe the Bank of B.C. is going to be a truly significant institution and I shall support it in every way. My thinking on this has not changed one bit."

At the same time it was made clear during the share-selling campaign that Mr. Trebell had not agreed with the original decision to make the target 3,000,000 shares valued at $75,000,000.

KEPT OPEN

As it became certain the total would fall far short of that level, Mr. Trebell announced the offering would be kept open for an additional month to Aug. 15, and the shares would be limited to 1,000,000.

When the closing date came it was announced only about $11,000,000 (450,000 shares) had been raised.

Many construed this as a major setback for Premier Bennett, who had pressed for the initial $75,000,000 target, and for Mr. Trebell who had headed the drive.

It's News To Bennett

"It's all news to me," was Premier Bennett's only comment Monday on the retirement of Frank Trebell as president of the Bank of B.C.

Attorney-General Bonner also said he had "nothing whatever" to say about the resignation — but added, "I think that in itself is a very eloquent reply."

There was no information regarding a successor.

SETBACK FOR STEEL

The first serious reverse for many years to Canada's rapidly growing steel industry occurred this week at Sault Ste. Marie when Algoma Steel Corp. said it was suspending its $175,000,000 expansion program.

Algoma has been spending about $3,000,000 a month on a new blast furnace and plate mill. The company said its sales and profits did not warrant the spending of this mony at present.

Algoma is laying off 900 of its 6,300 steelworkers and another 300 construction workers are expected to follow as a result of the postponement.

FIRST HALF

Algoma Steel's difficulties are explained in the results of the first half of 1967. Net profit at $4,600,000 was down from $14,000,000 in the corresponding period of 1966.

Steel production facilities in Canada have grown rapidly in recent years, and the cooling off in car sales and slowdown in heavy construction work have contributed to an oversupply situation.

Foundation Co. of Canada is also hit by the news. It was the general contractor for the Algoma expansion.

BIG BANK MONTH

The Canadian Bankers Association says July was another big month for the chartered bank offices in the Victoria area.

During the month debits to individual accounts amounted to $507,800,000 compared with $426,000,000 in July, 1966. The July amount was also ahead of the June total of $503,300,000.

CPR OFFERS SWITCH

The CPR is offering the holders of its 4-per-cent preference shares of one pound par to convert them into similar preference shares of $3 (Canadian) par.

The company says the exchange will be made at three Canadian dollars to one pound, and is proposed because the majority of the holders of the preference shares now are Canadians.

The news put the price of the preference stock up from $9 to $10 on the Toronto Stock Exchange, where they trade in units of five shares.

TRUST TAKES ACTION

As a move to protect the secured noteholders of the financially embarrassed Alliance Credit Corp. of Montreal, Montreal Trust is taking over the assets and has appointed Industrial Acceptance Corp. to act as liquidator in the interests of the noteholders.

About 85 per cent of Alliance assets of $59,600,000 are held by the secured noteholders.

PROFITS DECLINE

Hollinger Consolidated Mines made a net profit in the first half of 1967 of $2,417,000 (49 cents) compared with $2,822,000 (57 cents) a year ago.

DROP IN PROFITS

Earnings of Falconbridge Nickel Mines for the first six months of 1967 are down to $10,731,000 ($2.19) from $13,800,000 ($2.82) in the corresponding period of 1966.

Egg Price Lowest In Memory

Small Grade A eggs in Victoria this week are being bought from producers at less than a cent apiece.

The official local egg market showed a sharp drop in prices ranking from four to two cents a dozen from last week. The producer price for small eggs was 11 cents a dozen.

"I cannot ever remember eggs selling at this level before," said an egg market spokesman.

Winter Works Cut Rapped

A federal proposal to scale down winter works assistance to wealthier urban centres throughout Canada is wholly unacceptable to B.C., Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell said Monday.

Mr. Campbell made public the text of an Aug. 10 letter from federal Manpower Minister Marchand cutting the federal 50-per-cent subsidy toward wages on winter work projects to 25 per cent in all but the poorer areas.

Mr. Campbell said: "We're thoroughly fed up with federal formulas which multiply the amount of maple syrup produced in Quebec by the number of lobster pots in Nova Scotia and the number of potato sacks in New Brunswick and subtract the total from the B.C. share of whatever program is involved."

PAST EXPERIENCE

He predicted that, if past experience was any guide, B.C. would receive none of the 50-per-cent grants allocated to the so-called poorer areas. This was just a matter of semantics, he said, a way of saying "some provinces will get the higher aid and others won't."

The reduction in the federal labor grant will "completely gut" the winter works program in B.C., which Mr. Campbell said was not perfect but had done much to get employables off the welfare rolls in the past.

ANOTHER OBJECTION

Mr. Campbell said he also objected strongly to the increasingly frequent federal practice of entering shared programs by negotiation with the provinces and, when it suited Ottawa, withdrawing unilaterally.

Mr. Marchan said he was aware the cut in aid would be regretted. But he noted that in the larger and wealthier urban areas a considerable amount of winter construction is done in the normal course of events.

He added: "I have to remember that the purpose of the (winter works) program is to shift construction employment from summer to winter, not to support the expansion of municipal services."

Extra 50 Cents For Tradesmen

A new minimum wage schedule for the B.C. construction industry was announced Monday, with tradesmen getting a minimum of $2.50 an hour and other workers $1.65.

★ ★ ★

Labor Minister Peterson said the new order affects most of the 60,000 employees in the industry. It replaces the existing schedule of $2 an hour for tradesmen and $1.50 an hour for other employees on Oct. 2.

★ ★ ★

Provision is also made for time and half for workers employed more than eight hours a day and 40 hours a week. Employees reporting for work at the call of their employer get their regular rate of pay with a minimum of two hours.

SIU Gets Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO maritime trades department Monday pledged full support of the Seafarers International Union of Canada's strike against Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River shipping.

President Paul Hall and executive secretary Peter McGavin said the walkout would have the "unstinting" support of the department's 38 affiliated unions.

"This strike has been forced upon your members by a management that is apparently unwilling to accept the facts of 20th century labor-management relations," read a telegram to Leonard McLaughlin, president of the SIU.

The walkout began Aug. 17 with the union demanding wage increases, application of Canada's 40-hour work-week and other contract changes.

Municipalities' Topic

Island Highway Road of Eyesores

A resolution asking the provincial government to pass regulations banning eyesores on arterial roads and waterways will be introduced by the Victoria contingent at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Prince George in September.

The issue was brought up in Victoria city council by Ald. Robert Baird who returned disgusted from a trip up Vancouver Island.

Lumber yards, car wrecking establishments and other unsightly businesses were turning one of the great B.C. scenic roads into a disgrace, he said.

The alderman took action in conjunction with the Associated Chambers of Vancouver Island.

CROSSING QUESTION

A second Victoria resolution will ask the federal board of transport commissioners to look into the matter of safe railway grade crossings.

Hospital construction grants and costs are the subjects of resolutions from Oak Bay and Saanich.

The Oak Bay resolution will ask B.C. to assume an increasingly large share of construction costs and the motion from Saanich will seek a thorough review of the B.C. Hospital Insurance System with the aim of closer liaison between provincial and other hospital officials.

HEALTH CONCERN

Problems of water and soil pollution and resulting health hazards are a concern of Saanich.

The Saanich motion will ask immediate expansion of the functions of the Pollution Control Board and financial assistance for municipalities in the intallation of sewer facilities.

Motels Win Overnight Truck Ban

City regulations banning heavy truck traffic on Belleville Street between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m. have gone into effect.

Civic officials said Monday notification of a new bylaw banning heavy traffic during the night hours has been sent out to trucking firms which use the route.

The night prohibition was imposed by city council after motel operators in the area complained the sound of the trucks was keeping their patrons awake.

A. R. Williams— the materials handling people

We sell materials handling equipment – namely CLARK industrial trucks. We've been in the business a good many years, so we know what it's all about. To put it simply, we sell things that move things. Our team has been together for quite a while and we've made quite a name for ourselves. That's because we don't just sell machines – we sell the whole concept of modern materials handling. We sell the most efficient and most economical means of moving things from one place to another, and we back it all up with a Parts and Service organization that is second to none. If your business involves moving materials, we should get together. We both stand to gain from the association.

Last Oily Smudge Fades From Soggy Tank Farm

MONTREAL (CP) — Wind blew away the last wisps of a huge black pall of smoke Monday as firemen mopped up after an oil-fed two-day inferno that burned at least 5,000,000 gallons of petroleum products in the east-end depot of the Calex Oil Co.

An exhausted force of more than 200 firemen, who had poured more than 350,000,000 gallons of water over blazing tanks and nearby reservoirs, was still on the scene late in the day playing hoses over heated equipment.

Engineers of Calex estimated Monday at least 4,500,000 gallons of light oil had burned, plus more than 300,008 gallons of gasoline. They put property and fuel losses at more than $8,000,000.

Meanwhile, investigators investigatrd the area for clues to the cause of the blaze which apparently began about 1:30 a.m. Saturday at a loading ramp where a 3,000-gallon truck was discharging oil, and then erupted in balls of flame and smoke.

Trucker Armand Page and one fireman who suffered severe leg burns were sent to hospital during the huge blaze which worsened when a tank exploded about 10 hours after the outbreak began.

Orange fire and black billowing smoke created a huge mushroom-shaped pall that could be seen for 25 miles from some points before the flames ran out of fuel and died late Sunday.

A company spokesman said early Monday the depot will go back into operation using undamaged tanks and loading platforms as soon as firemen leave.

Mexican Union Quarrel Ends in Deadly Gunfight

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—A blazing gun battle between two rival factions at the 25th anniversary banquet of a copra growers union Sunday left 22 persons dead and an estimated 100 wounded in this Pacific Coast resort.

Police and soldiers rounded up 184 persons for questioning. Those involved are men who grow and harvest copra—dried coconut meat—either on their own or by hiring workers.

Claudio Monreal, Acapulco police commander, said one group of about 600 men was holding the banquet at the two-storey building of the regional copra-growers union. Another group of about 1,000, dissatisfied with a recent union election, gathered outside.

Cesar del Angel, a representative in the state government of Veracruz, was a leader of the uninvited contingent, said Mario Jaime Palacios, an agent of the Acapulco attorney general's office.

Del Angel was first reported killed in the shooting, then wounded, then fleeing to the hills with police and soldiers on his trail.

One witness reported that Del Angel entered the building during the celebration to negotiate for more representation for his faction in the union. He then left the building and a few minutes later ordered the door kicked down.

At that point shots were fired from the crowd outside, and persons inside the building returned the fire, some with machine-guns.

Police Chase Ends In Triple Fatality

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three persons were killed Sunday when their station wagon was hit broadside by a car police were chasing.

Dead on arrival at Royal Columbian Hospital were Kenneth Smith, 27, his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Smith, 55, and Mrs. Smith's sister, Florence Monsen, 50.

The victims were within a block of their Burnaby home when the accident occurred.

Police have charged Danny Watson Rowland, 22, with dangerous driving.

They said a chase began just before midnight Saturday when a car was noticed exceeding the 30-miles-an-hour speed limit. A chase, at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, followed, police said.

Two other persons in the Rowland car were confined to hospital with injuries. They were Connie Rowland, 20, and Alex McDougal, 21. Rowland was released from hospital after treatment.

When the collision occurred, the station wagon was driven 90 feet along Thirteenth Ave. and came to rest on a sidewalk.

U Thant Envoy On Way

From UPI, AP

A special envoy for UN Secretary-General U Thant arrived in Israel Monday to investigate the Israeli annexation of the old city of Jerusalem.

The Israeli government sent extra police patrols into the old city in a show of force which succeeded in preventing a general strike of Arab shopkeepers, which had been called to show the UN the strikers opposed Israeli rule.

THANT ENVOY

Thant's envoy, Ernesto Thalmann, said he would begin his work by meeting Israeli Foreign Minister Eban today.

Jordan, racing against an Aug. 31 deadline set by Israel, sent 1,908 Arab refugees back to their homes in Israeli-occupied territory Monday.

Sweating in the desert heat and loaded down with children in their arms and their few possessions bundled in dusty blankets, the Jordanians trudged across two bridges on the Jordan River ceasefire line in the third day of the massive program.

FLED ACROSS

Some 170,000 of the estimated 235,000 refugees who fled across the river have applied to go back home and the Jordanian government, crippled by the overwhelming refugee problem, is urging them to leave.

Jordan and the Red Cross have suggested that Israel extend the deadline.

In Jerusalem, Israeli occupation officials have abandoned plans to introduce their own textbooks into the west bank of Jordan schools next month after opposition by Jordanian teachers.

Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel Sedan, $4,725.

You can buy cheaper sedans than the 250S, cheaper sports cars than the 250SL, and cheaper economy sedans than the 200 Diesel. But if they don't perform as well or last as long, they're no bargain. And the bald fact is that few cars perform as well or last as long as those built by Mercedes-Benz.

The reason: Mercedes-Benz builds its cars up to a standard, not down to a price. Read more about the 250S, the 200 Diesel, and the 250SL—and find why each one is worth every penny of its cost.

250S: the "luxury" car without an ounce of fat.

If you're weary of spongy riding, sloppy steering, overstyled status symbols, the 250S provides a refreshing change.

This is one $6500 sedan that bases its appeal on superior engineering, not mere pomp. As a result, it utterly outruns its rivals. And yet it does so while carrying you and four passengers in hushed comfort: "There is as little engine noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," wrote one automotive journalist after a brisk test run.

The reasons why

Some engineering features you get in the 250S and not found among its major competitors: a fully independent suspension system designed to excel on the worst roads of the world as well as the best; 4-wheel disc brakes that draw you down to smooth, level stops—and banish heart-stopping brake fade from your driving life; and a 4-speed automatic transmission you can shift like a manual gearbox.†

The 250S even has a shock absorber built into its steering system. High-speed, 6-ply rated tires are standard. And an automatic load-leveling device, built into the rear axle, is standard as well.

A nit-picker's despair

Your 250S will make most other $6500 cars look shabby by comparison. Its deep, firmly padded, armchair-like front seats are hand-sewn and hand-trimmed in the company's own upholstery shop. Slender fillets of genuine walnut adorn the windowsills. The final enamel body coat is hand-sprayed, then hand-rubbed.

Showroom snoopers: Check the underside of the dash—you'll find it's fully trimmed and finished, too.

200 Diesel: an economy car so economical it doesn't use gasoline.

Mercedes-Benz pioneered the building of Diesel-powered passenger cars 31 years ago.

Company engineers had a hunch that the Diesel's advantages of low upkeep and long life would find a ready market.

The engineers' hunch was right. Mercedes-Benz has built 500,000 Diesels since 1936. And a recent survey found that over 87% are still running.

A Diesel engine sidesteps the combustion methods used in gasoline power plants—and does away with spark plugs, points, condensers, even carburetors.

Diesel fuel is injected directly into the combustion chambers, where it's ignited by the heat of sheer pressure instead of a spark. The Diesel principle is so efficient that far less fuel is wasted—and so powerful that a 200 Diesel engine's compression ratio is twice that of a Cadillac.

Diesel murmur

This powerful compression helps cause a sound commonly called "Diesel knock," most noticeable at idling speed. It's more of a "Diesel murmur" these days.

With its sturdy components, simplified design and economic diesel fuel supply, the 200 Diesel can actually shave running costs down to the amount you'd spend to drive a small gasoline economy car. And remember that a single tankful can take you more than 500 miles.

This is an economy car?

Aside from its low running costs, the 200 Diesel shows few signs of being an "economy" model. You ride on a fully independent suspension. You stop with the power of front (power-assisted) disc brakes. Inside, there is ample space for five normal-sized adults.

And the rest of your 200 Diesel should last as long as that hardy engine.

Its heavy-gauge steel body is welded in 10,000 spots, coated with 24 pounds of primer and 24 more pounds of permanent plasticized undercoating, and patiently hand-sanded before painting. When it is painted, it's painted three times.

250SL: at last—a sports car for grown-ups.

This largely hand-assembled two-seater is a sports car for grown-ups. It doesn't ride like an oxcart, look like a rocket ship or sound like a Grand Prix racing machine.

Standard comforts include contoured, orthopedically designed seats with reclining backrests; 7 separate heating and ventilation controls (with a set for both driver and passenger); and 28¾ inches of forward legroom—more than many luxury sedans.

Yet the 250SL also performs. Its fuel-injection, 6-cylinder, single-overhead camshaft engine could loaf all day at 101 mph (if legal). And that sophisticated, rear swing-axle suspension has earned high praise for its road-holding abilities.

The 250SL stops, too—with the sure stopping power of a 4-wheel disc brake system.

Mercedes-Benz has often taken to the racing track to prove new designs and display its engineering skills. Shown here: the world-champion 300SLR sports-racing car of 1955. This "Silver Arrow" pioneered the rear swing-axle suspension now used on all Mercedes-Benz passenger cars.

One More Medal

Canada's top athlete in Paraplegic Pan-American Games, Mrs. Keith Vinden, 901 Lakeview, was honored by Saanich council Monday night. Coun. Edith Gunning presented flowers after Reeve Hugh Curtis gave Mrs. Vinden, 26, winner of six gold and two silver medals, a special Centennial medal. —(Kinsman)

To Visitors Bureau: That's Final

No, No, No, No, Again No

Saanich council Monday night gave its fifth and last "no" to the Victoria Visitors Bureau's request for $3,000.

Since last spring, it twice has been considered by commitees, whose decisions were subsequently confirmed by council.

"I don't mind a second look," said Coun. Harold Todd. "But this is the fifth look. We already have made four decisions on this thing."

"One has to ask if the business firms which benefit directly (from the bureau) are fully supporting it," said Reeve Hugh Curtis, again suggesting a room tax.

Councillors Ed Lum and William Campbell were in favor of the $3,000 grant and Coun. Edith Gunning suggested a fraction of that sum be offered.

In other business, council decided the controversial Prospect Lake water issue will be decided by the secret ballot on Saturday, Sept. 16.

Council gave first three readings to a bylaw that would allow construction of a $229,455 system to lakeside-dwellers as well as residents of Fairholme and Westholme roads.

TOLD LATER

It will require a 50 per cent favorable vote before council can give the bylaw final reading. Of the total estimate, the municipality's share will be $86,450 and the customers will have to pay $143,000.

Residents will be told later how much it will cost them on a yearly basis. There will be three ballot boxes, so that council can measure the opinion from each of the areas involved.

Fair Official Hints Rebuilding Plans

The cause of the fire which swept through the Luxton fair grounds Saturday afternoon is still under investigation, Langford Fire Chief Allen Le Queme said Monday.

The blaze apparently began when a chicken house burst into flames.

Langford firemen were back to the fairgrounds Monday to douse a couple of hot spots, Mr. Le Queme said.

Howard Drummond, secretary of the Luxton Fall Fair, said a directors' meeting would be held, probably this week.

"We have rebuilding plans," he said.

The five buildings destroyed were insured, he said, and damage was estimated at about $9,000, with an additional $6,000 worth of equipment lost.

However, an estimate of the replacement cost of the barn-type buildings was $51,000, Mr. Drummond said.

"Already we have received offers of labor and help," Mr. Drummond said. "We are pleased that people are taking this much interest in us."

Attacks Athlete's Foot

Fungus responsible for athlete's foot readily soaks up TINACTIN®, a new antifungus preparation. Absorption is usually complete. Even tiny traces are attacked, greatly minimizing chance of reinfection. Already proven highly successful, TINACTIN is non-stinging, odorless, non-staining – rapidly soothes and relieves soreness, itching and irritation of athlete's foot. VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Wine Press Refused Esquimalt Outlet

Esquimalt municipal council turned thumbs down on a publication of the Victoria Youth Council, at its regular meeting Monday.

Coun. Roy Elphick labelled the Wine Press "nothing but a pack of filth."

He was speaking against a request by the youth council for exemption from a business licence fee to solicit sales of the publication in Esquimalt. Similar requests have been made recently to Oak Bay and Saanich without concurrence.

NO DOG-LOVER

Coun. Arthur Mebs said he was not exactly a dog-lover, in speaking against passage of a request by the SPCA for a $6,500 contribution from Esquimalt council as its part of the society's dog-control program.

"To be blunt, I loathe dogs. Why should I have to help other people's dogs so they can make themselves a nuisance in my backyard?" Coun. Mebs asked.

Coun. Elphick agreed it was hard to visualize how the society determined its formula of cost-sharing.

PASSING THROUGH

"How do they know they are not Oak Bay or Saanich dogs just passing through Esquimalt on their way back home?"

The figures showed, Coun. Mebs said, that Esquimalt takes in $3,000 a year in dog licence fees, leaving it up to the taxpayers to find the additional $3,500.

The matter was referred to the finance committee for study and report.

Are You A Slow Reader?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to double your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher, anyone, regardless of his present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve his reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "How to Read Faster and Retain More," mailed free. Four Teams Tighten Pennant Race

Will it be Chicago pitching, Boston hitting or Minnesota balance which will finally prevail in the boiling American League pennant chase? Or will Detroit Tigers beat all three?

Out of the slump which cost them the lead, Chicago's White Sox moved back into a tie with the idle Twins yesterday but Boston's Red Sox are in a thundering pursuit featuring an attack which leads the league in producing runs.

After a doubleheader sweep over Baltimore Orioles Sunday, the White Sox made it three in a row and six victories in eight games last night by holding on to edge New York Yankees, 4-3.

But the Red Sox are moving even faster, blasting away at a pace which has brought them five successive victories and seven wins in eight games.

They bowled over Washington Senators, 6-5, last night when Elston Howard broke a 5-5 tie with a ninth-inning single, which scored Jerry Adair.

Adair and the hot-hitting Carl Yastrzemski shared the honors Sunday in a spectacular double victory which disposed of California Angels as a threat for the time being at least.

CARL'S BAT HOT

With Yastrzemski hitting a three-run homer and Reg Smith driving in four runs with two homers, Red Sox eased to a 12-3 win in the first game behind Lee Stange's steady pitching.

But they were trailing, 0-8, batting in the fourth inning of the second game. They got one run in the fourth, then three runs in the fifth and four in the sixth as Yastrzemski unloaded his 31st homer for three more runs and Adair tied the score with a run-producing single.

That done, Adair broke the tie with his second home run of the season in the eighth inning and the Red Sox had themselves a 9-8 win.

The Twins dropped back Sunday by taking a 7-3 beating from the Yankees but Detroit Tigers, also idle yesterday, stayed close with a 4-2, 4-0 sweep of Cleveland Indians.

John Hiller, an unheralded lefthander from Scarborough, Ont., called up when tendonitis sidelined veteran Johnny Podres, pitched a four-hitter, struck out four and walked only one in the shutout win.

It all left the Red Sox just a game behind the co-leaders, and just a game ahead of the fourth-place Tigers.

Medico Urges Ban On Chuvalo

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The international medical adviser of the World Boxing Association Monday recommended that Canadian heavyweight boxer George Chuvalo be suspended as a medical risk.

Dr. Leon Feldman told delegates to the 1967 WBA convention here that both Chuvalo and Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, should be suspended on medical grounds.

CLAY DISCUSSED

Chuvalo, of Toronto, was stopped in the fourth round of his scheduled 12-round fight against Joe Frazier in New York last month after Frazier opened a cheek cut. Doctors later said Chuvalo, who had never been stopped in previous fights, suffered a broken cheekbone.

The subject of Cassius Clay, the dethroned heavyweight champion, loomed large in other WBA discussions.

Latin American delegates threatened to walk out of the convention as it opened here Monday if they weren't treated "democratically."

RESENTMENT GROWS

Secretary Rodrigo Sanchez of the Panamanian Boxing Commission made the threat in an interview as resentment grew over American control of the WBA.

WBA President Robert Evans defended the action against Clay as "the most outstanding thing we've done" this last year. The WBA dethroned Clay because he refused the U.S. military draft.

But the Latin delegation said withdrawal of Clay's recognition as champion was railroaded through the WBA's executive committee.

"Clay was champion of the world, not just the United States," Sanchez said.

Ranjit Dillon, shown here receiving the Blackstock Memorial Trophy from club-president Doug Fletcher for being selected the most valuable player with Victoria Shamrocks, subsequently received two more trophies last night. He also won the Dillabough Memorial Trophy for being chosen as the Shamrock providing the greatest inspiration and sportsmanlike conduct and the Stocker Trophy for leading his club in points. Brother Nirmal won the Hunt and Patterson Trophy for maintaining the highest standard of physical health and ability, Bill Munroe won the Directors' Trophy as the most improved player, Ted Liebich won the Bacon Memorial Trophy for being the most competitive player and Doug Thompson won the Bradshaw Memorial Trophy as the club's top rookie.—(Bud Kinsman)

Rocks Humble Adanacs With Display of Power

By JIM TANG

It was all but unbelievable.

Victoria Shamrocks, who had loped through the first two games of the best-of-five Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinal, took to their heels Monday night and literally ran Coquitlam Adanacs out of Memorial Arena.

In a spectacular performance of speed, ball-hawking and thread-the-needle shooting, Shamrocks walloped the Adanacs, 23-2, to force a fourth game in Coquitlam Wednesday night.

For almost 10 minutes it looked as if a fourth game might not be needed. Although Shamrocks had the odd-man edge three times in a row in the early going, they couldn't get organized.

They got the first goal at 5:59 with both clubs shorthanded, were tied at 7:45 and were scratching to hold a 2-1 lead when they suddenly came to life.

TURN ON SPEED

They did it the only way they really can do it—by turning on the speed. With their heavier opponents completely baffled and floundering, Shamrocks scored 13 goals between the time Fred Usselman scored Adanacs' first goal and Gordie Gimple got their second on a power play at 12:50 of the second period.

Bill Russell, who was a big help, got things really started when he grabbed a high rebound in front of the goal and got his shot away as he went over backwards.

It was typical of a dozen goals last night. The Shamrocks nipped in for the loose balls, checked hard and hounded the Adanacs into mistakes.

Bill Harris made it 4-1 less than three minutes after Russell had scored, snapping up the rebound after a shot on a fast-moving play and beating the frustrated Joe Comeau.

MORE TO COME

And then it was Ranjit Dillon leaving Rod Bodnar and Doug Wallsmith wallowing in his wake as they tried to double-team him on a Coquitlam power play for 5-1 at the end of the first period.

It was probably the fastest period of the season, but the fans had seen nothing yet.

Ray Beech scored at 1:15 of the second period on a quick shot, Reg Foster got his second goal with both clubs short at 3:59 and Glen Vickers scored with Shamrocks shorthanded at 5:08.

It was 8-1 but the Shamrocks had just started. With Barry Forbes making a couple of brilliant stops while Showers served a penalty, they didn't take off again until 9:06.

SCORED IN BUNCHES

In exactly three minutes they beat the helpless Joe Comeau six times.

Bill Gray started the charge, beating Mike Gates on the right side and then grabbing the faceoff to thunder past Gordie Gimple for a second goal at 9:28.

Jim McNeil went around John Surinak for 11-1 at 9:58, Nirmal Dillon scored prettily on a Bill Munroe pass for a power-play goal at 11:49, Gray thundered back from the resultant faceoff for 13-1 at 11:56 and Foster picked up a loose ball, made a great shift and it was 14-1 at 12:06.

Embarrassed and irritated, Adanacs roughed it up whenever they could get a piece of a Shamrock but Whitey Severson, who did a standout job of refereeing, continued to keep things in check. And the Rocks continued to pour it on.

Felled by a vicious check from Bill Bradley after he had neatly set up Jackie Showers for 15-2, Ranjit Dillon came back on the power play to whip the ball past Comeau for the second of his three goals.

Then it was Showers on a pretty play with Russell for the 12th goal of the middle period and a 17-2 bulge.

A series of penalties, featured by majors to Munroe and Jack Barclay, who came out to get even after Munroe had accidentally hit Wallsmith, slowed play for a while in the third period.

Then it was Ranjit Dillon, leaving Usselman and Marty Jordan flatfooted as he cut between, at 11:48, Beech at 12:27, Foster at 13:26, Showers at 14:00, Beech again at 16:25. And, finally, Munroe just beating the clock.

Harrelson Follows Dark As K.C. Trouble Flares

BALTIMORE (AP) — First baseman Ken Harrelson was unconditionally released and star relief pitcher Jack Aker was fined $250 by Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley Monday in an aftermath of a shakeup that resulted in the firing of manager Al Dark.

Harrelson had been critical of Dark's release early Sunday and said he had told Finley, that his actions the last few days were "bad for baseball."

RESENTMENT GROWS

Secretary Rodrigo Sanchez of the Panamanian Boxing Commission made the threat in an interview as resentment grew over American control of the WBA.

WBA President Robert Evans defended the action against Clay as "the most outstanding thing we've done" this last year. The WBA dethroned Clay because he refused the U.S. military draft.

But the Latin delegation said withdrawal of Clay's recognition as champion was railroaded through the WBA's executive committee.

"Clay was champion of the world, not just the United States," Sanchez said.

Aker, team player representative, summoned by Finley to Washington from Baltimore to join the meeting that led to Dark's dismissal, was slapped with the fine for breaking curfew. Finley said he was unable to reach Aker in Baltimore for the meeting until 1:10 a.m. Sunday and the club's curfew is midnight after a day game.

The series of incidents was touched off when pitcher Lew Krausse was suspended last Firday because of an alleged incident on a recent airline flight.

The players then drafted a statement Saturday which said in part:

"We players feel that if Mr. Finley would give his fine coaching staff and excellent manager the authority they deserve, these problems would not exist."

After Finley read the statement, he said: "This compels me to withhold the announcement of a two-year Dark contract until further consideration."

After an all-night meeting, Finley dismissed Dark Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Finley

Dark said Monday he knew and approved of the players' statement criticizing Finley and termed it "the most courageous thing I have ever seen."

"With courage of this type, these boys are potential pennant winners and Mr. Finley should be proud of them," Dark said in a formal statement which he said was needed "to set the record straight."

"I want to point out that I disagreed with Mr. Finley about the Krausse fine. This was a case of singling out one ball player and making him look bad. It was also a reflection of the entire team.

"When I went to Mr. Finley's room at 7 p.m. Saturday he told me he was going to fire me. We discussed the team at length and later he offered me a two-year contract. We were discussing the contract when Paul O'Boynick of the Kansas City Star came to the room and asked Mr. Finley if he had seen the players' statement.

"I knew the players were drafting a statement. They did it with my approval, but I did not instigate it."

Speedy New Halfback Signed by B.C. Lions

VANCOUVER—B.C. Lions have announced the signing of a new defensive-halfback they believe will win a regular position.

Coming to the winless Canadian Football League club is Bob Hall, former Brown University player acquired from Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League.

Hall, 23 years old and 198 pounds, set 15 university records and five Ivy League records at Brown, where he was voted the best sophomore in the East in 1963, the outstanding player in the northeast in 1965 and was an all-Ivy League choice in both 1963 and 1965.

The Lions have also announced that defensive-end Tom Brown will go to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., this week for examination of the neck injury which has plagued him for two seasons.

Brown is expected back for Sunday's game at Empire Stadium against Calgary Stampeders.

Oak Bay, Hornets Win First Starts

Defending B.C. champions Oak Bay Farmer Construction opened the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League season with a bang Sunday, drubbing James Bay Athletic Association Mustangs, 23-6, at Macdonald Park.

Victoria Hornets shutout Cowichan Timbermen, 9-0, in the other game at Duncan.

Bruce Panton scored two touchdowns for Farmers, on runs of 35 and 11 yards while gaining 103 of Oak Bay's 218 yards rushing.

OTHER SCORING

Glen Moffatt scored the other Farmer touchdown while Gary Johnson kicked three converts. Bob McMynn got the Bay's other points by dumping the Mustang quarterback for a rouge.

Halfback Dave Coleman scored JBAA's touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Stu Wells scored a touchdown for Hornets while Dave Grandin added a convert and two singles.

Softball Cup Series Opens

Northwestern Creamery dumped James Bay Athletic Association, 7-3, Monday at Macdonald Park in the first game of the best-of-three series for the challenge trophy between the playoff winners of the Industrial and Commercial Softball Leagues.

Second game will be played Wednesday at Macdonald at 6:30 p.m.

Carlings Win Softball Crown

Carlings trounced Colony Inn, 12-3, Sunday to take the best-of-seven Men's Senior Open Softball League finals, 4-1, at Central Park.

Rollie Clarke survived a three-run outburst in the second inning as Colony went ahead, 3-2, scattering seven hits to pick up the victory.

Bob Holness, Harvey Stevenson and Norm Curran clouted successive home runs for Carlings to start the six-run rally in the sixth inning.

EXHIBITION GAME

In an exhibition game Sunday, league winners Luckies dumped the junior men's all-stars, 7-0, as Glenn Langsett and Jack Lundquist combined for a three-hitter.

Al Robertson hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning for the winners.

Transports Walk To Series Lead

Transports, the heaviest hitting team in the Senior Amateur Baseball League usually club their way to a victory. But Monday at Athletic Park they scored their first five runs without a hit and went on to defeat Greaves, 7-5.

It was the third straight win for Transports and gave them a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven playoff finals.

Transports had their big inning in the second when Jerry Lister lost his control after John McKeachie reached first after striking out. Lister walked six baters before Stan Thame came on to retire the side.

Gord Strongman, who had a two-hit shutout going before Greaves erupted for five runs on five hits in the eighth inning, got credit for the win and hit two singles and a sacrifice fly.

The series continues tonight at Royal Athletic Park at 6:30 p.m.

No Surgery for Young Boston Star

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Orr, Boston Bruins prize rookie defenceman, will make it back just in time for the start of the 1967-68 National Hockey League season after suffering injury to a knee ligament Thursday.

Dr. John Palmer, a Toronto orthopedic surgeon, said Monday the knee "was investigated under anaesthetic this afternoon, but we did not find enough damage to require surgery.

★ ★ ★

"The knee was placed in a cast where it will stay for two to three weeks. He should be ready to play two to three weeks later—just about the time the schedule opens.

"There's no reason to expect the recovery will be other than complete."

DECLINES COMMENT

Earlier it was thought the 19-year-old NHL rookie-of-the-year for 1966 would require remedial surgery after being in a collision during a benefit hockey game in Winnipeg for needy former professional hockey players.

Orr was not taking calls following the examination Monday afternoon.

But prior to the examination, he said in an interview:

"I got hurt in a three-player collision. I don't know who hit me. ....."

At the same time he absolved Bob Leiter, another piece of Bruin property playing with Orr on the all-star team against Canada's national team, of any blame in the accident. Leiter had been blamed for the accident.

★ ★ ★

Bobby

Much less generous Sunday after hearing of the injury to Orr was Milt Schmidt, general manager of the Bruins, who said no Bruin player had been given permission to play in the game and suggested an investigation of the circumstances.

But Orr confirmed "permission was given somewhere for me to play" and James Dunn, president of the sponsoring Manitoba Old Timers' Hockey Association, said Tom Johnson gave the permission.

Johnson, a former defence great with Montreal Canadiens, now is assistant to Weston Adams, president of the Bruins.

Schmidt said he had talked to Orr about the accident but "so much of what I hear is hearsay that I'd rather not elaborate until I know all the facts."

DEBBIE MEYER and Catie Ball, two U.S. stars at the Pan-American Games earlier this month, both set world records Sunday in the National Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships in Philadelphia. Miss Meyer was timed in 17:50.2 minutes for the 1,500 metres freestyle and Miss Ball in 2:39.5 for the 200-metres breaststroke . . . Scotland's Jackie Stewart won the Grand Prix of the Mediterranean Sunday with an average speed of 142.5 miles an hour . . . Ed O'Bradovich, 255-pound defensive-end who announced his retirement earlier, has come to terms with Chicago Bears of the National Football League. He was fined $100 for each of the 26 days he missed training camp and the money was turned over to the Chicago Community Fund.

Camille

AKRON VULCANS of the Continental Football League have dismissed general-manger Tobin Rote and head coach Doak Walker and named assistant coach Lou Rymkus to take Walker's place. Rote and Walker were believed to have salaries which totalled $40,000 . . . George Knudson and Al Balding have been named as the Canadian team for the professional World Cup golf matches in Mexico in November . . . Gary Player and Harold Henning were the South African choices for the same competition . . . New York Rangers have reacquired the services of Camille Henry, whose 248 goals make him the second-highest scorer in club history. Chicago Black Hawks are to get an unnamed player in return.

B.C. Team Leads Junior Golf Play

TORONTO (CP) — Doug Stewart, 17, of Vancouver, carded a three-over-par 73 Monday to lead his British Columbia team to first place in the first round of the junior interprovincial golf matches.

Eight provinces are represented by four-man teams, with New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island playing as a single entry. The B.C. team, made up of Cec Ferguson of Victoria, Tom Moryson of Port Hammond and Doug Roxburgh of Vancouver, scored 305.

Ferguson shot 80, Moryson 77, and Roxburgh 75. Individual scores are also counted in the 36-hole qualifying round of the Canadian junior golf championship.

ONTARIO SECOND

Ontario was seven strokes back at 312. Nova Scotia had 315, Manitoba 316, Saskatchewan 319, Alberta 320, Quebec 322, NB. - P.E.I. 328 and Newfoundland 346.

Ian Thomas of London, and Tim McCutcheon of Peterborough, both shot two-over-par 72s to lead the field into the final round of the 36-hole medal play qualifying round today.

The low 64 qualifiers will enter match play Wednesday through Saturday.

Brian Gandy of Victoria carded an opening 85.

Exhibition Park

Bob Weinberg Takes Feature

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bob Weinberg, a five-year-old gelding with apprentice jockey Brian Swatuk in the saddle, won the featured seventh race at Exhibition Park Monday.

The winner was four lengths ahead of longshot Sefton Park at the stretch turn but Sefton Park made a driving finish to cut the lead to 2½ lengths at the wire.

Keno's Boy, another longshot, was third, two lengths behind the second place finisher.

Bob Weinberg ran the 6½ furlongs in 1:17 3/5 and paid $4.40, $3.30 and $2.70. Sefton Park paid $12.40 and $5.00 and Keno's Boy paid $5.00.

Captures Hartford Open

First Big Win for Sifford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Charles Sifford, 44-year-old Negro golfer from Los Angeles, won the $20,000 first prize at the Greater Hartford open golf tournament Sunday when he closed with a seven-under-par 64 for a 72-hole total of 272.

His 12-under score edged Steve Opperman, 25-year-old pro from San Francisco, by one stroke as both sought their first victory in a regular Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

DOUBLES WINNINGS

Opperman's best finish in four years as a pro earned $12,000. Sifford's first prize of $20,000 nearly doubled his 1967 winnings to a total of $45,280.

Smoking five cigars during his round, Sifford hit every shot and putt with his trademark cigar clenched in his teeth. After sinking a tricky putt of about four feet on the final green, he said: "I didn't even think about how long it was. I was just trying to get it into the hole."

Sifford, whose victories in non-PGA competition over a 20-year career include six Negro open championships, came out of a pack of golfers contending for the lead in the final nine holes.

Sifford eagled the par five 14th hole at the Wethersfield Country Club to move into the lead. At that point he sank a wedge shot from heavy grass 25 yards off the green.

Opperman's chance to tie was lost at the 17th, a par three, where he missed the green, chipped poorly and missed a 15-foot putt.

FOUR-WAY TIE

Two strokes behind Sifford, tied for third, were Gary Player of South Africa, Dan Sikes Jr., Doug Ford and Ray Floyd.

Third-round leader Terry Dill finished with a one-over 72 to fall into a tie with Frank Beard and Kel Nagle of Australia at 275, three strokes back.

A big surprise was staged by 19-year-old Bobby Cole of South Africa, rookie pro who won the 1966 British amateur. He finished with a 68 for 276.

SPECIAL DISTINCTION

Dave Hill, who fired a 61 Friday and trailed by one stroke after three rounds, managed only 72 Sunday to also finish at 276 as did Toronto's Al Balding.

Beard had a special distinction to console him for winning only $3,100. He played 72 holes without a single hole over par, scoring nine birdies and 63 pars.

The streak snapped the PGA record of 57 holes without a bogey set by Doug Sanders at the Western Open last month.

If you're not sure of your tires, stop calling it the family car.

We know what you're thinking: to buy a set of really safe tires would cost you a lot of money.

That's all changed.

The tire that changed it is the new Goodyear polyester. It's one of the safest tires ever made.

Yet you can buy one for about thirty dollars.

The tires are safer, because they're built with incredibly strong polyester cord. It's considered the most significant improvement in tires in 20 years.

It's another first from Goodyear.

Goodyear polyesters have all the advantages of nylon and rayon cord tires with none of the disadvantages. The major car manufacturers have selected them as original equipment on their new cars. And not just because they're safer.

These polyesters are also true long distance tires.

They've practically eliminated the problem of cuts and impact breaks.

They're quieter and they're also smoother riding.

They won't 'flat spot' overnight. So, no irritating morning thump.

They'll even improve your gas mileage.

Like all Goodyear tires, the new polyesters are fully covered by Goodyear's lifetime quality and road hazard guarantees.

Talk to your Goodyear man soon about polyester tires.

He'll put a set on your car and presto! It will turn back into a real family car.

Isn't that what you've been wanting all along?

The new polyester* tire by Goodyear. It could save you more than money.

GOODYEAR
Go Goodyear...You'll go further.

*Polyester is registered as Vytacord by Goodyear and is available in Goodyear Double Eagle, Custom Power Cushion and Power Cushion Tires.

What's everybody in B.C. saying about this popular whisky?

Cheers. And you'll cheer too once you've tried Walker's Special Old. You'll like the mellow smoothness and the look of luxury. No wonder it's one of Canada's favourites.

Soccer Rowdies to Prisoner?

Magistrates Rap Fans

LONDON (AP) — Magistrates' courts started handing out stiffer fines to rowdy soccer fans Monday and warned that in future they might be sent to prison.

The courts dealt with fans arrested at five games Saturday—opening day of the English League season.

Teen-agers who attended the West Ham-Sheffield Wednesday game were each fined £30 ($90). They were convicted of using threatening behavior and insulting words.

The courts apparently were acting on an appeal by the English League to step up the war against soccer hooligans. The league complained that fines imposed last season—usually £1 or £2—were not enough to check the troublemakers.

The three youths at the West Ham game were said to have pushed other spectators with their shoulders and then to have spat at policemen.

John Dowsett, chairman of the magistrates, told the trio: "This is the start of the season, and I gave you fair warning. If this behavior persists, we may have to think about sending people to prison."

Champion Wins

Ouellette and Susick Top Bisley Eligibles

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — A pair of calculating men led the list of riflemen eligible to represent Canada next year at Bisley, England.

Gerry Ouellette, 33, a drafting teacher in a Windsor, Ont., high school and WO2 Mike Susick, a 42-year-old flight engineer at Canadian Forces Base Summerside, P.E.I., topped the list of 18 men chosen on the basis of scores from nine matches in Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition.

Both posted 871 of possible 900 points for the first Bisley tie score in the memory of association officials, who said the aggregate winner was really the best shot of the 10-day competition at Connaught Ranges 20 miles west of Ottawa.

Susick, a native of St. Boniface, Man., has represented Canada at Bisley five times. Ouellette, another Bisley veteran, is an Olympic and Pan-American rifle medalist.

OTHERS ELIGIBLE

Minitoba brothers Don Sewell of Winnipeg and Trevor Sewell of St. James, were among the 18. Don, 40, was third on the list with 867, while Trevor, 41, was 10 points back in 14th place.

Other eligible riflemen: Clinton Dahlstrom, Calgary, Ralph Grant, Dartmouth, N.S.; Bob Barwise, Charlottetown; Arne Sorenson, Calgary; G. H. Farguharson, Kamloops, B.C.; R. A. Pitcairn, Richmond, B.C.

WINS TOP EVENT

With determined precision, New Zealander James W. Johnson won Canada's premier shooting competition, the Governor-General's, Saturday.

The 55-year-old building contractor took the prize after defeating two Canadians in a sudden death shoot-off.

Johnson was tied with Ouellette, and Nick Bekessy of Montreal with 196 of a possible 200 points after firing 40 rounds from 300, 600 and 900 yards.

TEAM WINNERS

Led by D. W. G. Collings of Wellington, an eight-man New Zealand rifle team defeated teams from three other Commonwealth countries in the final day of competition.

In the Commonwealth match, the New Zealanders scored 759 of a possible 800 points at distances of 600 and 900 yards. Canada was four points behind in second place. Britain had 741 and Zambia, 691.

The other major inter-Commonwealth match, the Canada, was won earlier by Britian. Canada won both matches in 1966.

Goalkeepers Angry

LONDON (AP) — English goalkeepers are angry over a new soccer rule that forbids them taking more than four steps with the ball.

Goalies used to be allowed to bounce the ball three times, taking four steps between each bounce.

Now, after four steps, they have to get rid of it.

SOUR NOTE

The change of rule brought a sour note to the new English season, which kicked off Saturday. England's World Cup goalkeeper Gordon Banks, who plays for Stoke City, bitterly denounced the restriction as "farcical."

Banks said he fears the new rule will lead to more barging around in the goalmouth.

Officials say the new rule is to prevent time-wasting by goalkeepers.

Ron Springett of Second Division Queen's Park Rangers, who has played in 33 international games for England, said the rule can only bring trouble.

Sluggish Kidneys May Bring Restless Nights

If you "fight the pillow", toss and turn all through the night and don't really know why — perhaps here's news and help for you! One cause of such restlessness may be traced to sluggish kidney action. Urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and restless nights. This is when Dodd's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodd's stimulate kidney action, helps relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodd's, and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Used successfully by millions for over 90 years. Now large size saves money.

Fans Push Players To Protest Tactics

LONDON (CP) — Britain's long-suffering cricket fans, usually models of decorum despite slow play, boring matches and cold, wet weather, finally blew their tops.

An angry band of spectators closed in on the Yorkshire team after a championship county match against Warwickshire.

MELEE FOLLOWS

Booing and fist-shaking greeted the Yorkshiremen as they left the Birmingham field and then someone pushed a player. Kicking and tripping quickly followed and the disagreement ended when one fan tried to hit bowler Freddie Trueman on the head with an umbrella.

The fans were angry at what they considered to be deliberate slow-play tactics by Yorkshire captain Brian Close.

NINE RUNS SHORT

Warwickshire needed 142 runs in 102 minutes to win the game, but finished nine runs short and the match ended in a draw.

The spectators, mostly Warwickshire fans, took a rather dim view of the Yorkshire bowling total of 24 overs in 97 minutes. They accused Close of playing for a draw to gain two points and remain in contention for the championship.

HAS DIFFERENT VIEW

But Close, who also heads the English side in test matches, didn't see it that way.

"It was disgraceful. This has nothing to do with our tactics out there. They were upset because they thought they had a chance to beat us for once and it didn't come off.

"What do you expect me to do? It's my job to stop any side beating us and I do it the best way I can."

Jim Thomas Leads West

Jim "Long Gone" Thomas, speedy halfback with Edmonton Eskimos, is making an early runaway of the individual scoring race in the Canadian Football League's Western Conference.

Thomas has scored seven touchdowns in his club's first four game for 42 points, which is exactly double the total of teammate Pete Kempf, who is second with nine converts and four field goals for 21 points.

Kiwanis Has Bugging Plan

By JOHN MATTERS

The Victoria Kiwanis Club launched a campaign Monday for $16,500 to buy eavesdropping devices.

The "bugging" equipment won't be for nefarious uses, however. Instead, it is electronic gear that will save the lives of 30 Victorians a year.

The club earlier this year decided to raise about $21,000 as the local share of $31,000 worth of cardiac monitoring devices for St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee hospitals.

★ ★ ★

It found $4,500 and now is looking for the other $16,500 that will make the hospitals important coronary care centres.

The hospitals have already decided to spend $154,000 themselves building the wards, nursing stations and other installations that are needed to save people who otherwise would die from coronary thrombosis.

The Kiwanis Club has made provision of the equipment a centennial project.

Funds will be raised mainly through a mail campaign. Mailing address is the Kiwanis Life-Saving Fund, 221 Linden Avenue.

★ ★ ★

Cardiologist Dr. George Woodark explained Monday afternoon how many victims of coronary thrombosis could be saved from death if their heartbeats were continuously monitored by such equipment.

"Often the victim is the father, the breadwinner," he added.

Royal Jubilee will spend $40,000 installing the coronary care centre next to its intensive care unit. St. Joseph's plans an expenditure of $114,000 on an installation twice the bed capacity of Jubilee's.

Fee Considered For School Cars

By BILL STAVDAL

Greater Victoria School Board is thinking of charging regular users of school parking lots.

The board's buildings and grounds committee will prepare a policy statement following a motion Monday by Trustee Frances Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson's motion — tabled for a month — was that the board make "a reasonable charge" on students, teachers and staff.

ACQUIRE LAND

The revenue would be used to pay for parking lots, to beautify them and acquire additional land.

The board has been under pressure recently from district municipalities to provide off-street parking at its senior high schools.

In other business, the board commissioned the New Westminster architectural firm of Carlberg Jackson Partners to design a $497,000 addition to Fairburn elementary school.

PORTABLE CLASS

The $113,000 school in Gordon Head was opened in September, 1966, and this fall will have a portable classroom to ease crowding.

The board set Oct. 23 for the official opening of Reynolds high school. The $909,000 structure will be opened by Trustee Frances Thompson, a Saanich representative on the board.

MORE CLINICS

The board also authorized increasing the number of school dental clinics from 2½ to three.

The action follows an increased grant from the provincial government's division of preventive dentistry.

Chief's Trophy His Memorial

The Tsartlip Indian band will honor its most famous son, the late wrestler Chief Thunderbird, with a trophy to be awarded Sunday at the first Tsartlip Fishing Derby.

The band plans to make the derby an annual event at which the Chief Thunderbird Memorial Trophy will be the centrepiece, band administrator Thomas Sampson said Monday. Chief Thunderbird, Baptiste Paul, died Nov. 23, 1966, after an international mat career.

Additional prizes include Indian sweaters and a year pass at the Tsartlip boat-launching ramp in Brentwood.

The derby will be held from daylight until 5 p.m. in Saanich Inlet between Moses Point and Hatch Point.

Registration forms are available in most sporting goods stores.

In Office

Taking over Monday as new executive director of Royal Jubilee Hospital was Dr. A. C. Pickles, formerly of Regina. He succeeds George Masters as chief administrative officer who retired in the spring.

Winter Works

Ottawa Ruling Scored

The new federal rules for winter works programs may make Saanich's participation either impossible or impractical, Reeve Hugh Curtis said Monday night.

He added that he was in "complete agreement" with Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell's attack on Ottawa for changing the conditions for participation. (See earlier story on Page 9.)

"To my certain knowledge, there are many features of municipal development which would not be here were it not for winter work," said the reeve. "Virtually all of our parks have benefitted tremendously from the former program."

Other beneficiaries were the police-fire building, municipal yards, drainage and sidewalk programs.

"Quite apart from the work accomplished, the revision of this program will, as Mr. Campbell has said, have a most destructive effect on the hiring of welfare labor through the winter months," said Reeve Curtis.

Veterans Fired

Corps Loses Three More

Three more members of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires were fired Monday in the running battle between the corps and some members and former members of the semi-military organization.

Harry Owen, 51, Bernard Kehn, 43, and Fred W. Bennallack, 49, three war veterans with service in war zones were called into honorary commandant A. C. Wurtele's office and dismissed because they refused to give up membership in the Three Cees Association.

PRESIDENT GONE

On Friday, the president of the association which was formed about 18 months ago and chartered in March as a veterans' organization under the B.C. Societies Act, was also released.

President Cliff Eckardt, 53, was the first man to be let go for his affiliation with the association since a recent edict from Mr. Wurtele told commissionaires to make up their minds whether they wished to be commissionaires or Three Cees.

ELEVEN MEN

About 11 men have been let go in the past 18 months, however, all of them members of the association, according to association secretary Donald Sykes, who was fired last September.

The association has been fighting to win public recognition of what it claims are instances of discrimination and unfair labor practices within the corps, which is composed entirely of war veterans.

NDP Member of Parliament H. W. Herridge of the Kootenay riding introduced the charges of unfair practices within the 107-year-old organization on the floor of the House of Commons during the last session, and has arranged for representatives of the association to appear before the standing committee on veterans' affairs in September.

Last week the executive of the 13,000-member Victoria Labor Council voted to bring the matter to the general membership's council delegation at the next meeting, Sept. 6.

ON SUNDAY

On Sunday, the members of Local 1-118 of the International Woodworkers of America voted to approach B.C. Labor Minister Leslie Peterson and federal Veterans' Affairs Minister Roger Teillet, asking for a full investigation of the corps.

A fourth man called into Mr. Wurtele's office on Monday was permitted to "make application to remain a commissionaire in the Victoria division of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires . . . upon presentation of documentary proof of (my) resignation from the organization known as the Three Cees."

The commissionaire took this step because he has a young family, association secretary Sykes said.

"We deplore this shoddy, undemocratic deprivation of a man's rights, and we shall fight it as long as there is a member left in our organization," Mr. Sykes said.

Saanich Picks Recreationist From East

Saanich council Monday night hired a 37-year-old Winnipeg man as manager of the $1,250,000 worth of indoor recreation facilities the municipality is developing.

He is W. H. Young, currently director of recreation for the municipality of St. James in metropolitan Winnipeg.

FIRST TASK

One of his first jobs in Saanich will be involvement in planning and construction of the $450,000 arena proposed for the Burnside-Tillicum area.

"He brings to the municipality a wealth of experience in the recreational field extending over the past 12 years," said Reeve Hugh Curtis.

ONTARIO JOB

Mr. Young has taken training courses from the University of Western Ontario and the University of Guelph. He was recreation officer at Dryden, Ont., before he went to St. James.

Married with three children, he was hired by Saanich at a salare of $761 a month.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST.

The foolish old lady who gave Home, the spiritualist, $24,000 and adopted him as her son and heir, has repented of her choice and thrown him into Whitecross prison for debt, he having failed to return the money. The old woman, who appears to have more money than brains, swore that she has been swindled.

It is said the East Coast will send to market this year not fewer than 300 head of beef of Island raising, valued at $14,000. Not so bad for the instant settlements located on that fertile belt of country.

'And What Are You Doing, Hippies?'

By KEN WARREN

Victoria's hippie element blasted the role of the church in society and its older adherents Monday night in a public forum amid angry Christian disapproval.

"There are a lot of old people in Victoria who don't give a damn about the outside world (miseries of Vietnam)," said one hippie. "All they see when they go to church are the pretty flowers."

The hippies, complaining at a forum of 150 persons at the University of Victoria, referred to churches in general as "abortions" and "blasphemous."

The forum was set up by the Victoria Youth Council as part of "Our Week." (See picture, Page 6.)

They charged no church lives up to ideal of fostering brotherly love.

"Don't give me all that crap about love and life," said one hippie girl. "You can't learn about them from a church."

WORK OUTLINED

Numerous adults who identified themselves as Christians outlined work their churches were doing in underdeveloped countries.

"If these kids (the hippies) are so interested in ending the war in Vietnam and poverty, why don't they get something going," said one young girl. "They'll see that the church will join them."

"How can you hope to help the poor when you haven't the guts to get a job and help yourselves?" a man asked the hippies.

A woman from an unidentified placement agency said she came to the university with placement opportunities for 54 teachers to work with Indian children.

"I was unable to find one applicant from this university," she said.

(The hippies, many of them university students, had contended that society was being negligent in its responsiblty to the Indians.)

The woman, who also answered the hippies' appeal to end international poverty and ignorance by saying that no one had applied for a "long list" for overseas vacancies in numerous professions, said:

"I shall be down again this year. I hope one of you people will come forward then."

IDEALS POINT

The hippies are "doing nothing" to live up to their "supposed" ideals, charged one man.

"Let's stop yelling at one another. We all want the same things," said a hippie.

"How can you achieve it in your present state?" came the reply.

GREAT BELIEF

"I have one great belief in my life," said a man of about 50 who identified himself as Victoria's soap-box orator. "There are millions of Protestants and millions of Catholics in the world, but there are very few Christians."

"We are setting up a ring in the middle of the floor," said a Victoria Catholic priest, Rev. Father Patrick Ratchford, as the meeting he had moderated came to a close.

Sting Rays Cut Kelp

A member of the club said Saturday the Sting Rays hope to eliminate some of the kelp as a public service to people who lose hooks and lures while fishing from the breakwater.

Three Cees 'Shunted from Office to Office'

Labor Board Runaround Charged

Donald Sykes, secretary of the Three Cees, said Monday his group has been given the runaround when it tried to bring injustices to the attention of the provincial Labor Relations Board.

The group, which has much of its membership in common with the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires, was shunted from office to office, Mr. Sykes said, and so far has got nowhere.

At a meeting at City Hall, however, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow offered to act as a pipeline between the dissident group and the Corps' board of governors, of which he is a member.

Mr. Sykes went over the troubled history of the relations between the members of the corps who founded the Three Cees, and the officers of the corps.

In one instance, he said, a commissionaire was fired from the corps because he had committed a $200 felony when he was 16 years of age. Despite the fact that he had 22 years of service in the army and was in possession of a full pardon from the governor-general, the officers of the local corps refused to reconsider his discharge.

His group had documented cases of injustice and had, up to this point, been unable to get a hearing right from the top level of the corps in Ottawa down, he said.

★ ★ ★

A commissionaire could be fired on the word of an NCO in any one of the defence establishments, Mr. Sykes added, and he had no recourse whatsoever — he was out and that was the end of it.

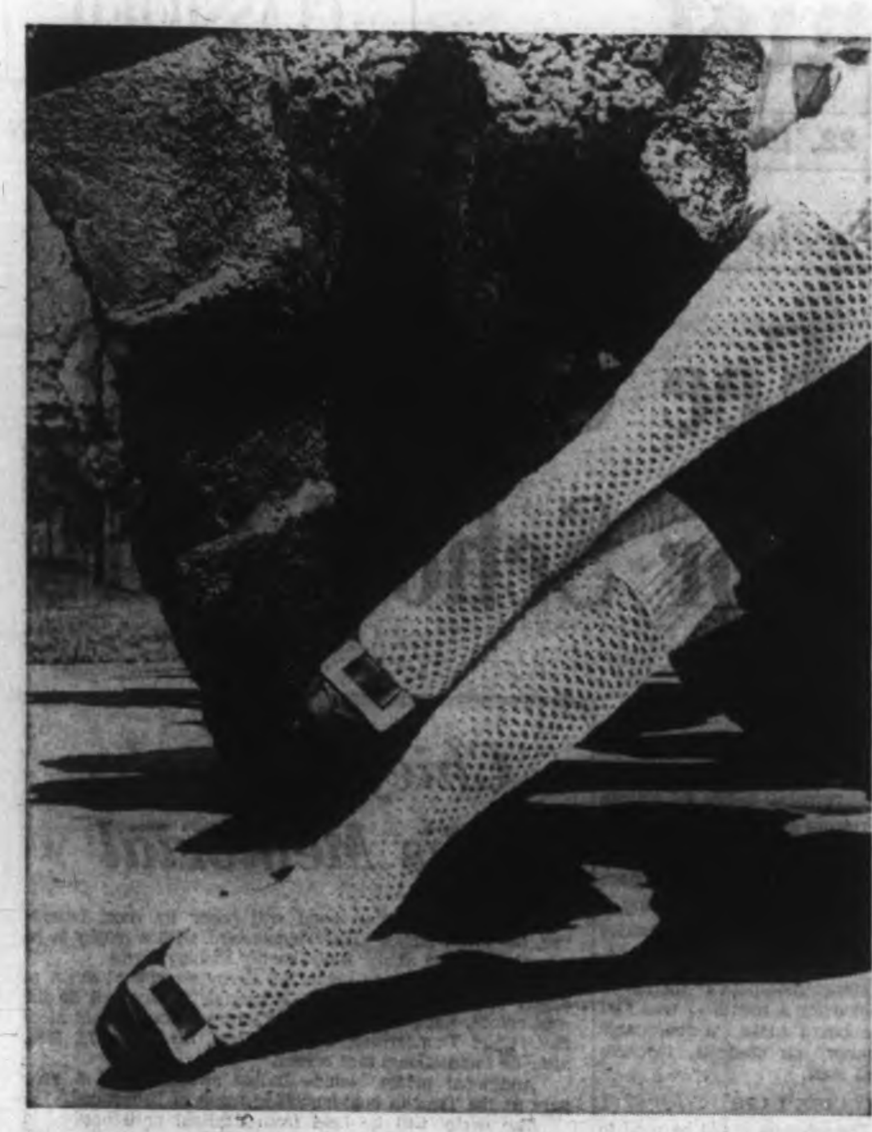
Secretary of the Victoria Labor Council Larry Ryan said he took several matters to the Labor Relations Board on behalf of the Three Cees and was told by the deputy minister that it was simply a matter of the group making itself a bargaining agent for the corps. If it could recruit 51 per cent of the corps membership, it would be in a legal position to bargain for improved wages and working conditions, the official said.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Sykes admitted that while he had not got far with the Labor Relations Board, he had been granted an interview with Labor Minister Peterson, and had been assured the minister would make inquiries into the alleged injustices.

Special Show

A special horse show will be staged at 10:30 a.m. Saturday by the Victoria Riding academy at 2301 Cedar Hill Cross Road. It will feature fault and out jumping, junior hunting seat over jumps, pair riding, green hack and equitation for children and adults.



Low-heeled, buckled shoes are a fashion "must", to wear with the latest leg-covering — the knee sock. This round-toed pump is in dark green calf with reptile print buckle in bone.

* * * * * *

Pumps Up Front

MONTREAL — In a fashion atmosphere where the leggy look is still all-important, the shape and color of shoes shares the spotlight in almost equal measure with the clothes they accessorize.

* * *

Much of the shoe news for fall is in the continuing development of the square toe look, whether it be wider squares, blunted or squared off rounds. Shorter heels are a close second to toes in fashion interest.

Shorter heels carry more definite squares. As heels rise to say 1⅜ to 2 inches in height, the blunted look appears, a softened, rounded square. There's a little more wiggle room in the new square toe styling, a higher look across the top of the toe which also contributes to the shorter look of the toe.

Pumps are back in first place, buckled or bowed, and even those on wider-toed lasts look extremely pretty and feminine. The many types of large, attractively designed bows are partly responsible for the renewed interest in pumps. The opened-up theme has gained new stimulus from Chanel's open shank d'Orsay pump and is surprisinly strong for fall. Social shoes often show a nude or bare-bare look.

* * *

Ties and the mannish look were created to go with the pantsuits, the new vestsuits and the military concept in apparel. Here are seen the wider, bolder straps. Shiny hardware in the form of chains, rivets and nail heads are used as accents.

Platforms are now a fashion-fact. They are light in thickness and contrasting in color.

Boots are established fashion. High to the knee, moulded to the leg, they look so right with the short hemline. Tall skinny types get the greatest share of fashion interest for early fall. They are detailed with laced fronts, spat effects, contrasting textures and colors, button and bow trims, on square toes and sturdy low heels.

Single most important color group is brown. It runs from the golden tans into camel, the coppery browns and the rich dark shades, with fresh combinations that glow, rather than clash. Brown will be seen combined with black, and with other colors. Next are the lightened neutrals in the camel and taupe families. Reds are bright and deep, depending on the style of the shoe and the age-group. Blue is a year-round color now.

* * *

There'll be plenty of glitter in social shoes, as seen in the greater use of metallic finishes — silver, gunmetal, aluminum, copper, bronze, gold. Silks and satins are in the picture, too.

* * * * * *

Feet are kept as warm as toast on early frosty days, thanks to the many beautiful "shoe" boots. This brown napped Corfam and calf oxford tie is on rubber sole and is fully lined with fleece.

Tracy-Janes

Reception In Garden

Nancy Anne Janes carried an ivory-covered prayer book which had belonged to her mother and grandmother when she became the bride of Roger David Tracy Saturday afternoon.

The prayer book was topped with a cascade bouquet of gardenias and white stephanotis. The bride chose a gown of chiffon over taffeta styled on empire lines, fashioned with a bodice of Guipure lace, with similar lace forming the puffed sleeves. Appliques of lace starred the full cathedral train that swept back from a coronet of matching lace, and the headpiece also held a two-tier illusion veil which misted softly to her shoulders.

* * *

Standards of white gladioli tipped with turquoise decorated the church where Rev. A. G. MacLeod heard vows uniting the daugher of Mrs. Stanley F. Janes, 1156 Schram Drive, and the late Mr. Janes, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. S. Tracy, 1476 Beach Drive. Neil Morris gave the bride in marriage.

The soloist, Mrs. Ruth Kyle, sang "Our Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in turquoise peau d'elegence, styled on empire lines and fashioned with bell-shaped sleeves. Peau de'elegance roses en tone formed their matching headpieces, which held tulle veils misting to the shoulder.

Miss Janice Janes was maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids were the Misses Dianne McMaster, and Donna Janes, also a sister of the bride. Mrs. Robert Alger was bridesmatron.

* * *

Brian Smedley acted as best man, and Garth Irwin, Don Beaton, and Robert Alger ushered guests to pews marked with turquoise and white ribbons and bells, which were made by the bride's grandmother.

A garden reception followed in the home of the bride's mother. A three-tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Janes centred the head table, which was also decorated with an arrangement of white rosebuds. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the grounds. Fred Marshall proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Tracy chose a two-piece dress and jacket ensemble in emerald green wool, accented with navy accessories. Her hat matched the outfit. A corsage of gardenias completed the picture.

The newlyweds will make their home at Swift Current, Sask.

Trip To Expo

Following their marriage Saturday afternoon, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cameron Lane will make their home in Vancouver, where the groom will continue his studies at the University of British Columbia.

White crysanthemums and gladioli decorated the chapel of First United Church for the service conducted by Rev. M. Fowler. The bride is the former Julia Anne Paone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paone, 3175 Glasgow Street, and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lane, 500 Beach Drive. Organist was Mrs. Ursula Bunt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a suit in coral shades, with hat of surah silk en tone. Her bouquet was talisman roses.

Her only attendant, Miss Margaret Nevin, Vancouver, wore a camel suit with a surah silk hat in yellow. She also carried talisman roses.

Best man was Derek Hamlet, and brothers of the principals, Glenn Paone and Bill Lane ushered the guests.

Floral arrangements of gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the Summit Street home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bratt, for the reception following. Peter Paone proposed the toast to his niece's happiness.

For travelling to Expo 67, the new Mrs. Lane topped her suit with a checked coat en tone.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Every now and then you print a letter from a teen-ager who thinks she knows it all and insists she is mature enough to get married. Since I am 17 and considering marriage a friend sent me the enclosed letter. It was written by another teen-ager who describes what it is like to be married too young. I hope you will print this letter. Ann, it was enough to make me change my mind. It might do the same for someone else. Here it is:

"Dear In Love, Let me tell you what it is like to be married at 17. It is like living in this dump on the third floor. Your only window looks out on somebody else's third floor dump.

"It is like coming home so tired you feel nearly dead from standing all day at your checker's job in the supermarket. But you don't dare sit down because you might never get up. And there are so many things you have to do — cooking and washing and ironing. But you go through the motions and you hate your job.

"You ask yourself, 'Why don't you quit?' And you know why. Because there are grocery bills and drug bills and the rent to pay. And Jimmy's crummy little check from the lumberyard won't cover them. That's why.

"Then you tell the sitter goodbye and you try to play with the baby until Jimmy comes home. Only sometimes you don't feel like it. But you do it anyway because you feel guilty about being away from her all day. Then you mix the formula and wash diapers and you hate doing it. You wonder how long it will be before she can tell that you hate it. And wouldn't it be awful if she knew already?

"Then Jimmy doesn't come home and you know he decided to go out with the boys again and do the things he should have gotten done before he married you.

"So finally you eat the lousy meal by yourself and go to bed and cry your eyes out. When he does come home you can tell he's been drinking but you don't say a word because he hates to be told anything. So you try to go to sleep and dream about your parents and your brothers and the kids you knew at school. You think about the great meals your mother used to cook and how nice your room was at home. Then you remember how she tried to talk out you out of marrying so young and you got mad at her and called her a dried up old woman and accused her of having forgotten what it was like to be in love.

"You try to push the thoughts of other boys out of your mind but they keep coming back. Especially that certain boy who gave you your first kiss. He won the state science prize and is going to be a doctor.

"You wonder how different your life would have been if you had gone to college. You have the feeling that Jimmy and the baby are all part of a bad dream. But you know it's no dream. It's for real. So you reach over to touch Jimmy and he pushes you away and says something mean. So you cry yourself to sleep and wake up with a splitting headache. What a way to start another day of hard work!

"If you meet anyone who thinks she knows what it is like to be married at 17 please tell her about me. Or better yet, give her this letter.—SORRY"

Dear Readers: I could print a letter similar to this every day of the week, but what's the use? Are you listening out there? I hope so.

CORN TIME

* * * * * *

Use Leftover Corn For Stuffed Peppers

Corn is one of Canada's favorite vegetables.

And fresh corn time is with us right now. If you are boiling up a batch of corn put in a few extra cobs to use the next day for stuffed peppers.

POLKA DOT PEPPERS

Three-quarters chopped onion; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted; one 15-oz. can tomato sauce with cheese; ½ cup snipped parsely flakes; 4 large green sweet peppers; ½ cup corn cut from cooked cobs. one 15-oz. can corned beef hash; ¾ teaspoon seasoned salt; ⅛ teaspoon seasoned pepper.

Saute onion in butter until tender. Stir in tomato sauce and parsley flakes; simmer 5 minutes.

Cut tops from peppers; remove seeds and membranes. Precook peppers in small amount of boiling salted water for 5 minutes; drain.

Combine corn, hash, salt, pepper and ¾ cup tomato sauce mixture; stuff peppers. Stand peppers upright in small baking dish; pour remaining sauce around peppers. Bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes. Spoon sauce over peppers before serving. Yield: 4 servings. (¾ cup corned beef hash stuffing per serving).

Murray-Whyte

Kitimat Home

Following a trip to the Okanagan, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kenneth Murray will be making their home in Kitimat, B.C.

St. John's Anglican Church was the setting for the marriage which united the former Linda-Ann Carroll (Mimi) Whyte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Whyte, 992 Gorge Road, and the son of Mrs. A. Paine, West Vancouver, and Mr. G. K. Murray, St. Lambert, P.Q. Canon Grahame Baker conducted the service and Mr. Whyte gave his daughter in marriage.

A floor-length gown of magic crepe was worn by the bride. Appliques of lace highlighted the empire-line gown, which featured sleeves ending in lily points. A three-tier veil of silk illusion net misted softly to chapel-length from a headpiece fashioned of organza and pearls, and the bride carried pink roses, heather and stephanotis in her cascade bouquet.

Miss Heather Armstrong was maid of honor for her cousin, and bridesmaids were the Misses Irene Newell and Karen McIlroy. They chose similar empire-line gowns of peau de'elegance, in pink tones. Their tiny veils were en tone with the gowns, and they carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations and white heather.

D. Guinn was best man, and ushering the guests were W. E. Whyte and A. Boom.

Lt.-Cmdr. D. G. Anderson proposed the toast to his niece at the reception following in The Inn.

The bride donned an Italian-knit suit in green tones for travelling. She completed the outfit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion-beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a supply.

Gar Dixon

Catches Great Fish

People could hardly credit their eyes last week when Cmdr. Gar Dixon, Government House secretary, stepped ashore at Thetis Island, with a 37-pound salmon.

★ ★ ★

Cmdr. Dixon could hardly believe it himself.

Out in a 10-foot rowboat off the West coast of the Island, he had 30 feet of line out (20-pound test) on a No. 4 Tom Mack with a six-ounce weight, when a mighty heave made his reel sing.

★ ★ ★

He was then towed a mile at a good clip while he fought to land the great fish. It was a half-hour battle before the silver fish was a passenger in the boat.

Local fishermen and ferryboat operators say it is the biggest fish they've seem landed in those waters in years.

Showers and Parties

For Julie Banfield

There have been a large round of parties and showers in honor of bride-elect Miss Julie Banfield who will be married to Mr. Robert Wheaton this Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Joyce of Falaise Road, Duncan, gave a party and surprise shower at their home when guests were members of the Duncan Elementary School staff.

Mrs. W. S. Robertson of Chemainus gave a cup and saucer shower in her home.

Early this month Mrs. Logan Mayhew, Beach Drive, honored the bride-to-be at a luncheon and shower. Guests included Mrs. A. L. Banfield, the bride's mother and Mrs. G. H. Wheaton, the groom's mother.

Other guests included Mrs. W. Skillings, Mrs. W. C. Mearns, Mrs. W. J. Munro, Mrs. N. Cameron, Mrs. H. P. R Brown, Mrs. A. E. Osborough, Mrs. F. May and Mrs. G. F. Dunn and Miss R. Mayhew.

Miss Sarah Banfield, Miss Banfield's aunt, gave a combined luncheon and shower in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. Guests included Mrs. Adela F. Gower, Mrs. D. R. Banfield, Mrs. N. R. Banfield, Mrs. D. S. Banfield, Mrs. W. Humphrey Golby, Mrs. F. May, Mrs. A. F. Gower and Miss C. Gower.

Matron-of-honor, Mrs. Frank May of Southgate Street gave a shower in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. R. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Cameron gave an outdoor cocktail and buffet dinner party at the Beach Drive home of Mrs. Brown honoring both Miss Banfield and recent bride the former Joan Harris. Seventy guests attended.

Nash-Spalding

RCMP Reception

Following their wedding in the Church of Our Lord, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Peter Arthur Nash left on a honeymoon trip south to San. Francisco, Calif.

The bride, the former Sandra Winifred Spalding, is the daughter of Assistant Commissioner Frank S. Spalding, (RCMP Rtd.) and Mrs. Spalding, Oakhill, Vantreight Drive. The groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Nash, 9502 Ardmore Drive.

Bishop D. A. G. Rankilor officiated at the service. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite sheath gown of silk. Fashioned with an overblouse of delicate lace, the gown featured sleeves to the elbow. Chantilly lace bordered the full cathedral train. Her mantilla veil of handmade lace extended the length of the train, and she carried yellow roses, stephanotis and ivy in her bouquet.

Mrs. James D. Spalding was matron of honor for her sister-in-law in a gown of golden brocade, styled with a gently belled skirt. She wore yellow daisies in her hair, echoed in her bouquet of daisies and white sweetheart roses.

A reception followed in the RCMP Officers' Mess. A nosegay of yellow roses topped the three-tier square wedding cake which centred the head table. Supt. G. A. Gerrie proposed the toast to the bride.

Surprise Shower

Miss Lona Cook and her mother, Mrs. Arthur H. Cook, recently gave a surprise shower in their Haultain Street home in honor of Mrs. Cook's niece, Miss Lorraine Frey of Nanaimo, who is to be married shortly.

Present from Nanaimo were Mrs. J. Frew, Mrs. W. Frew, Mrs. F. Wood, Mrs. R. Saunders and Mrs. D. Skillings. Also invited were Mrs. R. Fawcett, Mrs. D. Beswetherick, Mrs. S. Fawcett, Mrs. M. Dales, Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. Janet Finney, Mrs. W. Tremblay, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Mae Shepheard, and Miss Beverley Turkington and Miss Sheila Woolsey.

Miss Elizabeth Sophia Grywin, daughter of Mrs. Elena de Grzywinski Grywin and Mr. Goulding Lambert, son of Mrs. William Barber Lambert of Westmount and of the late Mr. Lambert and grandson of Mrs. H. Goulding Wilson of Victoria, British Columbia, whose engagement is announced. The marriage has been arranged to take place on Saturday, September 16, in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, Montreal.

Shea-Harris

To Live in Quebec

Following a honeymoon trip up-Island, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lewis Shea will continue to Montreal where they will be making their home.

The bride, the former Joan Margaret Harris, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Harris, 637 Beach Drive. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Shea, 2840 Heron Street. Rev. C. D. Blencoe officiated at the service in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Saturday evening.

As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, organist D. Bateman played "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven." As the couple signed the register, he played "O Perfect Love" and Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nacht Musik." Purcell's "Trumpet Air" was the recessional.

The bride's exquisite gown of white satin was encaged in embroidered cotton voile. The gown was fashioned with a full cathedral train and the sleeves of the bodice were in kimono style. A small snowflake cap of white voile, encircled with stephanotis and leather leaf fern, held her cathedral veil of illusion net. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis, white rosebuds and leather leaf fern.

★ ★ ★

A-line gowns of emerald green crystal charm were worn by the bride's five attendants. Small white roses and streamers highlighted the self-fabric bow headpieces and they carried double crescent bouquets of white roses, stephanotis and leather leaf fern.

Matron of honor was the bride's cousin, Mrs. T. G. Masters. Bridesmaids were the Misses Veronica Ann and Barbara Harris, her sisters; Patricia Mearns, her cousin; and the groom's sister, Patricia Shea.

Best man was Dave Humphries. Guests were ushered to their pews by Dan Paterson, Brian Wilson, Brian Wallace, John Haller and Ted Upward.

★ ★ ★

Dennis Hagar proposed the toast to his goddaughter at the reception which followed in the Victoria Golf Club. A single gardenia topped the three-tier wedding cake which centred the head table. It was flanked with floral arrangements in blue and white tones.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Shea donned a dress of white wool, designed by Pierre Cardin, which she complemented with tan accessories.

Social and Personal

The Right Honorable Viscount Boyd of Merton, Companion of Honor, will hold a press conference Wednesday, Aug. 23 at 10:30 a.m. in his suite at the Bayshore Inn on the occasion of his signing the contract for construction of the $10 million Guinness Tower skyscraper (on Hastings Street west of the Marine Building).

Lord Boyd is joint chairman of the company, British Pacific Building Ltd. and until recently was managing director of the Guinness Breweries. He was also a cabinet minister in the Conservative government. On display at the conference will be a model of the 23-floor building, which will be one of the tallest in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Lewis, 3921 Smugglers Cove Road, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Susan Louise to Mr. Richard Joseph Cancilla, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The wedding will take place at 3 p.m., September 2 in St. George the Martyr Church, Cadboro Bay. Rev. N. S. Noel will officiate.

★ ★ ★

Announce Engagement

The forthcoming marriage is announced of Marlene Annette Casilo, eldest daughter of Mrs. H. C. Casilo, 1150 Union Road, to Douglas Ewen Richardson, youngest son of Mrs. H. R. Richardson, 500 Broadway Street. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 9, at 7:30 p.m. in Emmanuel Baptist Church with Rev. Norman Archer officiating.

Didn't Happen Before

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Mrs. Jean Nidetch, founder and president of Weight Watchers' Inc., was whistled at by a sanitation worker recently, which, she says happily, never happened when she weighed 214 pounds. She used to be size 44; now she's size 12. Weight Watchers started as a seven-member organization in her Little Neck, N.Y., home, now has tens of thousands of members in 31 states, England and Israel.

Gibson-Chorlton

Wedding Trip in Galatea

Delicate Venetian lace flowers highlighted the bateau neckline of the point d'esprit gown worn by Elizabeth Anne Chorlton when she became the bride of Robert Peter Gibson.

★ ★ ★

The sheath gown was fashioned in cage design en train, with button accents at the back. Sleeves ended in lily points. Her cathedral veil of silk illusion net misted softly from a caplet of daisies and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and shasta chrysanthemums in a stephanotis and ivy garland.

St. Matthias Church was decorated in an all-white theme with gladioli and stocks when Canon J. Rogers heard marriage vows uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas James Chorlton, 2084 Windsor Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gibson, 2990 Rutland Road. Mr. Chorlton gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's three attendants were in matching A-line gowns of aqua silk illusion. They carried pompom bouquets of white shasta chrysanthemums and aqua streamers. Maid of honor was Miss Gail McDermid, bridesmatron was Mrs. L. Cheston, and bridesmaid, Miss Eve Stocker.

★ ★ ★

Best man was Robert Turner and ushering the guests were Henry Polak, Dr. Donald Matheson, Frank Buffam and Scott Tranton.

At the reception following in the home of the groom's parents, Dr. D. B. Turner proposed the toast to the bride.

The couple will make their home at 1678 Fort Street when they return from a honeymoon trip to the east coast of Vancouver Island, cruising in their boat Galatea.

For travelling, the bride chose a beige and brown Italian-knit suit, with matching beige Breton hat. Her accessories were en tone.

When Skin Sags on Face and Neck

Even skin that sags and is no longer smooth, could be made firm and much younger looking. That "older look" usually appears first around the throat, but is comparatively easy to treat by very simple means that require no skill at all.

Get 2nd Debut with CEF 600 or CEF 1200 in double strength from your drug or dept. store and apply it gently to your throat and face each night before retiring. After just a few days, you will notice your skin becoming firmer again and smoother. That is because the 2nd Debut has revitalized your skin with a new supply of water from the surface clear into the inner skin.

PEACE OF MIND . . . that's what you will enjoy when NUPERCAINAL® CREAM is in your medicine cabinet. I've found, for my family, it is the only all-purpose first aid cream — and it is both antiseptic and anesthetic. It's wonderful to be able to recommend a product that takes care of those emergencies that arise in every household — minor cuts — skin irritations (even acne and diaper rash). And I have found Nupercainal Cream has the most soothing and relaxing effects when applied generously and gently to tired and aching feet! Do get Nupercainal All-Purpose Antiseptic Cream, available at drugstores everywhere.

EVERY MONTH, more people are discovering SARAKA® and saying: "It's the perfect laxative for me!" For good reason. SARAKA has been carefully developed by Pharmaco (Canada) Ltd. to meet the most common cause of irregularity — not enough dietary bulk. Gentle-acting vegetable ingredients in SARAKA make up for this lack, help return your system to normal — and are very effective to maintain regularity and your sense of well-being. Take pleasant-tasting chocolate-coated SARAKA granules with a glass of water. Available at all drug counters.

Swim Champ Wins No. 3

Puffing but happy three-time winner of Kinsmen's annual Thetis Lake 2½-mile swim, Monty Holding finished Sunday in 44 minutes and .04 second. Tied for second were Jimmy Golmer and Ross Bruce, who crossed line one minute after Holding. Arelene Henderson was first girl to finish and placed fifth among competitors.—(William E. John)

School Head Lived In Saanich

Funeral services were held last week on the Lower Mainland for former Saanich school board chairman Martin Dawson, who for the past seven years had resided in White Rock.

He was born in Durham, England, and moved to Edmonton in 1906, and to Victoria in 1934. Mr. Dawson served with the 31st Battalion during the First World War, and later was an active member of the Masonic Lodge in Alberta.

He is survived by his daughter, Elizabeth Dawson of Seattle.

Launch Time

COWICHAN BAY — The boat launching ramp at Cowichan Bay will be built in about three weeks, said Gerry Hebers of Cowichan Station.

Mr. Hebers took the initiative after he received encouragement from the Highways Department and private individuals.

In only 10 days people have donated $285.

The money needed to build a fair-sized ramp is about $300 plus cement, said Mr. Hebers.

In addition to the cash donations, Gravel Hill Supply has pledged $50 worth of cement.

Beer Line Denied

B.C. isn't considering ordering beer parlor operators to put a line on the new 11-ounce beer glasses to mark a fair measure, Attorney-General Bonner said Monday.

The Liquor Control Board last week reported several complaints from patrons about short-measure beers but Mr. Bonner said the board has not recommended any "Plimsoll line."

Courtroom Parade

American Jailed For Car Theft

A 20-year-old U.S. football player stole a cab Saturday night, fell to the ground when he ran into the side of another cab during his flight, and finally halted when a warning shot was fired.

Marcus Willie Bailey of Seattle, a member of the Seattle Cavaliers football team which lost 19-7 to Victoria Steelers Saturday, pleaded guilty to theft of a car and was sentenced to one day in jail.

He was also placed on a $250 bond to keep the peace for six months.

Constable Michael Mason said the cab was stolen from the rear of C and C Taxi Service Ltd., 906 Government, Saturday night and located on Wharf at Yates about two hours later.

The car was kept under surveillance and Bailey was seen to get in and start the car. When questioned, he said the car belonged to him and he threw the registration at the policeman before running off.

Constable Mason said Bailey ran into the side of another taxi and was finally cornered in an alley in the 500-block Johnson.

Collision Claimed

"He collided with a police officer, knocking him to the ground," Constable Mason said.

A warning shot was fired into the air and Bailey stopped, court was told.

Bailey agreed with Magistrate William Ostler that he had been foolish and said he had been "partaking."

★ ★ ★

A 22-year-old man described by Magistrate Ostler as a "sexual psychopath" was remanded to Aug. 29 after pleading guilty to two counts of indecent exposure and one of indecent assault.

Det. Jack Stone of the Saanich force said Richard Cool, 2054 Carnarvon, exposed himself to three young girls and a boy at Saxe Point Friday afternoon.

About three hours later he again exposed himself, this time at Beaver Lake Park before two 10-year-old girls.

Det. Stone said Cool admitted assaulting a 10-year-old girl in the Belmont Park area Thursday. Cool grabbed the girl and pulled her into some bushes where the assault occurred. He also choked the girl and threatened to kill her if she told anyone about the incident, Det. Stone said.

Victim in Shock

The girl was in a state of shock, the court was told.

Cool told police officers he could not control himself "when I get the urge."

Magistrate Ostler remanded him for pre-sentence and psychiatric reports.

Barry Arden, 22, of 1014 Rockland was remanded in custody until Aug. 28 when he pleaded guilty to obstructing a police officer.

Constable Dennis Lush said Arden was asked to leave a home on Patricia Bay Highway Sunday morning and refused. He shook a fist at police officers and was removed by force.

A 19-year-old girl returned to her apartment room at 2:30 a.m. July 19 and found a partially-clad Rick Barnswell in her bed.

She said she asked Barnswell to leave and called him a cab. Before he did, however, he struck her three times, she said.

She told the court she had been out with Barnswell several times.

Barnswell, 1514 Fairfield, who pleaded not guilty to common assault, denied striking the girl. He said she shouted at him and he shoved her.

Magistrate Ostler found him guilty and fined him $75.

Hippies Fill Hall; Others Fill Docket

TORONTO (CP)—Hand-clapping hippies sang and prayed in the corridors of Toronto's old city hall Monday as they awaited arraignment and release of some 50 persons arrested in weekend disturbances in the midtown Yorkville coffee house district.

Police reinforcements moved to the cell-block area after prisoners in the cells in the old building joined the corridor demonstrators in singing We Shall Overcome and shouted taunts at the officers.

NO VIOLENCE

There was no violence, however, and the singing stopped following a request by a jail official. The demonstrators then knelt and prayed before filing peacefully out of the building and across the square to the new city hall where they gathered in the plaza fronting the modern building.

Most of the persons arraigned were remanded until Aug. 28 on charges of disturbing the peace. Most were released on their own recognizance, but bail of $100 was set for David DePoe, charged in connection with two separate demonstrations Sunday, and $200 for Allan Nippolow, also charged with obstructing police.

CHIEF DEFENDS MEN

Police Chief James Mackey meanwhile defended the use of force by officers in breaking up the Sunday night demonstrations, when eyewitnesses reported police had clubbed, slapped or kicked the demonstrators, who were protesting police refusal to block crowded Yorkville Avenue to traffic.

"When one person or a group of people try to take the law in their own hands, the police are required to use whatever force is necessary," Chief Mackey said.

FULL REPORT

He said that he had a full report on the arrests and was satisfied that "only the force needed to arrest these people was used by the officers."

Toronto General Hospital, near the Yorkville area, reported it had treated about a dozen walk-in patients, including two with broken arms.

Spokesmen for some civil rights groups protested the police treatment of demonstrators, but by late Monday no formal charges had been placed with the Metropolitan Toronto police commission.

EXTRA POLICE

Extra police were called out to patrol the Yorkville area Monday night to guard against another outbreak.

Toronto Controller Allan Lamport said: "If the do-gooders will keep their nose out of it, we'll clean this matter up." He called for fast action by the courts against what he called the hippies' "spoiled brat" attitude, saying the Yorkville area "is getting to be a cancer."

MOST EXTENSIVE

The outbreak Sunday night was the most extensive in a long series of clashes between police and Yorkville groups. Many of the self-described hippies claim the violence results from hoodlum elements who enter the area and stir up trouble, but in many cases police demands on the hippies to move on—often they sprawl barefooted across the sidewalks—have led to clashes and arrests.

Early Sunday morning police broke up a dance—by some 100 hippies around a blazing garbage can—described by one officer as "some kind of rain dance or fertility rite." Six persons were arrested but were released after some 10 hours in custody.

Meanwhile several hundred hippies congregated in Queen's Park, the Ontario legislature grounds about half a mile to the southwest of Yorkville, and held a demonstration against the arrests. By early evening they retired back to crowded Yorkville Avenue.

It was then that some asked police to stop the dense traffic on the narrow avenue, but claimed police replied by calling on motorists to close up the gaps between cars to prevent hippie demonstrations off the sidewalks.

The hippies then sat or lay down on the sidewalks and police began rounding them up into paddy wagons when they refused to move.

War Principles Used in Fight On U.S. Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — New U.S. military training directives stress that national guard units are to apply basic principles of war if called upon to quell any future street riots, it was learned Monday.

The 500,000 guardsmen also are being taught new methods of dispersing mobs, ferreting out snipers, quickly apprehending looters and protecting utilities, hospitals, banks and communications media.

"Meet force with greater force, but avoid bloodshed," says one directive.

The principles of war are generalized statements of basic strategy such as economy of force, manoeuvre, unity of command, surprise and simplicity.

The army prepared the lesson plans when the Pentagon, at White House direction following the Detroit and Newark riots, ordered a five-fold increase in the national guard's riot control training.

2,000 TROOPERS

In Baton Rouge, La., police charged Negro militant Walter Jenkins, 26, on charges of inciting a felony in connection with Sunday night firebombings in Negro neighborhoods. Other charges are using force in trying to influence an officer and simple battery.

Jenkins was a leader of a civil rights rally at the statehouse Sunday. Gov. John McKeithen, whose appearance the rally demanded, refused to show up and both the rally and a later one held by a Ku Klux Klan group went off without incident as 2,000 state troopers and national guardsmen stood by.

MOTION DEFEATED

In New York, Black Power leader Rap Brown failed in a bid for reduction of his $25,000 bail. A federal commissioner ruled Brown could not be relied upon to appear when summoned for a court hearing Friday to rule on his removal to New Orleans, where he faces a federal firearms charge.

In Flint, Mich., city council turned down a motion to reconsider an open housing bylaw. Its 5-3 defeat last week caused Negro Mayor Floyd McRee to announce his resignation.

Council voted 4-4 this time with McCree, in hospital due to exhaustion, unable to cast the decisive vote. His illness also prevented him from submitting his resignation.

Despite Rift

Postmen Strike Friday

OTTAWA (CP)—The one-day postal strike is on this Friday despite doubts expressed by postal union locals in several centres, says Bill Kay, president of the 12,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers.

"We're going through with it," Mr. Kay said in a late-Monday interview. His union does not go into something like this and then back off because some locals are opposed, he said.

The 24-hour strike, to start at 12:01 a.m. Friday, arises out of the government's refusal to grant an extra day off to some 2,500 postal employees whose regular day off fell on Monday, July 3.

OTTAWA CHOICE

Most public employees had the day off and worked only a four-day week.

The government chose July 3 for a public service holiday because July 1 — Dominion Day — was a Saturday, a non-working day for most civil servants.

Mr. Kay said it appears the planned work stoppage is illegal under the Public Service Staff Relations Act, but it would be up to the board that administers the act to determine whether it is in fact contrary to the act.

Garden Notes

Tests for Ripeness

By M. V. CHESNUT

One of the problems confronting the novice gardener in the late summer and fall is just when to harvest certain vegetables. Corn, for instance, is insipid when picked too young and tough if picked too old. Watermelons and muskmelons are useless for the table unless they are allowed to ripen on the vine. Winter squash won't keep in storage if harvested on the green, immature side.

Corn is probably the most critical of all our late summer and fall vegetables. The experienced gardener develops a certain "feel" for his corn that tells him which cobs are ready for picking and which should be left for a few more days. He scans the brown and withering silk tuft at the tip of the cob and runs his hands lovingly down the plump ear, seemingly to feel the fat kernels under the husks and sensing their readiness for the barbecue or for the pot of boiling salted water.

* * *

It isn't quite safe for the novice to rely entirely on the appearance of the silks, for the degree of browning and withering will vary with the variety of corn grown. In any case, while the condition of the silks will indicate when the corn is too young and green for picking, it won't tell you which cobs are too old and tough for tasty eating.

The best procedure for the inexperienced grower is to strip back a section of the husk to show the end kernels, then test one by crushing it with the thumbnail. If the exudate is watery, your cob is too green. If doughy or floury, it is too old and tough. If milky, it is just right for the pot. Cook immediately, for corn can lose as much as 50 per cent of its sweetness and flavor in the first 12 hours after picking.

The watermelon is particularly baffling to the novice, because for good eating it MUST be fully ripe but not overripe when picked. Yet, with one notable exception, the melon shows hardly any change in size or color when ripe. One variety only, called Golden Midget, gives a clear indication by turning yellow when ripe.

* * *

Experienced gardeners claim to be able to detect ripeness by the fruity aroma of the melon, but for the novice a better bet is to rap the melon with the knuckles, rather like a doctor percussing the chest of a patient, and go by the sound. If it is high and sharp, the melon is immature. If there is a dull, hollow sound, it is more likely to be ready for eating.

When the endril or curlicue by the melon is alive and green, it is almost certain to be too young for picking; if the curlicue is dead, the fruit is at least approaching maturity. Another test is to press upon the melon with a fair amount of weight, rather like applying artificial respiration; if ripe, you should hear a slight crackling sound.

* * *

Squash come in two basic types, summer squash and winter squash. With the summer squash, which includes such varieties as Zucchini, Caserta, Cocozelle and Golden Crookneck, we have no harvesting problems; for the younger you pick 'em, the better they taste. In fact, with Zucchini, which makes enormous fruits when allowed to mature, the preferred size for the table is only six inches long. These are cooked whole and served with the skins on.

Winter squash need to be approaching ripeness for full, nutty flavor, and MUST be completely matured if they are to be stored for winter use. Varieties include Hubbard, Blue Hubbard, Acorn, Buttermut, Buttercup, Uconn and Rainbow, and all these "keeping" kinds will rot or go mouldy unless vine-ripened when picked.

One pretty good indication is the stem, which should have a dried and withered appearance. Another is the hardness of the skin — if you can dent it with your thumbnail, it isn't ripe enough for storage. These are good tests, too, for the ornamental gourds.

ART BUCHWALD Looks in Vain for Fervor

Who'll Swim for LBJ?

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. It has been reliably reported by Peking Radio that 500,000 civilians and soldiers swam the Yangtze River near Wuhan early this month to celebrate the triumph of Mao Tse-tung's thought and principles.

It was a magnificent gesture on the part of the Chinese people to honor the revered chairman of their Communist Party.

* * *

The thought then occurred to me that since so many people were on vacation in August in the United States, perhaps some of them would like to swim for President Johnson.

I didn't expect to get 500,000 people at the outset, but I must admit I was hoping to get more people than I finally did.

I started recruiting swimmers on the island of Martha's Vineyard where I am staying for the month. I went down to the beach and said to several friends, "Anybody for a swim?"

About six people said they would like to go in.

"Before you go I better warn you that this isn't an ordinary swim. What we're doing is swimming for President Johnson to celebrate his great triumphs of the past year."

All six sat down again on the sand.

One swimmer said, "The water's too cold."

Another added, "I've got a cramp."

* * *

A third person, who had at one time worked for the President, said, "I just ate lunch."

"Now that's no way to be," I said angrily. "Five hundred thousand Chinese swam for Mao and the least we can do it show President Johnson we support him with the same fervor.

"Would it be okay if I paddled?" someone asked.

"No," I said. "You've got to swim. Look, if we swam from Vineyard Haven to West Chop shouting President Johnson's thoughts as we go, it would not only be great for the President, but we'd feel better too."

* * *

"How do we know what President Johnson's thoughts are?" was the next question.

"We could shout slogans from his speeches," I said.

"Such as?"

" 'We're winning the war in Viet Nam, 'Governor Romney can't control his people', 'Go to church on Sunday,' and 'Your President is doing the best he can'."

"I hear there are jellyfish in the water," someone in the crowd said.

"Excuses, excuses," I cried in anguish. "The President is facing insurmountable problems, and the whole communist world believes the United States is torn asunder. One lousy swim for President Johnson would show the Commies that on the big question America is united."

"Couldn't we snorkel instead?"

"No, no, no. We've got to swim."

"I don't want to get my bathing suit wet."

* * *

"All right," I said. "But someday in the future, when you're all working as busboys in a Red Chinese country club, I hope you'll remember the day you refused to swim for your leader."

"I have an idea," one of the party said. "Why don't you go across to the Sound and see if you can recruit some swimmers for Johnson over on Cape Cod."

"Where?" I asked.

"Well, you could try Hyannis Port for a start."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Twiggy Type Tested

HOLLYWOOD-ON-THE-THAMES (NANA) — Michael Sarne, the British pop singer turned director, is testing a South African girl who looks like Twiggy for his first feature film Joanna, for 20th Century-Fox. Why not use the real Twiggy? the skinny fashion leader has not yet made a movie although Jean Shrimpton, Twiggy's predecessor, starred (rather prematurely I thought) in Privilege. Jean, who has a much prettier figure than Twiggy, is licking her acting wounds and has said she may give acting up altogether.

* * *

Ace hair stylist, Vidal Sassoon, was telling me of the time Buddy Hackett was in Miami, after he had lost a great deal of weight. Jackie Gleason who doesn't believe in dieting chided him, "Why did you lose weight?" "Because I'd reached a stage where I couldn't breathe," replied Buddy. "I haven't breathed for 20 years," was Gleason's retort.

* * *

Victor Saville lunched at Les Ambassadeurs with former Hollywood producer Everett Riskin. "What are you doing?" I asked Victor, who had directed some of the top movies at Metro in the 40s and 50s. "Nothing," he said. "Have you retired?" I asked. "Practically," he replied. He answered my why with "I'm tired of all the shenanigans, the costs, the fights with the front office." Then I asked Riskin, "How does one retire?" He has a simple recipe—"Just get rich."

* * *

Life has been holidays mixed with business for Sean Connery since he quit the James Bond pictures. The business — setting up his western with Eddie Dmytryk in Mexico. The pleasure — staying at Bond director Terence Young's beautiful villa in the south of France. Now Sean is back in his London home counting his valuables to make sure none of them were lifted in his absence. Celebrities on vacation are always a target in this city where private property has a hard time remaining private.

* * *

Multimillionaire Ralph Stolkin checked in at the Connaught Hotel to see his lawyers about his $600,000 lawsuit against British beauty Patricia Rawlins Wolfson. He got a divorce to marry her and then she decided not to marry him. Ralph, with two magnificent homes in California — Bel Air and Palm Springs — was so sure they would wed that he bought a house in London's Mayfair and a yacht to boot for cruising in the Mediterranean. Laurence Harvey, a useful man at sea and on land, has been standing by to set sail with Ralph. Rather a switch from the woman Ralph had hoped to marry.

Unlearning Is Toughest

By SYDNEY HARRIS

Although in spirit I remain as fervent a tennis player as ever, my body refuses to comply, and I decided that this summer I would take up golf, after years of highly vocal contempt for the pastime.

A friend, learning about my decision to take a few lessons from a pro, remarked: "He'll kiss you when you tell him you've never played golf before — it makes his job ten times easier."

* * *

What my friend meant, of course, is that I have no bad golf habits to unlearn. I start with an utter ignorance of the game in all its aspects — which is the best pre-condition for learning anything.

Having led Great Books classes for more than 15 years, I can appreciate the delight of the pro at finding a pupil who doesn't know the wrong things the wrong way.

* * *

One reason that adult education is such a slow and laborious process is that, unlike child education, it requires two steps; first, taking the student from error to ignorance, and second, taking him from ignorance to knowledge.

The first step is by far the most difficult and protracted. Emptying a man's mind of errors, misconceptions and preconceptions is almost a surgical task, which he resists with the tenacity born of long habit.

It is only when he admits his ignorance, and gives up the deep defence he has established over the years, that his real education can begin.

* * *

The physical and the mental worlds are alike in this respect. I once acquired a considerable proficiency as a table tennis player, although my grip on the paddle was in violation of all the laws of gravitation and good playing form.

But I soon reached a plateau, and was unable to get any better using that fantastic grip. When a Swiss table tennis champion tried to teach me the correct way, I made a half-hearted effort, but soon reverted to my old style. It was simply too much effort, and too little fun, to begin learning the proper rudiments of the game.

* * *

This is exactly how we feel when our habits of thought are challenged. We are accustomed to thinking in certain grooves and it is actually painful to try to change our mental "form." We are used to our own grip on ideas — even if half the time we paddling our own bottoms with the paddle.

Banning 'Does Sound Funny'

An immigration officer's action in barring a former member of the Company of Young Canadians was described Monday as "highly irregular" by the deputy minister of immigration, a Victorian who protested to him said.

Deputy minister Tom Kent was called in Ottawa by one of several Victorians concerned about an immigration officer's refusal to allow Andrew Zane to enter from Seattle.

The Company of Young Canadians was a brainchild of Mr. Kent when he was assistant to Prime Minister Pearson.

Social Worker

In addition to his comment about the apparent "irregularity" of the action, Mr. Kent said he would "immediately investigate" the circumstances.

Mr. Zane is a Hawaiian who studied social work in Hawaii and got a master's degree at Ogden, Utah. He is a phychiatric social worker.

Mr. Kent is reported to have said the rejection of Mr. Zane, who was to participate in Youth Week in Victoria, "does sound funny."

Mr. Zane stepped off the ferry, and was put back on by immigration, after an officer named Robert Malcolm decided Mr. Zane was not acceptable.

'Long Lecture'

Mr. Zane, who wears his hair long and has a beard, said just before Mr. Malcolm's action another officer had "started giving me a long lecture" on his appearance.

"I think that's the key to the whole thing," said Mr. Zane.

He said the official reason given for the refusal was that he once admitted using marijuana at a party 10 years ago.

When he was previously in Victoria working for the Company of Young Canadians, Mr. Zane had been called in to see immigration officials about his status.

He Tried It

While this was being cleared up, he said in a private, unofficial conversation with Mr. Malcolm that he had "tried marijuana at a party in 1957."

"I didn't want to be dishonest," said Mr. Zane. "And I know very well that any narcotics contact that dates back more than five years is not legally a binding reason for rejecting a visitor."

He said he would wait in Seattle, to find out what action there is on his appeal, or by Mr. Kent.

Mr. Zane has been working at a California camp for underpriviliged children.

Quartet Cheats Death

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Four persons leaped into Georgia Strait when a 32-foot cabin cruiser exploded on a trip between here and Vancouver, Monday.

They were brought to Nanaimo by a CPR ferry.

Marie Turgeon, 201 Laval Street, New Westminster, said "We worked on the Blue Reef all summer. We just got it finished. There was no insurance.

Al Obrecht, 42, from New Westminster, the boat owner, suffered burns.

Rolph Steenbergen, 22, 11830 93rd Street, Edmonton, suffered burns and a cut artery.

His young wife Florence suffered cuts and shock.

* * *

The boat burst into flames when Mr. Steenbergen and Mr. Obrecht tried to repair a faulty carburetor.

Mr. Steenbergen, who was close to the engine, ran forward into the cabin with his shirt aflame.

Mr. Obrecht followed, trying to rip the shirt off.

Mr. Obrecht caught fire and jumped from the Blue Reef to douse himself, but could not get back aboard.

Cut off now by the flames, the two Steenbergens broke windows to escape, while Miss Turgeon climbed a ladder on the wheelhouse to throw a life ring to Mr. Obrecht, and burned her hand on a hot rung.

* * *

Mrs. Steenbergen threw a coffee mug through the glass of one of the small cabin windows and crawled through, cutting her hand, grabbed the life ring, threw it and jumped.

Mr. Steenbergen put his fist

Loggers Protest Conditions

FIRE PAY BURNS IWA

The Sproat Lake fire is hot, but the men fighting it are hotter.

International Woodworkers of America has demanded a meeting with MacMillan Bloedel lumber officials to protest long shifts, poor feeding arrangements, and poor pay.

The IWA said it will battle a company suggestion that loggers called out to fight the 6,000-acre blaze will be paid only forestry firefighter rates.

Sunday night the Alberni-Tofino highway was opened from the Port Alberni end between midnight and 4 a.m., and from the Tofino end between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The same opening hours prevailed Monday night, but only those with essential business were encouraged to make the trip.

Welcome Roar

Both Martin Mars bombers were on the job throughout the day Sunday.

Residents found their throaty roar a welcome sound as the huge waterbirds plodded back and forth with their loads, completing 46 drops before calling it a day.

The bombers were not in operation Monday, and forestry officials said the fire around Taylor Arm, which at one time was in danger of spreading to the well-populated areas of Sproat Lake, was now "pretty well tied up."

Crews had also managed to keep the blaze from spreading down over the ridge of the Taylor River valley in to great central valley.

This ridge, on the northeast side of the fire is the greatest

Two Planes Go Down In China

SAIGON (UPI) — Four American jets were shot down on raids against North Vietnam Monday, two of them when they strayed over nearby China.

(See also Page 6.)

The Peking People's Daily, quoted by Radio Peking and monitored in Hong Kong, called Monday's violation of its air space "open war" on the Chinese people. It said the Chinese people are ready for combat.

An American military spokesman said two A-6 Intruders were downed when they accidentally entered Chinese air space. He listed all four crewmen as missing, but Chinese radio broadcast said one of them had been captured.

The spokesman said two F-105 Thunderchiefs were downed over North Vietnam. He said both pilots were missing from these planes.

The planes were shot down as American jets raided three railroad yards around Hanoi.

The defence department said the two planes from the aircraft carrier Constellation accidentally strayed into Chinese air space to avoid anti-aircraft missiles and MiG jets over North Vietnam. The New China News Agency said the Chinese air force shot them down, but did not make it clear whether they did so with planes, guns or missiles. The Pentagon said it was probably MiGs.

Victoria, Mainland

Mail Will Move Despite Strike

The mail will go through in Victoria despite a one-day strike by eastern Canadian postal clerks starting Friday at midnight. However, Port Alberni letter carriers said they would honor picket lines if set up.

Gerald Kenny, president of the Victoria local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, said Victoria postal clerks, in common with most western locals, had voted against the strike and would not participate.

SENIOR OFFICIAL

A senior official of the CUPW in Vancouver said there were indications many other western locals—including the big ones in Vancouver and New Westminster—would not join the strike.

(See also Page 28.)

The CUPW field officer for B.C. and the Yukon, Al McLay, said there are indications the other 38 locals in B.C., and the locals in Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary may stay on the job.

DOMINION DAY

The strike was proposed following the recent Dominion Day holiday which fell on Monday and caused about 2,500 workers (whose day off was Monday) to lose the benefit of an extra day off.

The CUPW covers postal clerks and other inside workers, not the letter carriers.

LBJ Slipping Say Pollsters

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson is pictured in two U.S. public opinion polls as being at a substantially low level of national popularity and running behind or, at best, just holding his own in two mythical presidential races.

In the first Gallup Poll taken since the recent outbreak of riots in urban centres, the president ran behind Michigan Governor George Romney by eight percentage points. It was Romney 49, Johnson 41 and the remaining 10 per cent undecided. In a mid-June survey Romney trailed the president by five points.

In the current issue of Newsweek, pollster Louis Harris reported that his latest survey shows a Democratic ticket headed by the president running even with a Republican ticket of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Governor Ronald Reagan of California.

The American Institute of Public Opinion in Princeton, N.J., which conducts the Gallup Poll, said Monday the proportion of the public that now approves of the way the president is conducting his office has dropped to 39 per cent, the lowest level for Johnson to date and the lowest for a president since 1952. A mid-June Gallup survey indicated 52 per cent approval for Johnson.

Fire Crew Escapes

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Four men were trapped Monday in the path of a fire near Peck, Idaho, but escaped from the inferno aboard a bulldozer. The four were among thousands of firefighters battling forest blazes.

As the forest war continued around hundreds of small fires in Idaho and Montana, officials in Oregon predicted closure of all national forests in the state.

Mental Tests First For Killing Suspect

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—Victor Ernest Hoffman, 21, was remanded for mental examination Monday when he appeared before Magistrate J. M. Policha on a charge of capital murder in the Aug. 15 shooting death of James Peterson, 47, a Shell Lake district farmer.

Eight other members of the Peterson family also were slain.

Hoffman, employed on his father's farm near Leask, Sask., where he was arrested Saturday, showed little emotion during the 10-minute court appearance. He was remanded for 30 days to the mental hospi-

Father Faces Charge

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—A rural St. Cloud man, who police said has admitted responsibility in the death of his wife and four small children, was arraigned Monday on a charge of aggravated arson.

David Hoskins, 30, demanded preliminary hearing and Judge Wendall Y. Henning set it for Sept. 7. Henning also set bail at $50,000. Hoskins was remanded to jail in lieu of bail.

Sherriff Peter Lahr told reporters Saturday that Hoskins had admitted shooting Mrs. Hoskins, 29, then shooting himself with a .22-calibre rifle, setting fire to the farmhouse and a barn, and tying himself to the clothesline pipe.

Fairbanks' 'Underground Hurricane'

Spring Sunshine May Bring Disaster

FAIRBANKS (UPI) — Engineers warned Monday Fairbanks' record flood could trigger an "underground hurricane" buckling streets and building foundations during Alaska's next spring thaw.

* * *

The engineers told state officials there was virtually no chance that ground saturated by flood waters could drain enough to avoid some damage from freeze-up and the thaw. Interior Alaska's deepfreeze winter begins in about six we...

"It will be like an underground hurricane," said Larry Montgomery, an aide to Gov. Walter J. Hickel.

* * *

"We know by next summer the foundations in many houses and buildings simply are going to be crushed. Streets and foundations will be buckling."

The warning came as several homes were inspected by Montgomery. He said they were "a sickening sight."

Meantime, the known death toll was set at five with the discovery of two more bodies. Damage for the Fairbanks area was estimated at $300,000,000.

The body of a man was found in a Fairbanks building inundated by the Chena River, while a woman was found in the Tanana River at Nenana, a village 50 miles southwest of the city. Neither was immediately identified.

* * *

Three other deaths were counted previously in Fairbanks, but state police said two men who drowned when their swamp buggy overturned at Tok Junction, 200 miles southeast of the city, were not classified as flood fatalities.

"There's hardly a furnace in town that won't need a thorough overhaul. No doubt many will have to be replaced. And there's no place in the world that needs good furnaces more than Fairbanks," Montgomery said.

Although the Chena was virtually back in its banks early Monday, the flood left many pools large and small around the city.

* * *

Only automobiles that had been left with their engines and gas tanks above the flood level were able to operate. A tour of the city showed hundreds of cars with their hoods up and men peering in hoping to find a way to get their engines running.

The city's bankers had not yet had a chance to inspect their vaults. Many depositors were beginning to worry about how they fared through the flood.

* * *

The city's daily newspaper, the Fairbanks News-Miner, hoped finally to be able to report Fairbanks' story of the century by Tuesday. The flood knocked out the paper's electrical system but reporters and photographers continued to roam the city, compiling copy and pictures.

'Pirate' Tower Gone in Puff

FELIXSTOWE, England (UPI)—A wartime anti-aircraft tower reincarnated recently as a "pirate" radio station supply base was blown up Monday so it could never again be used by anyone but the British defence ministry.

The tower, in the North Sea 11 miles off Felixstowe, disappeared in a flash of orange flame and grey smoke as armed forces demolition experts set off explosives attached to the superstructure.

The demolition was ordered to make the tower unusable "to interests other than the ministry." The gun platforms could be rebuilt in an emergency.

Costumes at Nanaimo

Cash Goes on Line for Artists' Bash

Williams

NANAIMO — Tickets are selling well for this city's first Beaux Arts Ball.

The event will be held 9:30 p.m. Sept. 29.

Mrs. Barbara Desprez, president of the sponsoring Nanaimo Theatre Group, layed $750 on the line to prove she could sell 50 tickets.

★ ★ ★

"I have half of them sold already," she said, writing out the cheque.

The profits will go toward establishing awards to student artists of all fields. Ticket sellers have agreed to personally guarantee no loss of tickets, by purchasing them, and recouping their investment by sales.

They have six days after the ball in which to return unsold tickets, and reclaim their money.

Besides being the first Beaux Arts Ball, it is possibly the first evening's entertainment to afford businesses a chance to make money, rather than donate money.

No one will be allowed to enter without costume, so stores have indicated they will place advertising posters in the yard goods departments, advertising fabric sales.

★ ★ ★

Women's wear stores have also used their imaginations, to advertise ensembles which will transform the Nanaimo woman into a fairy princess for the occasion.

The doors will be open at 8 p.m., the cocktail hour will start at 8:30 p.m.

Spot entertainment between dances will add sparkle to the 12-piece composite orchestra of Nanaimo Musician's Association, led by Tommy Donald.

At the witching hour, the huge door that encloses the ballroom, will fold back to display 100 feet of display.

John Bateman's new culinary arts class will put on its first display.

Lake Cowichan Meeting Chops Gordon School Addition Cost

LAKE COWICHAN — A contractor is going ahead with additions to an elementary school here, following departmental approval of the tender.

School board chairman Don Hammond announced the tender for Stanley Gordon Elementary was approved by the board.

TOO HIGH

"The tender came in at a figure well over the referendum," he said. "By consultation with contractor Jim Peterson, architect Bernard White and principal L. J. Plater, revisions were made to reduce the tender."

COST SPLIT

The architect's estimate, used in the referendum, was $67,000. The tender was $111,000. The revised tender was $82,000.

Mr. Hammond said the job will start immediately, and "it is hoped construction will be completed in September."

The addition to the school will include two classrooms, staff rooms, covered play area and student showers.

Money to make up the difference between the estimate and the final tender will be taken from money left in Referendum No. 2.

The new work includes altering of two half-size classrooms into staff rooms and administration area.

The two new full-size classrooms will be a junior science room and a library. The covered play area will be built at one end of the school.

Stanley Gordon school now has 12 classrooms. One room will be lost to office space, but the addition will give the school a total of 13 teaching areas.

The school has another four classes at Gladys Lomas Annex.

Hunters Aim For Top

DUNCAN — A junior rifle training program is being printed now and it will be used in courses which will start this fall at the new 17-acre shooting range of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association.

President Arnie Williams said "This program will help to make young people aware of guns' dangers."

Sons and daughters of association members 14 years old and up will have preference to participate in the new safety program.

SAFETY FIRST

Mr. Williams said "The local association is very gun-safety conscious, and since we have completed our new shooting range we are able to provide for the first time a gun-sight-in service.

"Experts will be available for this special service Aug. 27 and Sept. 3, and members as well as the general public are welcome to make use of this most important check before the hunting season starts."

SPRING START

The association's shooting range, consisting of a 50-yard, 100-yard and 200-yard shooting area was started last spring and facilities now include a covered area for gunmen and a club house.

The range is located in the Deerholme district on Vaux Road, about one mile west of the Glenora School.

Four Teams Tighten Pennant Race

Will it be Chicago pitching, Boston hitting or Minnesota balance which will finally prevail in the boiling American League pennant chase? Or will Detroit Tigers beat all three?

Out of the slump which cost them the lead, Chicago's White Sox moved back into a tie with the idle Twins yesterday but Boston's Red Sox are in a thundering pursuit featuring an attack which leads the league in producing runs.

After a doubleheader sweep over Baltimore Orioles Sunday, the White Sox made it three in a row and six victories in eight games last night by holding on to edge New York Yankees, 4-3.

But the Red Sox are moving even faster, blasting away at a pace which has brought them five successive victories and seven wins in eight games.

They bowled over Washington Senators, 6-5, last night when Elston Howard broke a 5-5 tie with a ninth-inning single, which scored Jerry Adair.

Adair and the hot-hitting Carl Yastrzemski shared the honors Sunday in a spectacular double victory which disposed of California Angels as a threat for the time being at least.

CARL'S BAT HOT

With Yastrzemski hitting a three-run homer and Reg Smith driving in four runs with two homers, Red Sox eased to a 12-3 win in the first game behind Lee Stange's steady pitching.

But they were trailing, 6-3, batting in the fourth inning of the second game. They got one run in the fourth, then three runs in the fifth and four in the sixth as Yastrzemski unloaded his 31st homer for three more runs and Adair tied the score with a run-producing single.

That done, Adair broke the tie with his second home run of the season in the eighth inning and the Red Sox had themselves a 9-8 win.

The Twins dropped back Sunday by taking a 7-3 beating from the Yankees but Detroit Tigers, also idle yesterday, stayed close with a 4-2, 4-0 sweep of Cleveland Indians.

John Hiller, an unheralded lefthander from Scarborough, Ont., called up when tendonitis sidelined veteran Johnny Podres, pitched a four-hitter, struck out four and walked only one in the shutout win.

It all left the Red Sox just a game behind the co-leaders, and just a game ahead of the fourth-place Tigers.

Medico Urges Ban On Chuvalo

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The international medical adviser of the World Boxing Association Monday recommended that Canadian heavyweight boxer George Chuvalo be suspended as a medical risk.

Dr. Leon Feldman told delegates to the 1967 WBA convention here that both Chuvalo and Floyd Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion, should be suspended on medical grounds.

CLAY DISCUSSED

Chuvalo, of Toronto, was stopped in the fourth round of his scheduled 12-round fight against Joe Frazier in New York last month after Frazier opened a cheek cut. Doctors later said Chuvalo, who had never been stopped in previous fights, suffered a broken cheekbone.

The subject of Cassius Clay, the dethroned heavyweight champion, loomed large in other WBA discussions.

Latin American delegates threatened to walk out of the convention as it opened here Monday if they weren't treated "democratically."

RESENTMENT GROWS

Secretary Rodrigo Sanchez of the Panamanian Boxing Commission made the threat in an interview as resentment grew over American control of the WBA.

WBA President Robert Evans defended the action against Clay as "the most outstanding thing we've done" this last year. The WBA dethroned Clay because he refused the U.S. military draft.

But the Latin delegation said withdrawal of Clay's recognition as champion was railroaded through the WBA's executive committee.

"Clay was champion of the world, not just the United States," Sanchez said.

He also won the Dillabough Memorial Trophy for being chosen as the Shamrock providing the greatest inspiration and sportsmanlike conduct and the Stocker Trophy for leading his club in points. Brother Nirmal won the Hunt and Patterson Trophy for maintaining the highest standard of physical health and ability, Bill Munroe won the Directors' Trophy as the most improved player, Ted Liebich won the Bacon Memorial Trophy for being the most competitive player and Doug Thompson won the Bradshaw Memorial Trophy as the club's top rookie.—(Bud Kinsman)

Rocks Humble Adanacs With Display of Power

By JIM TANG

It was all but unbelievable.

Victoria Shamrocks, who had loped through the first two games of the best-of-five Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinal, took to their heels Monday night and literally ran Coquitlam Adanacs out of Memorial Arena.

In a spectacular performance of speed, ball-hawking and thread-the-needle shooting, Shamrocks walloped the Adanacs, 23-2, to force a fourth game in Coquitlam Wednesday night.

For almost 10 minutes it looked as if a fourth game might not be needed. Although Shamrocks had the odd-man edge three times in a row in the early going, they couldn't get organized.

They got the first goal at 5:59 with both clubs shorthanded, were tied at 7:45 and were scratching to hold a 2-1 lead when they suddenly came to life.

TURN ON SPEED

They did it the only way they really can do it—by turning on the speed. With their heavier opponents completely baffled and floundering, Shamrocks scored 13 goals between the time Fred Usselman scored Adanacs' first goal and Gordie Gimple got their second on a power play at 12:50 of the second period.

Bill Russell, who was a big help, got things really started when he grabbed a high rebound in front of the goal and got his shot away as he went over backwards.

It was typical of a dozen goals last night. The Shamrocks nipped in for the loose balls, checked hard and hounded the Adanacs into mistakes.

Bill Harris made it 4-1 less than three minutes after Russell had scored, snapping up the rebound after a shot on a fast-moving play and beating the frustrated Joe Comeau.

MORE TO COME

And then it was Ranjit Dillon leaving Rod Bodnar and Doug Wallsmith wallowing in his wake as they tried to double-team him on a Coquitlam power play for 5-1 at the end of the first period.

It was probably the fastest period of the season, but the fans had seen nothing yet.

Ray Beech scored at 1:15 of the second period on a quick shot, Reg Foster got his second goal with both clubs short at 3:59 and Glen Vickers scored with Shamrocks shorthanded at 5:06.

It was 8-1 but the Shamrocks had just started. With Barry Forbes making a couple of brilliant stops while Showers served a penalty, they didn't take off again until 9:06.

SCORED IN BUNCHES

In exactly three minutes they beat the helpless Joe Comeau six times.

Bill Gray started the charge, beating Mike Gates on the right side and then grabbing the face-off to thunder past Gordie Gimple for a second goal at 9:28.

Jim McNeil went around John Surinak for 11-1 at 9:58, Nirmal Dillon scored prettily on a Bill Munroe pass for a power-play goal at 11:49, Gray thundered back from the resultant faceoff for 13-1 at 11:56 and Foster picked up a loose ball, made a great shift and it was 14-1 at 12:06.

Embarrassed and irritated, Adanacs roughed it up whenever they could get a piece of a Shamrock but Whitey Severson, who did a standout job of refereeing, continued to keep things in check. And the Rocks continued to pour it on.

Felled by a vicious check from Bill Bradley after he had neatly set up Jackie Showers for 15-2, Ranjit Dillon came back on the power play to whip the ball past Comeau for the second of his three goals.

Then it was Showers on a pretty play with Russell for the 12th goal of the middle period and a 17-2 bulge.

A series of penalties, featured by majors to Munroe and Jack Barclay, who came out to get even after Munroe had accidentally hit Wallsmith, slowed play for a while in the third period.

Then it was Showers on a pretty play with Russell for the 12th goal of the middle period and a 17-2 bulge.

A series of penalties, featured by majors to Munroe and Jack Barclay, who came out to get even after Munroe had accidentally hit Wallsmith, slowed play for a while in the third period.

Then it was Ranjit Dillon, leaving Usselman and Marty Jordan flatfooted as he cut between, at 11:48, Beech at 12:27, Foster at 13:26, Showers at 14:00, Beech again at 16:25. And, finally, Munroe just beating the clock.

Harrelson Follows Dark As K.C. Trouble Flares

BALTIMORE (AP) — First baseman Ken Harrelson was unconditionally released and star relief pitcher Jack Aker was fined $250 by Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley Monday in an aftermath of a shakeup that resulted in the firing of manager Al Dark.

Harrelson had been critical of Dark's release early Sunday and said he had told Finley, that his actions the last few days were "bad for baseball."

Aker, team player representative, summoned by Finley to Washington from Baltimore to join the meeting that led to Dark's dismissal, was slapped with the fine for breaking curfew. Finley said he was unable to reach Aker in Baltimore for the meeting until 1:10 a.m. Sunday and the club's curfew is midnight after a day game.

The series of incidents was touched off when pitcher Lew Krausse was suspended last Firday because of an alleged incident on a recent airline flight.

The players then drafted a statement Saturday which said in part:

"We players feel that if Mr. Finley would give his fine coaching staff and excellent manager the authority they deserve, these problems would not exist."

After Finley read the statement, he said: "This compels me to withhold the announcement of a two-year Dark contract until further consideration."

After an all-night meeting, Finley dismissed Dark Sunday.

Dark said Monday he knew and approved of the players' statement criticizing Finley and termed it "the most courageous thing I have ever seen."

"With courage of this type, these boys are potential pennant winners and Mr. Finley should be proud of them," Dark said in a formal statement which he said was needed "to set the record straight."

"I want to point out that I disagreed with Mr. Finley about the Krausse fine. This was a case of singling out one ball player and making him look bad. It was also a reflection of the entire team.

"When I went to Mr. Finley's room at 7 p.m. Saturday he told me he was going to fire me. We discussed the team at length and later he offered me a two-year contract. We were discussing the contract when Paul O'Boynick of the Kansas City Star came to the room and asked Mr. Finley if he had seen the players' statement.

"I knew the players were drafting a statement. They did it with my approval, but I did not instigate it."

Speedy New Halfback Signed by B.C. Lions

VANCOUVER—B.C. Lions have announced the signing of a new defensive-halfback they believe will win a regular position.

Coming to the winless Canadian Football League club is Bob Hall, former Brown University player acquired from Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League.

Hall, 23 years old and 198 pounds, set 15 university records and five Ivy League records at Brown, where he was voted the best sophomore in the East in 1963, the outstanding player in the northeast in 1965 and was an all-Ivy League choice in both 1963 and 1965.

The Lions have also announced that defensive-end Tom Brown will go to the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., this week for examination of the neck injury which has plagued him for two seasons.

Brown is expected back for Sunday's game at Empire Stadium against Calgary Stampeders.

Oak Bay, Hornets Win First Starts

Defending B.C. champions Oak Bay Farmer Construction opened the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League season with a bang Sunday, drubbing James Bay Athletic Association Mustangs, 23-6, at Macdonald Park.

Victoria Hornets shutout Cowichan Timbermen, 9-0, in the other game at Duncan.

Bruce Panton scored two touchdowns for Farmers, on runs of 35 and 11 yards while gaining 103 of Oak Bay's 218 yards rushing.

OTHER SCORING

Glen Moffatt scored the other Farmer touchdown while Gary Johnson kicked three converts. Bob McMynn got the Bay's other points by dumping the Mustang quarterback for a rouge.

Halfback Dave Coleman scored JBAA's touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Stu Wells scored a touchdown for Hornets while Dave Granlin added a convert and two singles.

Softball Cup Series Opens

Northwestern Creamery dumped James Bay Athletic Association, 7-3, Monday at Macdonald Park in the first game of the best-of-three series for the challenge trophy between the playoff winners of the Industrial and Commercial Softball Leagues.

Second game will be played Wednesday at Macdonald at 6:30 p.m.

Carlings Win Softball Crown

Carlings trounced Colony Inn, 12-3, Sunday to take the best-of-seven Men's Senior Open Softball League finals, 4-1, at Central Park.

Rollie Clarke survived a three-run outburst in the second inning as Colony went ahead, 3-2, scattering seven hits to pick up the victory.

Bob Holness, Harvey Stevenson and Norm Curran clouted successive home runs for Carlings to start the six-run rally in the sixth inning.

EXHIBITION GAME

In an exhibition game Sunday, league winners Luckies dumped the junior men's all-stars, 7-0, as Glenn Langsett and Jack Lundquist combined for a three-hitter.

Al Robertson hit a three-run homer in the seventh inning for the winners.

Transports Walk To Series Lead

Transports, the heaviest hitting team in the Senior Amateur Baseball League usually club their way to a victory. But Monday at Athletic Park they scored their first five runs without a hit and went on to defeat Greaves, 7-5.

It was the third straight win for Transports and gave them a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven playoff finals.

Transports had their big inning in the second when Jerry Lister lost his control after John McKeachie reached first after striking out. Lister walked six baters before Stan Thame came on to retire the side.

Gord Strongman, who had a two-hit shutout going before Greaves erupted for five runs on five hits in the eighth inning, got credit for the win and hit two singles and a sacrifice fly.

The series continues tonight at Royal Athletic Park at 6:30 p.m.

No Surgery for Young Boston Star

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Orr, Boston Bruins prize rookie defenceman, will make it back just in time for the start of the 1967-68 National Hockey League season after suffering injury to a knee ligament Thursday.

Dr. John Palmer, a Toronto orthopedic surgeon, said Monday the knee "was investigated under anaesthetic this afternoon, but we did not find enough damage to require surgery.

★ ★ ★

"The knee was placed in a cast where it will stay for two to three weeks. He should be ready to play two to three weeks later—just about the time the schedule opens.

"There's no reason to expect the recovery will be other than complete."

DECLINES COMMENT

Earlier it was thought the 19-year-old NHL rookie-of-the-year for 1966 would require remedial surgery after being in a collision during a benefit hockey game in Winnipeg for needy former professional hockey players.

Orr was not taking calls following the examination Monday afternoon.

But prior to the examination, he said in an interview:

"I got hurt in a three-player collision. I don't know who hit me. ....."

At the same time he absolved Bob Leiter, another piece of Bruin property playing with Orr on the all-star team against Canada's national team, of any blame in the accident. Leiter had been blamed for the accident.

★ ★ ★

Bobby

Much less generous Sunday after hearing of the injury to Orr was Milt Schmidt, general manager of the Bruins, who said no Bruin player had been given permission to play in the game and suggested an investigation of the circumstances.

But Orr confirmed "permission was given somewhere for me to play" and James Dunn, president of the sponsoring Manitoba Old Timers' Hockey Association, said Tom Johnson gave the permission.

Johnson, a former defence great with Montreal Canadiens, now is assistant to Weston Adams, president of the Bruins.

Schmidt said he had talked to Orr about the accident but "so much of what I hear is hearsay that I'd rather not elaborate until I know all the facts."

DEBBIE MEYER and Catie Ball, two U.S. stars at the Pan-American Games earlier this month, both set world records Sunday in the National Amateur Athletic Union swimming championships in Philadelphia. Miss Meyer was timed in 17:50.2 minutes for the 1,500 metres freestyle and Miss Ball in 2:39.5 for the 200-metres breaststroke . . . Scotland's Jackie Stewart won the Grand Prix of the Mediterranean Sunday with an average speed of 142.5 miles an hour . . . Ed O'Bradovich, 255-pound defensive-end who announced his retirement earlier, has come to terms with Chicago Bears of the National Football League. He was fined $100 for each of the 26 days he missed training camp and the money was turned over to the Chicago Community Fund.

MARTIN KRINNER, 26, of Mountvill, N.J., was fatally injured Sunday during the annual running of the Glen 500 Sports Car Road Races at Watkins Glen, N.Y. . . . Mario Andretti won the $17,069 first prize in the 200-mile auto race at Milwaukee's State Fair Park Sunday . . . Kathy Whitworth finished with a 71 Sunday for an 18-hole total of 289 to win the Women's Western Open golf tournament . . . Sandra Haynie was second at 292 and Shirley Englehorn third with 298 . . . Dick Munn, former Victoria golfer, finished sixth with 143 in the Canadian Professional Golfers Association tournament, concluded Saturday in St. Catharines, and won $750.

AKRON VULCANS of the Continental Football League have dismissed general-manger Tobin Rote and head coach Doak Walker and named assistant coach Lou Rymkus to take Walker's place. Rote and Walker were believed to have salaries which totalled $40,000 . . . George Knudson and Al Balding have been named as the Canadian team for the professional World Cup golf matches in Mexico in November . . . Gary Player and Harold Henning were the South African choices for the same competition . . . New York Rangers have reacquired the services of Camille Henry, whose 248 goals make him the second-highest scorer in club history. Chicago Black Hawks are to get an unnamed player in return.

District Municipality Next

'Give It to the People'

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Three improvement districts with a total population of 12,000 will try to form a district municipality.

A meeting of Northfield, Harewood and Wellington representatives Monday night chose a six-man committee to meet with Municipal Affairs minister Dan Campbell next week.

★ ★ ★

The three areas have a combined assessment of $15,000,000.

The committee: Tony Poje and Don Lightheart, Northfield; Barbara Howden and Gordon Blank, Wellington; Rod Glen and Art Vanidour, Harewood.

★ ★ ★

The new move by the three comes out of the ruins of plans by 14 areas for form a district municipality. Mr. Poje said the other 11, including Nansimo, are still welcome to join the new municipality.

★ ★ ★

He said there were four possibilities open to the three districts, a larger improvement district, a district municipality, village status or town status.

The larger improvement district was recommended by Mr. Glenn, but it would not solve present zoning problems, said Mr. Poje.

Mr. Glenn said "Put together what we have, and then go on from that."

He said it is easier to form a larger improvement district and then seek to become a municipality.

★ ★ ★

But if a municipality is the first goal, it could be voted down by any one of the present municipalities.

"I'm not inclined to go into another improvement district," said Mr. Poje. "Give it to the people, to find out what they think. Go for the bundle."

He said "They eventually have that vote."

★ ★ ★

A recent indication that 25 per cent of Northfield might be rezoned to light industrial use was bitterly opposed by Northfield residents.

The three districts are two large to become a village and the area covers too much territory for a town, it was said at the meeting.

One of the main problems facing the district is fire protection.

★ ★ ★

Volunteer firemen cannot afford the time to train and be on hand every moment.

Additional fire fighting equipment is needed.

Residents want to know how much more it will cost to provide the greater services they need, compared to additional revenues collected.

★ ★ ★

Alex Virostko said insurance rates might drop as much as $5 a thousand if regular firemen are hired.

This would cut additional taxes to provide full-time fire fighters.

'Reform Comes Out of Unity'

DUNCAN—"As long as farmers disagree among themselves, politicians don't have to do anything about their problems," said the president of the Alberta Farmers Union.

Paul Babey spoke to 33 farmers here Monday.

His union represents 27,000 commercial farm operations.

ANOTHER TALK

Farmers who attended the meeting ended it by asking chairman George Whittaker to arrange for a speech at Nanaimo by the president of the B.C. Farmer's Union.

Making his point that agriculture is one of the most important industries in any country, he said "When I went to India recently I saw a man dying of hunger in the street because of hunger—a sight I shall never forget."

PROTECTION

He warned Canada needs a good and strong agricultural organization from coast to coast to protect farmers.

"The ratio of population to food may be too small one day because more and more people seek out better paid jobs, and when this day comes, it may be too late."

WORK WELL

Although the Farmers Union is not affiliated with trade unions they have a good working relationship.

"You'll be surprised how little labor knows about farming and how little farmers know about labor unions.

"Our union is on a voluntary basis and therefore we are entirely different than labor unions."

The Albertan president said all members in his organization are bona fide farmers.

"We are a grassroot organization, and we make decisions in our own organization."

He said his group plays an important role in the development of legislation.

MACHINE LAW

The Agricultural Machine Act, for instance, was written by the Farmers Union for the Alberta provincial government.

"I was surprised to find that there is no such act in British Columbia.

Mr. Babey stressed although his group is non-partisan it is political in order to take an active part in legislation on the provincial and federal level.

ANNUAL FEE

He said paying members of the Alberta Farmers Union have many benefits for their annual $10 fee.

They receive free legal advice, they can use the union's free income tax and accounting service.

Another special service is advice on surface rights which plays an imminent role in Alberta.

ALERT BAY—The fish boat Eagle was taken under tow and one person aboard was taken to hospital when the boat exploded and burned near Alert Bay. Cause of the explosion is not known.

Winners Still Amateurs

No Money Please!

NANAIMO — Prize money won by the top three winners in the annual Protection Island swim was donated back to their swim club, so the trio could retain amateur status.

First man in was Louis Branchi, 15, 694 Howard.

He arrived at the Protection Island float 23 minutes after he had started with the giant field of swimmers.

Coming second, one minute later, was Doug Nicks, 15, of 489 Seventh. Paul Hornby, 15, 671 Brechin, came third.

★ ★ ★

Medallions were presented by Miss Nanaimo, Gay McNabb.

First woman to finish was UBC student Donna Prendergast, and oldest finisher was 48-year-old John Kenney of Vancouver.

There were more than 200 in the race, a record field, and 158 finished. Some swimmers apparently never found their escort boats in the crowded waters.

BRAND NEW FULL BASEMENT

Have you driven up this way lately; if you haven't you're missing a treat. Lovely homes are under construction in all of this area. And we're starting 3 of the best on Acland Road. You'll see our sign "AUGUST CONSTRUCTION."
Drive along Acland Road you'll see our sign on another which is in the framing stage. (We can finish this one in 45 days.)
If you're interested we can make arrangements to show you through the one next door, which is sold by the way.
Your down payment might just be enough. Sometimes people sub-contract back some of the work earning hundreds of dollars.
If you are short on your down payment why not look into this? We'll even consider trades. Give us a call.

Cruiser Burns Off Nanaimo

FOUR CHEAT DEATH

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Four persons leaped into Georgia Strait when a 32-foot cabin cruiser exploded on a trip between here and Vancouver, Monday.

They were brought to Nanaimo by a CPR ferry.

★ ★ ★

Marie Turgeon, 201 Laval Street, New Westminster, said "We worked on the Blue Reef all summer. We just got it finished. There was no insurance."

Al Obrecht, 42, from New Westminster, the boat owner, suffered burns.

Rolph Steenbergen, 22, 11830 93rd Street, Edmonton, suffered burns and a cut artery.

His young wife Florence suffered cuts and shock.

★ ★ ★

The boat burst into flames when Mr. Steenbergen and Mr. Obrecht tried to repair a faulty carburetor.

Mr. Steenbergen, who was close to the engine, ran forward into the cabin with his shirt aflame.

Mr. Obrecht followed, trying to rip the shirt off.

Mr. Obrecht's clothing caught fire and he jumped from the Blue Reef to douse himself, but could not get back aboard.

Cut off now by the flames, the two Steenbergens broke windows to escape, while Miss Turgeon climbed a ladder on the wheelhouse to throw a life ring to Mr. Obrecht, and burned her hand on a hot rung.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Steenbergen threw a coffee mug through the glass of one of the small cabin windows and crawled through, cutting her hand, grabbed the life ring, threw it and jumped.

Mr. Steenbergen put his fist

Loggers Protest Conditions

Fire Pay Irks IWA

The Sproat Lake fire is hot, but the men fighting it are hotter.

International Woodworkers of America has demanded a meeting with MacMillan Bloedel lumber officials to protest long shifts, poor feeding arrangements, and poor pay.

The IWA said it will battle a company suggestion that loggers called out to fight the 6,000-acre blaze will be paid only forestry firefighter rates.

Sunday night the Alberni-Tofino highway was opened from the Port Alberni end between midnight and 4 a.m., and from the Tofino end between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.

The same opening hours prevailed Monday night, but only those with essential business were encouraged to make the trip.

Welcome Roar

Both Martin Mars bombers were on the job throughout the day Sunday.

Residents found their throaty roar a welcome sound as the huge waterbirds plodded back and forth with their loads, completing 46 drops before calling it a day.

The bombers were not in operation Monday, and forestry officials said the fire around Taylor Arm, which at one time was in danger of spreading to the well-populated areas of Sproat Lake, was now "pretty well tied up."

Crews had also managed to keep the blaze from spreading down over the ridge of the Taylor River valley in to Great Central Valley.

This ridge, on the northeast side of the fire is the greatest

U.S. Loses Four

Two Planes Go Down In China

SAIGON (UPI) — Four American jets were shot down on raids against North Vietnam Monday, two of them when they strayed over nearby China.

(See also Page 6.)

The Peking People's Daily, quoted by Radio Peking and monitored in Hong Kong, called Monday's violation of its air space "open war" on the Chinese people. It said the Chinese people are ready for combat.

★ ★ ★

An American military spokesman said two A-6 Intruders were downed when they accidentally entered Chinese air space. He listed all four crewmen as missing, but Chinese radio broadcast said one of them had been captured.

The spokesman said two F-105 Thunderchiefs were downed over North Vietnam. He said both pilots were missing from these planes.

The planes were shot down as American jets raided three railroad yards around Hanoi.

★ ★ ★

The defence department said the two planes from the aircraft carrier Constellation accidentally strayed into Chinese air space to avoid anti-aircraft missiles and MiG jets over North Vietnam. The New China News Agency said the Chinese air force shot them down, but did not make it clear whether they did so with planes, guns or missiles. The Pentagon said it was probably MiGs.

Victoria, Mainland

Mail Will Move Despite Strike

The mail will go through in Victoria despite a one-day strike by eastern Canadian postal clerks starting Friday at midnight. However, Port Alberni letter carriers said they would honor picket lines if set up.

Gerald Kenny, president of the Victoria local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, said Victoria postal clerks, in common with most western locals, had voted against the strike and would not participate.

SENIOR OFFICIAL

A senior official of the CUPW in Vancouver said there were indications many other western locals—including the big ones in Vancouver and New Westminster—would not join the strike.

(See also Page 28.)

The CUPW field officer for B.C. and the Yukon, Al McLay, said there are indications the other 38 locals in B.C., and the locals in Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Calgary may stay on the pob.

DOMINION DAY

The strike was proposed following the recent Dominion Day holiday which fell on Monday and caused about 2,500 workers (whose day off was Monday) to lose the benefit of an extra day off.

The CUPW covers postal clerks and other inside workers, not the letter carriers.

LBJ Slipping Say Pollsters

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson is pictured in two U.S. public opinion polls as being at a substantially low level of national popularity and running behind or, at best, just holding his own in two mythical presidential races.

In the first Gallup Poll taken since the recent outbreak of riots in urban centres, the president ran behind Michigan Governor George Romney by eight percentage points. It was Romney 49, Johnson 41 and the remaining 10 per cent undecided. In a mid-June survey Romney trailed the president by five points.

In the current issue of Newsweek, pollster Louis Harris reported that his latest survey shows a Democratic ticket headed by the president running even with a Republican ticket of Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Governor Ronald Reagan of California.

The American Institute of Public Opinion in Princeton, N.J., which conducts the Gallup Poll, said Monday the proportion of the public that now approves of the way the president is conducting his office has dropped to 39 per cent, the lowest level for Johnson to date and the lowest for a president since 1952. A mid-June Gallup survey indicated 52 per cent approval for Johnson.

Fire Crew Escapes

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Four men were trapped Monday in the path of a fire near Peck, Idaho, but escaped from the inferno aboard a bulldozer. The four were among thousands of firefighters battling forest blazes.

As the forest war continued around hundreds of small fires in Idaho and Montana, officials in Oregon predicted closure of all national forests in the state.

Mental Tests First For Killing Suspect

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP)—Victor Ernest Hoffman, 21, was remanded for mental examination Monday when he appeared before Magistrate J. M. Policha on a charge of capital murder in the Aug. 15 shooting death of James Peterson, 47, a Shell Lake district farmer.

Eight other members of the Peterson family also were slain.

Hoffman, employed on his father's farm near Leask, Sask., where he was arrested Saturday, showed little emotion during the 10-minute court appearance. He was remanded for 30 days to the mental hospi-

Father Faces Charge

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP)—A rural St. Cloud man, who police said has admitted responsibility in the death of his wife and four small children, was arraigned Monday on a charge of aggravated arson.

David Hoskins, 30, demanded preliminary hearing and Judge Wendall Y. Henning set it for Sept. 7. Henning also set bail at $50,000. Hoskins was remanded to jail in lieu of bail.

Sherriff Peter Lahr told reporters Saturday that Hoskins had admitted shooting Mrs. Hoskins, 29, then shooting himself with a .22-calibre rifle, setting fire to the farmhouse and a barn, and tying himself to the clothesline pipe.

Hotel Rocked

HONG KONG (UPI) — A bomb exploded this morning in an elevator of the 25-storey Hong Kong Hilton hotel, which is usually heavily booked with tourists. No injuries were reported. (See also Page 3.)

Fairbanks' 'Underground Hurricane'

Spring Sunshine May Bring Disaster

FAIRBANKS (UPI) — Engineers warned Monday Fairbanks' record flood could trigger an "underground hurricane" buckling streets and building foundations during Alaska's next spring thaw.

The engineers told state officials there was virtually no chance that ground saturated by flood waters could drain enough to avoid some damage from freeze-up and the thaw. Interior Alaska's deepfreeze winter begins in about six weeks.

"It will be like an underground hurricane," said Larry Montgomery, an aide to Gov. Walter J. Hickel.

"We know by next summer the foundations in many houses and buildings simply are going to be crushed. Streets and foundations will be buckling."

The warning came as several homes were inspected by Montgomery. He said they were "a sickening sight."

Meantime, the known death toll was set at five with the discovery of two more bodies. Damage for the Fairbanks area was estimated at $300,000,000.

The body of a man was found in a Fairbanks building inundated by the Chena River, while a woman was found in the Tanana River at Nenana, a village 50 miles southwest of the city. Neither was immediately identified.

Three other deaths were counted previously in Fairbanks, but state police said two men who drowned when their swamp buggy overturned at Tok Junction, 200 miles southeast of the city, were not classified as flood fatalities.

"There's hardly a furnace in town that won't need a thorough overhaul. No doubt many will have to be replaced. And there's no place in the world that needs good furnaces more than Fairbanks," Montgomery said.

Only automobiles that had been left with their engines and gas tanks above the flood level were able to operate. A tour of the city showed hundreds of cars with their hoods up and men peering in hoping to find a way to get their engines running.

The city's bankers had not yet had a chance to inspect their vaults. Many depositors were beginning to worry about how they fared through the flood.

The city's daily newspaper, the Fairbanks News-Miner, hoped finally to be able to report Fairbanks' story of the century by today. The flood knocked out the paper's electrical system but reporters and photographers continued to roam the city, compiling copy and pictures.

'Pirate' Tower Gone in Puff

FELIXSTOWE, England (UPI)—A wartime anti-aircraft tower reincarnated recently as a "pirate" radio station supply base was blown up Monday so it could never again be used by anyone but the British defence ministry.

The tower, in the North Sea 11 miles off Felixstowe, disappeared in a flash of orange flame and grey smoke as armed forces demolition experts set off explosives attached to the superstructure.

The demolition was ordered to make the tower unusable "to interests other than the ministry." The gun platforms could be rebuilt in an emergency.
